ROY BRADY CHARGED WITH BOMB MURDER; 'GOAT,' SAYS LAWYER

Preliminary Hearing Set for This Afternoon in Upper Marlboro.

PLEDGE OF IMMUNITY TO HERMAN REPORTED

Widower of Blast Victim Expected to Be Freed After Testifying.

THREE COUNSEL HIRED TO DEFEND MECHANIC

Magruder Decries Alleged Effort to Pin Outrage on Leroy Alone.

A legal fight to save Leroy Brady, 26, a Washington automobile mechanic, from the gallows was started last night when his family hired M. Hampton Magruder and two other prominent attorneys to defend him.

The lawyers were retained a short while after Brady had been formally charged with the murder of Naomi Hall Brady, 18, his sister-in-law, one of the three killed when a bomb camouflaged as a Christmas box exploded in the Seat Pleasant home of her mother on New Year's Day.

Mr. Magruder swung into action immediately by issuing a statement in which he charged that the Baltimore detectives investigating the blast were trying to make Leroy the "goat."

Hearing Set for Today.

Mr. Magruder also will act as counsel for Herman Brady, 22, brother of Leroy, who also is being held at Marlboro. Herman was the husband of Naomi Hall Brady.

A preliminary hearing for Leroy Brady will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Upper Marlboro, Md. It had been planned to hold this hearing yesterday afternoon, but the authorities decided to postpone it.

The murder warrant was sworn out by County Officer Frank P. Prince and served on Brady in the jail, where, since Sunday, he had been held for investigation. Swearing of the warrant followed a conference between Lieut. Joseph Itzel and Sergt. Charles Schalter, of the Baltimore detective bureau, Officer Prince and State's Attorney J. Frank Parran.

Auto Tags Investigated.

The detectives outlined to the State's attorney the result of their trip Wednesday to Frederick to trace a set of automobile license tags, which were found at the Mitchellville home of Herman Brady, who has admitted he married Naomi Hall after an illicit love affair. He has been held in jail with his brother, but it is understood that he is to be released after today's hearing.

The brothers were placed in the jail after an intensive examination Sunday. This came after Herman is alleged to have signed a statement which, according to the detectives, implicated his brother. They quoted him as saying that if Leroy would tell the truth "he would put me on the street."

When he told his brother of his marriage, Herman informed detectives, the brother asked where the bride lived. Herman said he told him "the second house on Carmody road from Chapel road."

The bomb was delivered the Sunday morning prior to New Year's Day at the home of Mrs. John Buckley, which is the second house on Carmody road from Chapel road on the side of the street opposite the Hall home.

In announcing yesterday that he had been retained as counsel for the Bradys, Mr. Magruder said that State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer and Frank Hall will act as associate counsel.

His statement read:

"The family sought my advice yesterday, first on the advisability of a writ of habeas corpus to bring the investigation to the point where it would quickly determine by court action whether there was any limit to the summary action of the authorities in retaining these boys for investigation, and, second, in the event that either of them eventually should be charged with any crime, would I represent them.

Will Not Try Habeas Corpus.

"I told them that I would in nowise hamper in the slightest the fullest investigation and I would not procure a writ of habeas corpus because the character of the crime was such as to warrant the authorities in making the most rigid inquiry.

"I told them further that I would not represent either Herman or Leroy if there was any foundation for their guilt. I made a very fair checkup and feel warranted in saying that in my judgment neither had anything to do with this crime.

"I then advised with State Senator Sasscer and Mr. Hall and asked if

White House Selects New Social Mentor

Robbins to Replace Dunn as Invitation Arbiter to President.

President and Mrs. Hoover have chosen a new social mentor—Warren Delano Robbins, of Tuxedo, N. Y., present American Minister to El Salvador. Mr. Robbins replaces James Clement Dunn, of Newark, N. J., who was appointed to the post of White House ceremonial officer by President Coolidge.

It was said at the White House that Mr. Dunn, who is head of the Division of International Conferences and Protocol of the State Department, was released so that he may give his entire time to that work and to a study of the Haitian situation, with which he is familiar.

For two years Mr. Dunn, a man of independent means and of many social connections, as is Mr. Robbins, decided who the President or the First Lady should invite to the White House functions, where the guests should be placed at table, what should be done to hurdle successfully the Washington bugaboo—social precedence.

That duty will be carried by Mr. Robbins from today on. He will have an office at the White House and devote his full time to the social amenities of the President and Mrs. Hoover. Mr. Robbins will retain his portfolio as Minister to El Salvador, and remain in Washington, at least for the social season which ends in March, on leave of absence.

President of Missouri University Censured in Teacher Ouster.

(Associated Press.)

President Stratton Duluth Brooks and the board of curators of the University of Missouri have been severely censured by a special committee of the Association of University Professors as a result of the controversy over a sex questionnaire at that institution last year.

The censure announced last night by the association was returned after an investigation into the disciplining of two members of the university faculty "because of their sanction" of the questionnaire circulated among students.

The association said the inquiry had been undertaken at the request of President Brooks, many members of the faculty, and students in the courses of Prof. Harmon A. Degraff—who was dismissed last April on account of the questionnaire. Prof. Max F. Meyer was suspended.

The committee's conclusion, as revealed in a statement issued preliminary to publication in the February bulletin of the association, was:

"For the board of curators to decree the most severe punishment within its power, dismissal and suspension without pay, for this alleged

HOUSE REJECTS PLAN OF HOOVER FOR JOINT DRY LAW COMMITTEE

Leaders Balk at Idea to Create New Board to Push Reforms.

GROUPS NOW EXISTING CAN DO WORK, CLAIM

Sweeping Inquiry Would Be Full of Dynamite at Present Time, View.

NEARING ELECTIONS CAUSE OF CAUTION

But Lower Body Will Pass Legislation President Wants, Is Belief.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Hoover's request for a joint congressional committee to work with the National Law Enforcement Commission in effecting his prohibition enforcement reforms will not be granted by the House.

House leaders, it developed yesterday, have advised the President that there is too much opposition to the proposal. The House is ready to pass any prohibition legislation that the President recommends, but wants to do it through its regularly constituted committees rather than through the joint committee desired by the President.

The leaders shied at the proposal because of the sweeping nature of the inquiry they fear it would involve. As one expressed it, the resolution setting up a joint committee, already passed by the Senate, is full of political dynamite, with the congressional elections coming on this year.

Would Study Whole Question.

Under the language of the resolution sponsored by Senator Jones, the joint committee would investigate and "make a study of the reorganization and concentration of responsibility in the administration of the Federal bureaus connected with prohibition enforcement together with the unification and strengthening of our border parols, both in connection with prohibition and the illegal entry of aliens, and to formulate recommendations and submit proposed legislation to carry out the foregoing for consideration at the present session of the Congress."

Aside from the fact that such a committee would usurp the functions of at least five standing committees, the House leaders feel that an inquiry of this nature would result in a general airing of the whole prohibition controversy. And they do not want the matter on their hands.

Hearing to Be Held.

There will, of course, be a committee hearing on all the proposals submitted by President Hoover or the law enforcement commission, but such hearings, in addition to being spread over five or more committees with the spotlight not concentrated on any one of them, will be confined to the particular proposal.

The language of the resolution would seem to restrict the joint committee inquiry enough but the very fact that it would be sort of a supercommittee making the inquiry causes apprehension among the House leaders that it would cover a broad field and open up many a Pandora's box before it got through.

The attitude of the House means, of course, a delay of several months in the carrying out of the complete program. It was to eliminate this delay that the President sought the joint committee last June. Particularly would such committee help out in the Senate.

Several Storms Instead of One.

It would bring in its report embodying the whole reform program at one time and in two or three trips at any rate, and the inevitable storm would occur and then blow over. With the standing committees handling their individual subjects there

France Kills Italy's Plan on Naval Parity

Real Disarmament Spirit Lacking in Country, Rome Believes.

Rome, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The Franco-Italian negotiations for a preliminary naval understanding before the opening of the five-power disarmament conference in London came to a standstill today with the announcement that France had rejected Italy's proposal for naval parity between the two countries.

The Italian foreign office regarded the French reply as a rupture of the negotiations, which have been going on for many weeks. Italy's efforts to reach an agreement by negotiation on the question of parity are considered to have failed.

It now is inferred here that Italy and France will go to the London conference without a prior understanding, unless Foreign Minister Briand, of France, and Foreign Minister Grandi, of Italy, who will meet in Geneva shortly for the league council session, can achieve something by personal exchange of views.

The French answer to the last Italian communication on the limitation of naval armaments, which had been sent to Paris on December 21, was delivered to the Italian Ambassador on January 3. It rejects the proposal of naval parity, which was a fundamental point in Italy's thesis.

Italy had proposed the idea of parity on the understanding that she would accept any limits in tonnage that France considered necessary for her defense. France has always insisted that with coast lines on three seas and extensive overseas possessions

G.O.P. INSURGENTS TO CLINCH VICTORY

Senators to Be at Caucus Today to Be Sure of Committee Posts.

AMBITIOUS PLANS MADE

Flushed with their success in forcing the assignment of Senator La Follette (Republican, Wisconsin), to the finance committee, Republican insurgents in the Senate were planning last night to attend the Republican caucus today in order to make sure of the fruits of their previous victory in the committee on committees.

Normally the insurgents are lax in their attendance at party caucuses, some of them like Senator Borah (Republican, Idaho), never going at all. It is doubtful if Senator Borah will attend today, but the others plan to be there. They say they have no reason to suspect any kind of sharp strategy to upset the assignments agreed upon in committee, but they want to be on the safe side.

The insurgents were jubilant yesterday. They got every committee assignment they contended for except a position on the interstate commerce committee, which was sought for Senator McMaster (Republican, South Dakota). There they had to be satisfied with an informal agreement that Senator McMaster will be given the next vacancy on that committee.

Having, by their victory in the La Follette assignment, wrested control from the Old Guard in the latter's last stronghold, the insurgents are beginning to see things in a large way. There is some quiet talk to the effect that the insurgents and the Young Turk element might do well to form an intraparty coalition and take over the Senate organization.

The fact that the White House declined to be dragged into the current controversy after Chairman Smoot (Republican), Utah, of the finance committee had raised the issue that no senator who did not support the administration should be assigned to that committee is interpreted here as an indication that the shattered Old Guard forces can expect no help from President Hoover.

Some of the cooler heads among the insurgents feel, however, that the time is not yet ripe to overturn the old order. While they believe that could be accomplished at present, if the attempt were made, they point out that the insurgents and the Young Turks could not control the Senate. If these two groups combined to overthrow the Old Guard, the latter would still remain as a closely knit minority holding the balance of power now held by the insurgents themselves. Once the insurgents assumed responsibility for directing the Republican organization they could not hope to continue their present effective coalition with the Democrats.

Moreover, the continuing and apparently stable Old Guard control of the House would be able to block any legislative plans which the insurgents and the Young Turks might put forward.

U. S. CANCELS POLICY TO LEASE PRISONERS

Post's Expose of Contract Said Georgia Was to Use 200 Convicts.

SENATE REBUKED MOVE

Less than a month after disclosure by The Washington Post of the terms of the three-year contract whereby the Department of Justice proposed to hand over 200 Negro prisoners in Federal jails to the State of Georgia to be used as laborers, the department has decided to cancel the contract as of March 15.

The Department of Justice late yesterday announced this abandonment of a policy which had been roundly scored in Congress. Defended by the department as a method for relieving prison congestion, the policy established by the contract was denounced as discriminatory by Negro organizations and assailed by Senators Wagner, Borah and others as a step backward to the evils of convict leasing days and as an interference with free labor at a time when business conditions threatened unemployment.

Immediately after exposure, Senator Wagner introduced a resolution in the Senate, which was unanimously passed, demanding explanation from the department of all the facts surrounding this contract and also questioning its legality. The New York senator declared on the floor that no authority existed in the law to make such a contract, entirely aside from questions of its wisdom.

Although Attorney General Mitchell defended it, both in response to the Senate resolution and as a witness before the House judiciary committee, on December 19, when Representative LaGuardia, of New York, also challenged the policy and its legality, the preponderant opinion among Senate and House members remained strongly opposed to it.

The cancellation, now announced, would appear to end the issue. The reasons for canceling are not mentioned in the announcement given out by the department, though the hint is given that the protests had made it impossible to maintain morale and that therefore the department has concluded it best to abandon the scheme.

The department's announcement said:

"The Department of Justice today announced that the Bureau of Prisons has given notice to the State Prison Commission of Georgia that the contract recently made for the boarding of certain Federal prisoners in Chatham County, Ga., dated October 16, 1929, will be discontinued on and after March 15, 1930, in accordance with a provision in the contract

MIDWEST BLIZZARD SWEEPS EASTWARD

Winter's Worst Snowstorm Threatens Seaboard and South.

SIX DEATHS REPORTED

Kansas City, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The winter's worst blizzard, which dumped record-breaking snowfall over much of the middle West, tonight moved slowly to the East and South, leaving in its wake zero temperatures and demoralized transportation. Six deaths were attributed to the cold.

A snowfall of approximately 15 inches in Kansas City was believed ended in swirling flurries. Lesser snowfall extended in all directions.

Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri and Texas all felt the brunt of winter's attack.

Westward subzero temperatures were reported in Montana, Wyoming and Colorado. In Winnipeg, Canada, the mercury dropped to 35 degrees below zero, the coldest since 1922.

A snowstorm forced the second postponement of the Army's proposed midwinter test flight of 22 planes from Selfridge Field, Mich., to Spokane, Wash., and return.

Deaths attributed to the storm were reported from Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado.

Miss Maude Adams, a Kansas City telephone operator, died from overexertion after struggling two blocks through snowdrifts en route to work. Mrs. Elgie Brown, 24, of Portland, Mo., was killed when two snow-blinded motorists collided.

In Elk City, Okla., James Akeridge, 10, was killed by a skidding motor car which struck his sled. Earl C. Hitt, 24, Healdton, Okla., druggist, lost his life when his automobile skidded on a sleet-covered highway.

Grant Owens, 60, Grand Junction, Colo., motorist, plunged to his death from an icy trail. Edward Henry, 31,

DELEGATES HOPEFUL AS SEA TRIP STARTS

CROWD AT HOBOKEN PIER

New York, Jan. 9 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The American delegation to the London naval arms conference sailed at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from Hoboken on S. S. George Washington. The ship eased out into the river with dress pennants flying and siren sounding, but the black and white mass of civilian garb overshadowed the uniformed figures of naval experts and marine escorts in the crowd that lined the decks and fluttered farewells.

Through the excitement of the sailing, the farewells, and the widely-expressed confidence of success, ran the note of a singular memory, for almost all the official passengers mentioned the fact that they were sailing on the George Washington, the ship that twice took Woodrow Wilson to Europe with hopes for world-wide peace in his heart. Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams was occupying the very suite on the port promenade in which Mr. Wilson made his voyage.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson was the official spokesman of the delegation, but the frank and open diplomacy that seems to mark the delegation was illustrated by the fact that other members and their aids spoke freely of their hopes.

"We have received everywhere expressions of good will and hope for our success," Secretary Stimson said. "It has been a great encouragement, and we start out cheered by hope of being able to accomplish successful results."

Five of the seven delegates were on board the George Washington. They are Secretary Stimson, Ambassador Morrow, Secretary Adams, United

ROBSION TO SUCCEED SACKETT IN SENATE

Will Also Take Position on District Committee, Is Expectation.

NEW ENVOY CONFIRMED

The vacancy created in the Senate District committee by the appointment of Senator Frederic M. Sackett, of Kentucky, as Ambassador to Germany, will be filled by the man who will succeed him in the Senate—Representative John Marshall Robsion (Republican), of Kentucky.

While the Senate committee on committees took no definite action yesterday, Representative Robsion not yet having taken the oath, it was generally agreed that this procedure would be followed.

Representative Robsion, a member of the House since the Sixty-sixth Congress, was named to succeed Senator Sackett yesterday about the time the Senate was confirming the latter's nomination as envoy to Berlin. The appointment was made by Gov. Flem Sampson.

After the Senate had confirmed Senator Sackett, Senator Copeland (Democrat), of New York, praised his record in the Upper House, and declared that he had done particularly good work on the District committee.

Both Senators Sackett and Copeland served on the subcommittee that was appointed to investigate charges of inefficiency and corruption against the local government, which were made by Senator Blease (Democrat), of South Carolina. The subcommittee did practically nothing, and thus made a hit with many citizens who felt that there was nothing to investigate.

If it should do anything in the future, it probably will be without the help of Senator Blease, who has

HANDSHAKING MARK IS SET BY PRESIDENT

Scant Half-Hour Suffices for Hoover to Greet Reception Guests.

MANY OFFICIALS ABSENT

By JEAN ELIOT.

President Hoover devoted exactly one-half hour to shaking hands with guests at the White House reception to the judiciary last night. This was a record for expedition unequaled even in the Coolidge administration, although President Coolidge—to quote an old-time White House attache, "didn't play with them, he just passed them along."

Within 45 minutes, the President, with the Vice President and the "stately little Cabinet procession," had made their way down the stairway to the blue room, the formalities of the evening were over, and these dignitaries had withdrawn, leaving the other guests to enjoy a half-hour of conversation, or of dancing in the east room. Belated guests, counting on avoiding a long wait in line, arrived to find the reception pretty well over. Yet, for all this dispatch, the President had opportunity for a pleasant word of greeting to each of the guests, since the number had been reduced to something like 1,000 from the 2,000 or 2,500 usually present at White House receptions in previous administrations.

Although it had been announced earlier in the day that Mrs. Hoover would be present, the White House physician, Commander Joel T. Boone, had exerted his authority and she had, perforce, submited o remaining upstairs. She had been able to take no part in social activities since the New Year Day reception, when, already suffering from a cold, she shook hands with more than 6,000 persons.

With Mrs. Hoover absent and Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft, Justice Holmes and Justice and Mrs. Brandeis miss-

Seas Lash France Following Quake

Big Waves Coming Without Wind Break Morale of Population.

Brest, France, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Extremely heavy seas washed the coast of Brittany tonight from Brest to Lorient, the visitation coming in the wake of earthquakes which last from 3 to 16 seconds. The phenomena shook the morale of the population, inured though the people are to freaks of the ocean. What disturbed them tonight was that there was no wind to account for the waves.

Many fishermen, recently returned from the Newfoundland Banks where there were seismic disturbances a few months ago, averred that the Atlantic has "gone crazy."

No loss of life was reported from any place along the coast. Several houses collapsed when the earth quivered under the seismic shocks. Comparatively little damage was done by the waves.

Suicide Verdict Given In Vinton King's Death

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquest into the death of Vinton Guy King, 54 years old, who died at Gallinger Hospital Tuesday from effects of alcoholic poisoning.

King, a former employe of the Potomac Electric Power Co., had been despondent and had been drinking heavily recently, a police investigation disclosed. On December 30, the investigation revealed, King purchased a disinfectant poison, the contents of which, in addition to alcohol, was found in an autopsy on his body. King was found lying against a tree at First and E streets southeast Monday night and after being booked on a charge of intoxication at the Fifth Precinct, was taken to Gallinger Hospital. He was estranged from his wife.

Philadelphians in Panic When Flaming Debris Rains About Them.

Nearly 100 men, women and children were hurt. About 50 of them were taken to hospitals. A policeman, a fireman and a pedestrian were in critical condition.

Debris was hurled high into the air. Many automobiles parked on City Hall Plaza were wrecked as they were hit by the flying timbers and bricks.

Appears on Pages 5 and 20 Today will be a storm every time one of them reports.

The House has a way, of course, of tempering the storms. If the leaders so desire they can hold them down to gentle zephyrs. And they are prepared to give prompt action on the first proposal of the reform program, that to concentrate prohibition enforcement in the Department of Justice.

After all the investigating and the profundity of the law enforcement commission it is learned that the Department of Justice has decided to go ahead and draft a bill for this change. It will probably be sent up in the next few days.

What House Leaders Want.

This is what the House leaders want the administration to do, go ahead and prepare the various bills and submit them, without the grandstand play that a joint committee set up would entail.

As a matter of fact, the joint committee idea is not popular in the Senate, and one wonders now why President Hoover was so optimistic that such a committee would be set up.

Both Senate and House shied away from the proposal last June when it was first made. And finally it was generally forgotten. At that time those on Capitol Hill looked upon it as an effort to make them share responsibility for the reform, to tie them in with the various recommendations that were to be made.

During the hullabaloo that was stirred up over the holidays it became known that President Hoover had not given up the idea at all.

In fact, it became known that it was his attitude that it was Congress, through failure to set up this committee, that was delaying the reform program. It was his attitude, indeed, that the law enforcement commission had been ready to report for several weeks if the committee only existed.

Senator Jones had trotted out his resolution just before the Christmas recess and it had passed without causing any ado. But one recalls now that Senator Norris gave notice that, while he would not block the resolution, that the joint committee would not usurp any of the functions of his judiciary committee. It seemed to be the attitude of the Senate that the resolution did not mean anything.

But President Hoover's optimism caused the impression that the House would also pass the resolution as soon as it got back from the holidays. It was, therefore, rather surprising to learn that the House intends to do nothing of the kind.

Where Will Board Report?

It brings up the question, too, in view of Mr. Hoover's attitude that the law enforcement commission was ready to report as soon as the committee was set up to receive it, of where the commission will now report. Of course, this is not a serious question, because if Mr. Hoover wants Congress to receive formally the commission's findings he may send them up there by Mr. Latta, the White House messenger.

The commission in the meantime adjourned yesterday without making any report at all. Maybe Chairman Wickersham will make out one today or tomorrow. There will be other commission members around, too, going about their individual and subcommittee searching of facts and statistics, but the committee does not meet as a whole again until February 5.

It is not known what the commission did the past three days when all of the members were represented day by day as deliberating over reports of dissension in their midst, whether they should or should not issue a statement denying these reports, and again as deliberating over the abortive report on their prohibition findings. It is not known whether any of these things are true; it is not known what the commission was doing.

Treasury Still Waiting.

The Treasury is waiting impatiently for the commission to do something so that it can submit its bills for a unified border control and rearrangement of the ports of entry from Canada, which strangely enough the commission plans to recommend. In the meantime, the pathetic side of the picture was given by a gathering of House wets downstairs in the Capitol just across the hall from the barbershop. They are trying to perfect an organization, or rather to put new life in their present make-shift one.

There were 41 House wets present, and according to Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, of California, fourteen wrote their regrets and fifteen others sent theirs by colleagues, making a total of 70 that the meeting might be said to represent.

Tinkham Holds Off.

It did not represent the redoubtable George Holden Tinitham, of Massachusetts, however. He said he was sympathetic to the purpose of the meeting but that the wet fight in its present stage did not lend itself to such organized movement. It is a case of every wet for himself, he said, the Borah of the House.

Mrs. Norton, of New Jersey, was there, though, and so was Representative De Priest.

Nothing was accomplished. It seems that everybody wants to be a general. So the executive committee, headed by Representative O'Connor, of New York, was directed to submit nominations for chairman at a meeting to be held some other time. Representative Linthicum, of Maryland, is chairman now, but there are a lot of the other wets who think they should be. The question came up in the meeting, though, of whether it would be just right to displace Mr. Linthicum with his having an election on in the fall.

FRANCE REJECTS PROPOSAL OF ITALY ON NAVAL PARITY

ahe needed stronger naval power than Italy.

The impression in Rome since the receipt of the French note is that the French idea is not in accord with the true spirit of disarmament.

The Italian foreign ministry thinks that the conversations with France have reached an impasse. The failure, whether it proves to be momentary or permanent, has roused pessimism in Rome about that part of the naval disarmament problem specially affecting France and Italy.

Hope has not yet been lost, however, for a successful understanding at the London conference.

Paris, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Hope for the conclusion of a general pact of nonaggression in the Mediterranean at the London naval conference appeared dim tonight. It was learned that Italy had frowned on the idea of a broad treaty of mutual guarantees and instead had voiced a preference for a strictly Franco-Italian accord.

The French idea had been to make the agreement as broad as possible by including Spain and Great Britain as principals.

As understood here, Italy would have a two-party pact which would include, first, a settlement of the questions arising from the borders of Tunis and Tripoli in North Africa, and, second, a dual pact of friendship and nonaggression covering the North African problem.

Nevertheless French official circles do not regard the situation as hopeless. They feel that a way may yet be found out of the difficulty.

Foreign office authorities asserted that too much importance should not be given to the fact that France has found herself unable to concede naval parity to Italy. France believes that the whole subject of sea strength should be settled from the standpoint of the security needs of each nation. Naval parity, as such, is held to be a doctrinal question of prestige only.

The general idea is entertained here that, although a direct Franco-Italian Mediterranean pact may not be achieved, the failure by no means weakens the chances of success at London. France believes that when Italy meets Great Britain and the other naval powers in the British capital she will see the need for bringing Spain and Great Britain into the proposed agreement. The general discussion at London is relied upon here to do much toward modifying the Italian viewpoint.

There are 162 persons in the official party of delegates—aids, secretaries, and their wives, and a Marine escort of ten gunner sergeants under Capt. Halla. In addition to the official party, fifteen newspaper correspondents and some photographers sailed.

Senator Robinson made the most extensive comment of any of the delegates.

"If reduction and limitation in naval armaments can be arranged," he said, "the result will be recognized as advantageous from an economic standpoint as well as promotive of international peace.

"It would be deplorable did the conference fail, but failure would be preferable to arrangements consummated through intrigue or based on discrimination against any signatory.

"I am hopeful of substantial results."

Senator Reed said he was hopeful of success because of the very open and above-board attitude of all the delegations.

"There is less intrigue," said Senator Reed, less so-called 'diplomacy' exhibited in the arrangements for this conference than in any other international conference heretofore held."

A prediction of success in two months, the only indication given of the time the delegates expect to be abroad, was made by Admiral William V. Pratt, commander in chief of the United States fleet and chief of the naval experts.

"There are not technical difficulties in the way of the conference," Admiral Pratt said. "We should sail home with an agreement in less than two months."

Delegates Board Ship.

Senator Robinson and Senator Reed were the first of the delegates to arrive at the ship. They boarded shortly before noon and, since the ship was not due to leave until 3 o'clock, they avoided the official welcome. Ambassador Morrow arrived shortly after noon with Mrs. Morrow and Miss Elizabeth Morrow, their daughter. Ship's officers and a delegation of Hoboken police stood at attention at the pier entrance as he came in.

The next arrival was Secretary of the Navy Adams, the only member to accompany the official party from Washington. Secretary Stimson having spent the night in his New York home.

The special train was met at the Jersey City terminal of the Pennsylvania Railroad by Mayor Frank Hague and a number of city officials.

Crowd Meets Train.

About a thousand persons had gathered, and they were held at a distance by a picked squad of police under Chief Richard T. Battersby of Jersey City, until the members of the party were seated in taxicabs and several large sightseeing buses.

A police escort on motorcycles rode ahead of the Government cars, and traffic was opened all the way to the Hoboken line. There were few places along the way decorated and a quiet crowd lined the sidewalks and watched the cortege without demonstration.

Secretary Adams was met at the pier entrance by Paul W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines, and was escorted to the gangplank. He was met there by Capt. Randall, of the George Washington, and escorted to the suite on the port side in which President Wilson had traveled.

Stimson Is Interviewed.

Secretary Stimson and Mrs. Stimson arrived quietly a few minutes after the members of the Washington party had been assigned to cabins. They were escorted to their suite, on the starboard side just opposite Secretary Adams, by Capt. Randall, and after resting for a few minutes appeared at the request of photographers and interviewers and remained on deck for a short time.

The ship was scheduled to sail at 3 o'clock, but was delayed a half hour due to the arrival at the last moment of a heavy consignment of mail. The delay gave time for longer farewells, and the salons for a time represented a cross-section of Washington's official and social life.

Among those in the official party are Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hilary P. Jones; J. Theodore Marriner, chief of the Western European division of the State Department; George Rublee, adviser to Ambassador Morrow; Rear Admiral and Mrs. J. R. P. Pringle, Rear Admiral and Mrs. H. E. Yarnell, Rear Admiral and Mrs. A. J. Hepburn, Capt. W. W. Smyth, Capt. and Mrs. A. H. Van Kueren, Commander and Mrs. Harold C. Train, William H. Beck, Assistant to the Secretary of State, and Mrs. Beck; Lieut. Campbell, of the Navy; J. W. Ballantyne, of the State Department; Mr. and Mrs. James L. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Noel H. Field, David A. Salmon, cipher expert; Michael J. McDermott, press officer of the State Department; Harry R. Young, disbursing officer, and Herbert F. Wright, editor.

The party will be quartered in London at the Ritz and Mayfair hotels. The official headquarters and offices of the American delegation will be at the Ritz.

Nippon Delegates Talk With British Premier

London, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The Japanese delegates to the five-power naval disarmament conference began conversations today with Prime Minister MacDonald, who has just returned from a holiday in Scotland.

Reijiro Wakatsuki, chief of the Japanese delegation Admiral Takarabe and M. Matsudaira had tea with the prime minister at No. 10 Downing street this afternoon and remained talking with him for two hours. They declined to disclose any information about their conversations.

It is understood that the talk was purely informal and general, and that nothing of direct importance was discussed.

The Japanese are conferring with Mr. MacDonald at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow and will meet him again on Saturday at Chequers, country residence of British prime ministers. They have already had discussions with Foreign Secretary Henderson and First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander, who attended a cabinet conference with the prime minister this morning.

Chinese Mutineers Quelled in Honan

Gen. Tang, Revolt Leader, Allowed to Go to Japan for "Study."

Shanghai, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The Nationalist government announced tonight that the revolt of Gen. Tang Seng-Chi's armies in Honan province had ended with the surrender of the mutineers. The surrender followed the capture of 10,000 of the rebels Tuesday.

The government stated that it had agreed to allow Tang Seng-Chi to go to Japan "for study." It is understood that the government is supplying Tang with 50,000 Mexican dollars (about $17,500 gold) for traveling expenses.

This "silver bullion" procedure is the typical attitude for a victorious Chinese militarist to assume toward a defeated foe.

EDWARD W. BOK DIES AFTER HEART FAILS

Well-Known Editor Expires Before Sons Can Reach His Bedside.

PATRON OF FINE ARTS

Lake Wales, Fla., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Edward William Bok, who rose from a poor Dutch immigrant boy to a position of fame and wealth, died at his Mountain Lake home early today.

The editor, author and philanthropist will be buried tomorrow at the foot of the great singing tower of bells he erected in the wilderness of a bird sanctuary near his winter home here.

A heart attack was the cause of death, which came after only four days of illness. Mr. Bok died while specialists and relatives were rushing here from the East.

Special Crypt Ready.

A special crypt at the base of the singing tower will receive the body tomorrow. The crypt, built by Mr. Bok several years ago, is situated before the north door of the tower, which rises 204 feet above Iron Mountain, itself the highest point in Florida.

Coming to this country at the age of 13, Mr. Bok became a messenger boy. He rose to success as a journalist, retiring only ten years ago from the editorship of the Ladies' Home Journal. He became widely known for his donation of a $100,000 fund for a plan by which the United States might cooperate with other nations for the attainment and preservation of peace. He also was known for his autobiography, "The Americanization of Edward Bok."

In building the singing tower with its carillon of 71 bells here, the philanthropist said he gave it as a gift to America for the success this country had brought to him.

Other Noteworthy Works.

Other Bok accomplishments were these:

Created the Philadelphia award of $10,000 to be given each year to the person who performed a single act calculated to promote the best interests of Philadelphia.

Made possible the Philadelphia Forum, a benefit to teachers and civilians of limited means, providing an extensive list of lectures, concerts, and entertainments at a nominal sum.

Made the Academy of Music the civic center of Philadelphia.

For five years he was the unknown donor who paid $250,000 in deficits sustained by the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Created eight annual awards consisting of a gold medal and $8,500 to promote better newspaper and periodical advertising in the United States and Canada.

Established Citizens' Award.

Established the Philadelphia citizens' award, whereby each year the three policeman, the three Fairmount Park guards, and the three firemen, who perform the most meritorious acts of public service, receive $1,000 each.

Promoted the Dutch branch of the Netherland-American Foundation for the advancement of further relations in art and industry between Holland and the United States.

William Curtis Bok and Cary William Bok, sons, arrived here this morning a few hours too late to see their father alive. Mrs. Bok, however, was at the bedside. Later in the day Cyrus H. K. Curtis, her father, arrived from Philadelphia, whence he had been summoned yesterday.

Funeral services will begin at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Former President Coolidge, a warm friend of Mr. Bok, sent his condolences from St. Petersburg today and indicated he may attend.

Mr. Bok was 66 years old. He had lived the major part of his life in Philadelphia.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 9 (A. P.). Tribute to the memoary of Edward W. Bok, his friend of many years, was expressed here today by former President Calvin Coolidge.

"It is with great regret that I have learned of the death of Edward Bok," the former President said. "The last time I was in Florida, was to help him in the dedication of his beautiful singing tower.

"His sense of public duty was high, his philanthropies were great and his desire to improve the condition of the people economically, intellectually and morally was shown in many ways.

"A fine friend, a distinguished publicist, a patriotic citizen—all these were combined in Mr. Bok."

Mr. Coolidge, here for a convention of insurance executives, indicated that he would attend funeral services for Mr. Bok at Lake Wales tomorrow.

KIDNAPING RELATED BY HYSTERICAL MAN

Returns to Milwaukee Home Numb, Wet, Bedraggled After Experience.

NOTE DEMANDED $10,000

Milwaukee, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Gilbert Gohres, 22, missing since Wednesday night after he had left a note saying he was being kidnaped, returned to his home in West Allis, a suburb, today in hysterical condition. He was numb with cold, wet, bedraggled and unable to explain his absence.

"I can't tell you," was the only answer he had to questions concerning his disappearance.

After he had regained his composure, the youth told police two men pounced upon him in a garage Wednesday and, at the point of a gun, forced him into a sedan.

He told authorities he was driven west into Waukesha County and was held prisoner at a farmhouse over night.

The men put a sack over his head, he said, as they left the farmhouse today. He was pushed from the sedan near Calhoun Station, he declared, adding that he had walked to his home from there.

John C. Gohres, West Allis grocer, had been directed in a note signed by his son, Gilbert, to pay $10,000 ransom today for the young man's safe return from the hands of the kidnapers.

Gilbert disappeared last night after telling his father he was going over to the Gohres store, a few blocks from the house. Later Gohres found in his mail box a note wirtten by his son, saying:

"I am being kidnaped by seven or eight men. They are taking me to Chicago. They are forcing me to write this note. They demand $10,000 ransom, to be left near Mukwonago at 2 p. m., tomorrow.

"They will be cruising in their car and will see you in your car. You are to drop the package when you see them and you are to return to Milwaukee and tell nobody."

It was signed "Gilbert."

SUGAR TARIFF FIGHT LAUNCHED IN SENATE

Opening Blast Sweeps Four Varying Viewpoints In Row Immediately.

PHILIPPINES ARE ARGUED

(Associated Press.)

The long-waited Senate debate on the sugar tariff opened yesterday with a blast that swept four divergent viewpoints into the controversy at the outset and promised to carry it onward for several days before a decision is reached.

So wide were the differences at the end of the first day's proceedings as to the advisability of voting an increase in duty that no one would hazard a guess as to how much of a majority would decide the issue.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, a Democratic member of the finance committee, who had previously objected to consideration of the sugar schedule yesterday, withdrew his opposition on the condition that an amendment by him to retain the present rate of 1.76 cents a pound on Cuban raw sugar be made the pending question. Chairman Smoot, of the committee, agreed and the contest was on.

1.76 Cent Rate Increased.

The 1.76 cent rate was increased to 2.40 cents by the House and to 2.20 cents by the Senate finance committee. The world rate of 2.20 cents now in effect, which is rarely effective because most all imports come from Cuba, was raised to 3 cents in the House bill and to 2.75 in the finance committee.

The only set speech of the day was delivered by Senator Ransdell (Democrat), Louisiana, who advocated adoption of the House rates as an aid to the cane producers in his State.

Interruptions, however, developed that Senator Smoot would contend for the smaller increases proposed by his committee and that Senator Borah, of Idaho, a leader of the Republican independents, favored a bounty to continental producers in the absence of any concrete proof that an increase would be beneficial to sugar beet growers so long as Philippine imports are not taxed.

Independence Problem Up Often.

The question of Philippine independence came up on several occasions. Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, in reply to a statement by Senator Broussard (Democrat), Louisiana, that full relief for domestic sugar producers would not be forthcoming unless the United States either freed the Philippines or taxed her imports, said as a practical proposition he saw little chance of either of these steps being taken.

Senator Borah declared he saw no reason why the Philippines could not increase production materially.

"They have the labor and the soil and all they need is the market," he said.

HOOVER AID NAMED IN SUGAR LOBBY QUIZ

Witness Says Newton Asked for Sliding Scale of Tariff Rates.

HEARINGS TO END TODAY

A sugar expert of the Commerce Department testified to the Senate lobby committee yesterday that Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries, had asked him to work out a sliding scale of sugar duties for the pending tariff bill.

R. L. Purdon, the expert, was questioned in regard to the use of his name in a "highly confidential" memorandum sent last May from William H. Baldwin, New York publicity man, to Junior Owens, secretary of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages.

The memorandum said Purdon "had been asked by the White House and Senator Smoot to work out a practical sliding scale," and added that "his name must not be mentioned in connection with the following information which he has given."

Newton's Request Stated.

Purdon testified that Newton had asked him to attempt to work out a sliding scale and that he had prepared five or six which were transmitted to Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee through the White House.

The witness denied, however, that there was anything in the memorandum that was confidential, saying it consisted of a discussion of the sliding scale.

Showing the memorandum to the witness, Senator Walsh (Democrat), of Montana, asked if the information was "such as would be likely to emanate from you."

"I imagine so, Senator," Mr. Purdon replied. "It sounds like the ordinary discussion of the principles of the sliding scale."

"Is there anything in this that you see that is confidential in character?" Mr. Walsh inquired.

"Not a bit in the world," Mr. Purdon responded.

Other Witnesses Heard.

Other witnesses yesterday were Maurice Mermey, New York publicity man connected with Baldwin, and C. O. Townsend, Tariff Commission sugar expert.

Mrs. Gladys Moon Jones, of the United States Sugar Association, will testify today as the last witness in the investigation into the activities of sugar interests on the tariff bill.

Mermey was questioned about a letter he had written to H. H. Pike, jr., New York sugar broker, which said: "The authority for the information on the inclosed memorandum entitled 'Report on Sliding Scale' is Mr. Thompson, sugar expert, U. S. Tariff Commission."

Thompson Called Townsend.

It developed yesterday that the "Mr. Thompson" was Townsend, with whom Mermey said he had engaged some time ago in a "spontaneous conversation" in the lobby committee room.

Mermey said he did not know at the time who Townsend was except that he was a sugar expert.

Called to the stand, Townsend said he had no recollection of having talked with Mermey and added that the commission had no "confidential" material about the sliding scale.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

THE thing happened, the spies report, like this:

Simultaneously and of one accord, a leader of the drys and a captain of the wets took a header out of the north window into the calm, pellucid and untroubled depths of public opinion and, coming to the surface while shaking water and bath-tub gin out of their eyebrows, announced to a not particularly interested world that they had made a great discovery.

Both of them, diametrically opposed as they were in prohibition gospel, had perceived during their exploration of the pool of popular sentiment that the average American citizen is the champion, blue-ribbon, gold-medal performer of all time when it comes to lying flat, prone and unprotesting in the dust of humility and letting some self-elected bully romp up and down his helpless and prostrate form while wearing hobnailed boots to make the fractures of the spine and the mutilations of the flesh as agonizing as possible.

Here were the drys, said the dry leader, brandishing no clubs and taking up no cudgels while the bootleggers, rumrunners and hijackers made merry, dispensing cheap but high-priced liquors and filling all the hospitals with red-nosed alcoholics, thus creating the impression that prohibition did not prohibit worth a cent.

* * * *

"UP and at 'em!" he gave forth the war cry. "There should be more rumrunners shot and more bootleggers laid by the heels. Allow them no longer to make monkeys of us prohibitionists! Have we no pride? Stir up the lawmakers and the law enforcers! Action! That's our demand. Arrest, jail and bludgeon all liquor ladlers!"

And here were the wets, yelped the captain of the wets, taking the movements of prohibition agents so calmly that everybody was likely to think them a lot of pacifists!

"No more shooting of wets on the high seas!" he cried. "Peace is what we want! Peace in bootlegging, peace in rumrunning, peace in purchasing and consuming the beverages for which men have thirsted since the beginning of time. Goad the nullifiers of laws and lash the disrupters of the status quo into direct action! Convince 'em all that America is, deep down in its heart, wet and getting wetter. And make 'em legislate to that effect."

* * * *

AND the first thing the Capitol lawmakers and the headline writers knew, prohibition was once more the burning issue of the day. Yesterday all was serene along the prohibition front. Government agents made their arrests. Bootleggers dispensed their wares. Some people stayed sober. Others went on with their favorite sport of accumulating edges, snootfuls and jail terms.

And today the big guns boom, the woods belch smoke and the fields are trampled by messenger boys staggering under the weight of senators' and representatives' "statements" on "developments to date." John Barleycorn has come to life for the eighty-ninth time. Whisky holds the spotlight. And the corridors of the Capitol echo to the arguments of drys and the ululations of wets.

All of which is a brilliant, instructive and picturesque example of how easy it is to create or revivify a political issue in America. Noise does it.

GROUP CENSURES MISSOURI FOR FIRING TWO PROFESSORS

offense (trivial, if any) is, under the present circumstances, a clear breach of the principles of freedom of teaching and research and security of tenure in the university."

Members of the committee of inquiry were Professors A. J. Carlson and L. L. Thurstone, of the University of Chicago; Percy Bordwell, of the University of Iowa, and J. H. Gray, of the American University at Washington.

Charges Are Listed.

Alluding to the actions against Degraff and Meyer as having been taken without notice to them "and without preferment of definite charges," the statement said the questionnaire had related to "the changing economic status of women, the sexual code and the moral ideas concerning the family." Both professors approved the questions and several hundred copies were distributed among students with instructions to answer anonymously.

"The charges made by the executive board of the curators against the professors were:

"1. That they (Meyer and Degraff) allowed a questionnaire to be circulated which tended to make students sexually immoral.

"2. That the questionnaire was shocking to students, especially to women students.

Did Not Shock Students.

"3. That the questionnaire could not produce any scientifically valid conclusion nor any facts likely to be of substantial value.

"4. That the questionnaire 'tended to create the condition that it is alleged to correct.'

"After hearings held by the committee of the association these charges are declared to be ill-founded. In answer to the accusations, the report states in part:

"'There is little or no evidence that any student receiving the questionnaire was shocked or insulted by it. There is no evidence that the questionnaire led to sexual immorality or to decreased self-control in the matter of sex behavior on the part of the students. Apparently, before the publicity, the questionnaire was taken by the students for what it purported to be, a scientific inquiry.

Questions Were Familiar.

"The evidence is in agreement on the point that the sex matters and sex problems brought up by the questionnaire are familiar or known not only to the students in the University of Missouri but to practically every high school graduate before entering the University of Missouri.

Prof. De Graff testified that as a student adviser he had been frequently consulted by students about the very issues that are raised in this questionnaire concerning the sex code and the moral ideals that are also involved in engagement and marriage. The students testified that these problems of the sex code of morals, engagement and marriage, are frequently discussed frankly not only in the fraternity and sorority houses but also by the girls with their boy friends.

Students Discuss Problem.

"These students do have ideals and convictions about the sexual code and they do discuss their ideals. These students have access to books and magazine articles by the hundreds that deal with the social institutions of bethrothal, marriage, fidelity, birth control, divorce and other aspects of our sexual code. They see these problems discussed in current fiction, in the movies and on the stage.

"In view of these facts the committee finds no 'manifest social impropriety,' as charged by the board, in the questionnaire. The committee denies the further objection of the board that 'the inquiry from its very nature could not produce any scientifically valid conclusions or any facts likely to be of substantial value.'"

Acosta Arraigned In Desertion Case

Released on $3,000 Bail to Await Trial on Charge Brought by Wife.

Mineola, Long Island, Jan. 9 (N.Y. W.N.S.).—Bert Acosta, transatlantic flier, whose matrimonial troubles resulted in his arrest for abandonment of his two children, pleaded not guilty to the charge before County Judge Louis J. Smith here today and was held in $3,000 bail for trial next Monday.

The charge was brought by his wife. In talking to reporters before the arraignment, Acosta said that if his wife would get a divorce he would remarry, but he did not name the other woman in the case.

Court attaches explained that a warrant was not executed until the defendant was in a jail cell and that Acosta had been kept all day Wednesday in the sheriff's office before bail was arranged. The bail was furnished by Charles A. Levine.

Alleged Extortionist Arrested in Kentucky

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Three suspects were under arrest today for an alleged attempt to extort $8,000 from O. H. Wathen, Louisville distiller. The arrests were revealed by police. Those held for questioning were William Carroll, 35, painter; Robert ("Chub") Garrett, Negro, and a Negro woman, all of Jeffersonville, Ind.

Police acted after warnings had been received by mail and telephone that injury would result to Wathen, his wife and two children unless they complied with requests for money. A telephone operator, who had been warned by police, called officers when threats were made over the telephone. The Negro woman was found still in the telephone booth when police arrived, and upon being questioned she named Garrett, who in turn named Carroll.

Locomotive Explodes; Three Trainmen Hurt

Red Wing, Minn., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Three trainmen were injured, one seriously, when a freight locomotive on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway was demolished by an explosion 9 miles northwest of here today. The cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

Twenty-five box cars which composed the train were derailed and piled up along the tracks. Parts of the locomotive were strewn about the ground, some pieces many yards from the tracks. Those injured were Harry Podas, 49, engineer, Minneapolis, condition serious; Harry A. Donaldson, 38, fireman, St. Paul; William Farmer, 37, brakeman, St. Paul.

RISING MISSISSIPPI POUNDS AT LEVEES

High-Water Stages Assume Threatening Proportions in Lower Valley.

COMING COLD WELCOMED

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—High-water stages were assuming threatening proportions tonight as rain continued to swell streams in the Lower Mississippi Valley.

From Cairo, Ill., south, down the valley, small streams had left their banks, the larger ones were nearing flood stage and the Mississippi was climbing too rapidly for the comfort of the flood-harassed people who live on its delta.

Cold showers continued over a large part of the valley tonight after record rainfall since Monday. A report that the Mississippi would reach 42 feet, 3 feet below flood stage, at Cairo gave rise to fear of flood stage here. There also was a report from Cairo that the Ohio was high and may push the Mississippi even nearer flood stage at Cairo. A flood stage of 34 feet is expected at New Madrid, Mo., next week, and Memphis has been promised at least 31 and perhaps 35 feet, which is flood stage.

Farmers Move Stock.

At Hickman, Ky., farmers have moved their live stock from the lowlands. In Arkansas the Ouachita was flooding lowlands, as was the Black and St. Francis.

In Mississippi the cold water was driving stock from the bottom lands and threatening its levees.

Thus far, damage from the rivers has been slight. High water is expected in the valley in January, but it is higher this year than usual. Flood stage on the Mississippi is not always dangerous. It means the river will cover bottom lands and pound against its levees. If the levees hold, little or no damage results.

Damage from the terrific rains has been considerable, especially at Memphis, where more than eight inches have fallen since Monday. Highways in north Mississippi and Arkansas have suffered and many are impassable.

A forecast that rain tonight would change to sleet and snow heartened the valley. A hard freeze would check a rise, rivermen say, although enough water is in sight now to insure a high stage on the Mississippi.

(Associated Press.)

Senators and representatives of Southeastern States organized yesterday to press for immediate adoption by Congress of a resolution to extend for another year a $6,000,000 appropriation granted last session for relief of farmers in flood-stricken areas of their States.

Representative Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, was appointed chairman of a committee to confer at once with Secretary Hyde of the Agriculture Department to get his views on their proposal and to aid them in obtaining early adoption. Others named on the committee were Senator Harris, of Georgia, and Representatives Fulmer, of South Carolina, and Larson and Wright, of Georgia, all Democrats.

Speaking for the group, Senator Harris said the benefits of the appropriation, if it is adopted, would apply to both the northern and southern part of his State as well as to Florida, Alabama and South Carolina.

Youth Said to Confess 7 Attacks in Cleveland

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9 (A.P.). — A confession to seven assaults on young women was made today by Ralph de Motteo, 21, after eighteen hours of questioning, detectives announced.

The seven attacks occurred between October 22 and December 18, before the advent of the "hook-nosed gunman" sought by police for the shooting of three other women in the last few weeks. De Motteo was arrested last night after his eighth alleged attack. Miss Hilda Matsuka, 17, who was beaten unconscious, furnished information which led to De Motteo's arrest soon after on a charge of assault and battery.

North Carolina Woman Asphyxiated in Florida

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Mrs. B. M. Safford, 72, of Hot Springs, N. C., was asphyxiated here today in the bathroom of the home of friends with whom she was visiting.

Her body was found in the bath tub. Efforts to revive her with a pulmotor were unavailing.

CLIMAX OF WINTER HEAT WAVE PASSES

Mercury Begins to Fall After Reaching Mark of 74 Degrees.

COLD WEATHER ON WAY

The climax of Washington's mid-winter heat wave was reached yesterday afternoon with a kiosk reading of 74 degrees and an official temperature of 70 degrees at the United States Weather Bureau. The mercury began to drop last night, and with colder weather predicted for today the Weather Bureau stated that the spring-like weather of the last ten days is at an end.

The kiosk at Pennsylvania avenue and E street recorded 74 degrees at 3 o'clock, while the Weather Bureau's high mark came at 4 o'clock. The former mark was 30 degrees higher than the official average for 33 years in the Capital and was 5 degrees above the top point of Wednesday.

Topcoats and milady's fur coats were shed early yesterday as the mercury soared. Birds could be heard chirping the arrival of the preseason spring weather, and even the grass in the parks had taken on a greenness that belied the time of year.

While no records were broken, Weather Bureau officials said that the weather of the last ten days was between 25 and 30 degrees above normal and that a temperature of 70 degrees this early in January is distinctly unusual. The mark set yesterday is the fourth highest in the history of the Weather Bureau for this month. On January 22, 1927, a temperature of 76 degrees was registered, and on January 31, 1916, a recording of 71 degrees.

Rain and colder weather are on the program for today in Washington.

Santa Fe Railroad timekeeper, died from overexertion after shoveling snow at his home in Arkansas City, Kans.

Kansas City, Kans., public schools were ordered closed because of difficulty of pupils in reaching the buildings. Snow drifts blocked entrances to buildings at Park College, Parkville, Mo., and classes were dismissed for the day.

Benefit to Crops Seen.

The moisture will be of great benefit to growing winter wheat. Fear was expressed by Missouri farmers, however, that sleet which fell before the snow might smother the crop.

Live stock suffered considerably from the snow and attendant cold blasts.

Roofs of several buildings, including three public garages at Independence, Kans., collapsed under the strain of piled-up snow. No lives were lost, however. The roof of a garage at Neodesha also gave way. Warned by creaking timbers, 300 persons escaped from a frame tabernacle at Okmulgee, Okla., just before the top crashed in.

New York Swelters.

New York, Jan. 9.—Sometime in the future, people will tell their grandchildren about January 9, the famous hot day away back in 1930, when temperatures rose to 65, men shed their coats and mopped their brows.

And by that time they will be saying that robins chirped in the bare bushes along Riverside drive and pussywillows burst forth everywhere into a paean of spring.

But they will not be people from the West or the Middle West, for, while New York City and the East today sweltered in what would have been a disagreeable humid June day, a howling blizzard was racing eastward paralyzing traffic, holding up trains and causing untold damage and distress.

Cold Wave Sweeps Eastward.

The advance guard of this blizzard, an area of low pressure accompanied by high winds and extreme cold, advanced into western New York this afternoon.

Its icy fingers closed on the running streams and brooks which in some cases were about to break their banks with freshets and tightened them into compact ice. Advancing at a tremendous rate, the wave headed toward New York and the seaboard, leaving a trail of falling temperatures and shivering people.

The mercury broke all records for this date today, the highest temperature previously being 56 degrees on January 9, 1889.

Police Disperse Reds in New York

Officers Charge Twice on Crowd in Front of Shoe Store.

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Police reserves, a police emergency squad and a dozen or more patrolmen twice charged a crowd of about 150 Communists to break up a demonstration in front of a West Twenty-sixth street shoe concern today.

One policeman suffered lacerations of the face at the hands of women participants in the disturbance. Many of the demonstrators were taken to a police station, where they were charged with disorderly conduct.

The police said that the shoe concern, the Dan Palter Shoe Co., was not involved in a labor dispute, but demonstrators insisted that employes of the company were on strike. The demonstration was fairly peaceful until police ordered participants to disperse.

Three Miners Killed in Slate Fall.

WEDDING FESTIVITY CONTINUES IN ROME

Military Review, Fireworks, Reception and Pageant Fill Day for Bride.

ROYALTY FILLS STANDS

Rome, Jan. 9 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The City of the Caesars, which has taken Marie Jose, only daughter of the Belgian monarchs, to its heart and has been affectionately calling her "Our Princess," since her marriage yesterday to Crown Prince Humbert, continued today to fete the 23-year-old future Queen of Italy.

From early this morning until late tonight Rome was turned into a carnival city for her delight. The second day of the wedding festivities began with an impressive military review and closed with a brilliant reception at which the Eternal City's governor, Prince Boncompagni-Ludovisi, was host.

Hours before the sun had reached the meridian, 22,000 men of arms, the flower of Italy's fighting forces, were maneuvering before Princess Marie Jose and 70 of the royal wedding guests, including the Belgian and Italian sovereigns, on the Parioli Parade Grounds, a former racecourse, just outside Rome.

300 Airplanes in Formation.

In the next hour Italy's new Crown Princess saw representatives of most of the armed forces which uphold the throne she is one day destined to share with the young prince who became her husband yesterday morning in the Pauline Chapel in the Quirinal Palace.

Bersaglieri in their feathered hats trotted past her at double time, followed by pacing squadrons of cavalry, including the famous Florence lancers. Then there were soldiers mounted on camels, tanned a berry brown by African suns, Alpine troops with battle-torn flags, picturesque Spahis and Aarbs, marines, colonials from Tripoli, Eritrea and Somnaliland, their white burnooses contrasting colorfully with the uniforms of teh black shirt Fascist militia, topped by fezzes.

Overhead floated two huge dirigibles; but the most spectacular feature of the whole display was formation flying by 300 airplanes, brought to Rome for the occasion from aviation camps throughout Italy. The climax of the spectacle came when these planes formed a gigantic inverted cone in the sky, the slower planes gyrating in concentric circles 600 feet above the reviewing field, faster planes circling on the other up to 3,000 feet.

Kings Side by Side.

In the center of the group at the Royal Stand King Victor Emanuel, of Italy, and King Albert, of Belgium, sat their horses side by side. At one side of them was the stand reserved for the diplomatic corps; at the other a stand filled with members of the cabinet, the Senate, the Chamber of Deputies and the Fascist grand council. Nearly all the visiting royalties and princes of the blood who came to Rome for the wedding were in the stand with Marie Jose.

After the review, the Prince and Princess of Piedmon tmotored through the gardens of Villa Humberto and stopped for a while at Villa Glori to watch harness racing in progress there before returning to the quirinal to prepare for the evening.

A gigantic fireworks display on the Janiculum Hill, followed by the reception, crowned the day's festivities. Th eroyal newlyweds watched the fireworks from the balcony of the Quirinal, the vast square of whica was brilliantly illuminated by myriads of multicolored light. So brilliant was the lighting that the statue there of Garibaldi, who led the figat for a united Italy, was clearly visible from the palace.

The feature of tonight's reception was a pageant depicting a marriage ceremony in the Augustine era.

PROFESSOR DENIED CITIZENSHIP PAPERS

Refusal to Bear Arms Under Any Circumstances Is Refusal Basis.

WILL APPEAL DECISION

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Prof. Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, of the Yale Divinity School, was formally denied United States citizenship in a decision filed by Judge Warren B. Burrows with the clerk of the United States district court.

When Prof. MacIntosh made application for citizenship last June he refused to swear that he would bear arms in defense of the United States. He based his refusal at the time on the ground that his first allegiance was to the will of God and that he could not bear arms unless he felt the cause for doing so was morally justified.

The court said, in part:

"It appearing that the said petitioner, considering his allegiance first to the will of God, would not promise in advance to bear arms in defense of the United States under all circumstances, but only if he believed the war to be morally justified, it is

"Decreed, that the petitioner is not attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and further decreed that said petition for citizenship is denied."

Counsel for Prof. MacIntosh said after the decision had been filed that the case would be brought to the circuit court on appeal, and if necessary to the United States Supreme Court.

Prof. MacIntosh, a native of Scotland, is Dwight professor of theology. He served as a chaplain with the honorary rank of captain during the World War, and on a second trip overseas served as a Y. M. C. A. worker with the American Expeditionary Forces.

ECONOMIC GROWTH CITED BY COOLIDGE

Former President Speaks to Insurance Meeting in Florida.

FINDS PEOPLE SOUND

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Economic life in America has made astounding progress since the birth of the republic and the causes have been the character of the people and the accumulation of capital, former President Calvin Coolidge said here tonight. He spoke at the annual convention of the New York Life Insurance Co.

"In any estimate of the power of a country, we find the chief asset in spiritual values," said Mr. Coolidge. "Without them all else is vain. In this respect we are well equipped. The heart of the people is sound.

"Civilization always has its camp followers. We are not without a fringe of idle, vicious, boisterous wastrels. But they are conspicuous chiefly by their contrast with the great body of sober, industrious, thrifty, intelligent, honest, God-fearing men and women of high courage and abiding faith, who make up the great body of our people.

"The material welfare of the country also depends upon the amount of capital it can command. It is not merely the superiority of the American people that enables them to do about one-half the world's work; it is because each operator has greater facilities, uses more improved machinery and is supplied with several times more horsepower than the workers in other countries."

Declaring that the rapid increase in accumulated capital is indicated in part by the records of banks and insurance companies, Mr. Coolidge said that in 1910 the deposits in savings banks were about four billions, in 1920, six and one-half billions, and at present ten and one-half billions.

The total amount of insurance in force for the same dates, he added, was about fifteen and one-half billions, thirty-five and three-quarters billions, and one hundred and three billions.

"Nothing has been more fascinating than this economic development," said Mr. Coolidge. "Nothing more completely demonstrates the ability of the people under our system to take care of themselves.

"The advocates of defeat have often asserted that the only economic salvation lay in communism, but the independent spirit of the American has constantly replied that the individual is sovereign, that the private ownership of property is a sovereign right, and he is able to take care of his own destiny."

"While there are no accurate records," said Mr. Coolidge, "the first sources estimate our National wealth at from 300 to 350 billion dollars. Our income has increased from a little over 60 billions to more than 90 billions in the last ten years."

The address was broadcast over a Nation-wide hook-up through Radio Station WJZ in New York.

PARTY WAR CALLS ORTIZ RUBIO HOME

Majority Bloc of Congress Torn by Old Differences at Mexico City.

VISIT TO U. S. CUT SHORT

Mexico City, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Just when Mexico's political house seemed in order, old differences within the majority bloc in Congress have followed a hastily patched up truce and have created a situation which, while not necessarily presaging grave difficulties, constitutes a problem of serious concern.

The political crisis had drawn the attention of President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio, who is cutting short his visit to the United States with the announcement that his wife's health makes it advisable to return to Mexico City.

Winslow, Ariz., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio, of Mexico, will return tomorrow to Mexico, abandoning plans to end his tour of the United States with a visit to the southern Pacific Coast.

The president-elect announced at Gallup, N. M., last night that delicate health of Senora de Ortiz Rubio would necessitate an immediate return to Mexico City. The future first lady of the southern republic appeared on the observation platform of their special train at several points yesterday, and appeared in good spirits, but it was explained her strength has been weakened by the arduous tour of the United States on which she has accompanied her husband.

The train of the presidential party left here last night for the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, where it was scheduled to arrive at 8 o'clock this morning.

Senor Ortiz Rubio said he would enter Mexico tomorrow through Phoenix, Ariz., and Nogales, Sonora.

NEW YORK AVIATRIX DIES IN PLANE CRASH

Mrs. Neva Paris Succumbs as Craft Goes Into Nose-Dive in Georgia.

WAS BOUND FOR MIAMI

Woodbine, Ga., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Mrs. Neva Paris, Great Neck, Long Island, aviatrix, was killed in the marshes near here today in her plane that went into a nose dive at about 2,000 feet altitude and was demolished.

The young woman flier had taken off from Columbia, S. C., this morning to continue her flight from Great Neck to Miami, Fla., where she intended to participate in air races next week.

Witnesses said Mrs. Paris apparently was experiencing trouble with her ship and was seeking a place to land when the plane suddenly tilted over and plunged into the marsh land adjoining the Satilla River. She was dead when aid reached her.

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Mrs. Neva Finley Paris, who was killed in an airplane crash at Woodbine, Ga., today while flying to Miami to participate in an aerial meet, lived at the home of her father, C. E. Finley, at Great Neck, Long Island.

Mrs. Paris was born in Kansas City, Mo., and came to New York with her parents as a small child. For eight years before she started to fly she owned and managed an orange Grove at Anaheim, Calif.

With a private pilot's license, having completed her course only a few months before, she entered the Women's National Air Derby across the continent last summer and won sixth place.

Water Gains Rapidly On Foundering Vessel

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Water in the hold of the disabled four-masted schooner Blakely, of Mobile, Ala., is gaining rapidly and may force the abandonment of the craft, a radio message received at Coast Guard headquarters early this afternoon from the cutter Yamacraw, Commander Blakely reported.

The cutter should reach the schooner, which the American steamer Dixiano is standing by, late this afternoon, her last radiogram said.

Texas Town Stricken By Smallpox Epidemic

Texarkana, Tex., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—School authorities today instituted compulsory vaccination of all students against smallpox, following an official health report yesterday showing 31 cases in the city and a total of 131 cases in Bowie County, Tex., and Miller County, Ark. Forty homes on the Texas side of the State line were quarantined early today.

City Physician William Hibbits said conditions "are such as to be termed a mild epidemic."

WRIGHT TO RECEIVE GUGGENHEIM MEDAL

Airplane Inventor Is Granted Award for Notable Achievement.

CEREMONY TO BE HERE

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Orville Wright, for the "design and construction, with his brother now deceased, of the first successful engine-propelled airplane," will be the recipient of the first Daniel Guggenheim medal for notable achievement in the advancement of aeronautics, the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for Promotion of Aeronautics today announced.

The award will be presented on April 30 in connection with the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in Washington, D. C.

Theodore Spicer-Simson designed the gold medal, which is simple in form with the inscription "For great achievement in aeronautics," surrounded by symbolic wings on one side, and a plane flying in the clouds on the other. The background of the latter side was a balloon and the nose of a dirigible.

Alfred D. Flinn, secretary of the medal fund, in announcing the award, said it was the latest from "the world of science to a man who has been honored by the leading countries of the world."

Mr. Wright, with his brother, Wilbur, was the first man to fly with a heavier-than-air machine.

LEROY BRADY "GOAT," HIS LAWYER AVERS

they would be willing to take part with me in the event that either should be held for any part in the crime, and they both consented.

Both Appeared Voluntarily.

"You will recall that the investigators held Clarence Brady from last Friday afternoon until late Sunday and then dismissed him. At the request of the investigators, Herman willingly came, subjected himself to the ingenious methods of the detectives' investigation and has been promised for two days his liberty, but is still held in the county jail.

"It is a fact also that when Leroy heard he was wanted for grilling, the appropriate word I think for this character of investigation, he voluntarily came from Washington, where he resides, to Upper Marlboro, sought the sheriff's office, and willingly offered himself for examination, and he, too, has been in their custody since last Sunday night, and is still incarcerated in the county jail.

"The plan seems to be to place the responsibility on Leroy. Immunity from prosecution, I am advised, has been pledged Herman if he will give aid and assistance in making Leroy the goat. But, you know, courts have something to say about immunity promises."

100 PERSONS HURT IN EXPLOSION PANIC

standing beside the ruins of the old theater, scattered in all directions at the first blast. Many were knocked to the ground as the debris struck them.

The explosions were believed to have been caused by a spark from the flaming ruins falling into an open acetylene tank. The panic following the explosion extended from the top floors of City Hall to the level of the subway-surface cars, almost directly under the site of the old Globe Theater.

The Thirteenth street station of the Market street "L" and the subway-surface station reverberated with the crash of the explosions. Already jammed by the rush-hour traffic, which had just begun to slacken, the platforms were the scenes of wild disorder.

Subway guards had difficulty in restraining the crowds. Some sought to regain the surface to discover what had caused the explosion as others tried to rush down the steps to avoid the flying debris.

Theater Crowd Is Orderly.

There also was a near-panic in the Family Theater, only a few doors from the Globe Building on Market street. The operator continued to run the projector, however, and the crowd's attention was diverted from the picture for only a few minutes. Most of the audience, realizing that they were in no danger, later quietly sought the street to find out the cause of the explosion.

As the fire started at 5:35 o'clock on the edge of the wreckage and traveled along the high fence surrounding the property the 20 or more workmen fled. One of the laborers, however, was trapped among the heaps of lumber and brick. As the first blast occurred his clothing was set afire, and he ran into Juniper street, a living torch.

Fellow laborers rolled him on the ground and extinguished the flames. He was taken to a hospital. While the rescue work was going on, city officials began an investigation. Officials of William Steel & Sons, the general contractors, who had charge of the wreckage work, are being sought for questioning.

Score Within Inclosure.

More than a score of firemen and policemen were inside the fence surrounding the property when the first blast occurred. They were nearly all injured, several of them seriously. As rescuers picked them up the second explosion occurred.

The third and fourth blasts took place within several minutes of each other. By that time, however, there was no one within the danger area.

A tongue of flame reaching as high as City Hall shot into the air as the first explosion occurred. At the same time tons of debris were hurled aloft.

The crashing of glass, the heavy boom of the explosion and the shower of timbers and bricks that fell all combined to cause a panic among the hundreds in the immediate vicinity.

Appointee Awaits Senate's Confirmation; Czech Minister Is Chosen.

WASHBURN WILL RETIRE

(Associated Press.)

Further changes in the American diplomatic corps in Europe were formally announced yesterday at the White House with the submission of two nominations to the Senate.

Senator Frederic M. Sackett, of Kentucky, was named Ambassador to Germany, succeeding Jacob Gould Schurman, resigned. Gilbert Baker Stockton, of Florida, was appointed Minister to Austria, and Abraham C. Ratshesky, of Massachusetts, was nominated as Minister to Czechoslovakia.

Subsequently the State Department announced the retirement from the Diplomatic Corps of the present Minister to Austria, Albert Henry Washburn, of Massachusetts, and the present Minister to Czechoslovakia, Lewis Einstein, of New York.

Two Await Confirmation.

Prompt confirmation of the Sackett nomination was given by the Senate, but the others were referred to the foreign relations committee in the usual course. After they have been confirmed, the ministers will confer with State Department officials before leaving for their posts.

Both Mr. Stockton and Mr. Ratshesky served under Herbert Hoover during war days, the former overseas and the latter as assistant State food administrator for Massachusetts. Mr. Stockton was a member of the United States Commission for Relief in Belgium and chief of the United States Relief Administration to Austria.

Stockton Is Florida Democrat.

Mr. Stockton, a real estate dealer of Jacksonville, was a Democrat who supported Mr. Hoover for the Presidency, campaigning in all the larger Florida cities. He is a graduate of Princeton University and served during the World War on the staff of Admiral Sims at London.

Mr. Ratshesky is a Boston banker, a former secretary of the Republican State committee, and has been a delegate to six national Republican conventions. He founded the A. C. Ratshesky Charities Foundation and has been prominently identified with philanthropic work in Massachusetts.

CHERRYDALE ROAD SUPPORT IS URGED

Turnburke Says He'll Seek Construction if Owners Will Give Land.

WOMEN AFTER NEW JAIL

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Stressing the need for a roadway on the north side of the tracks of the Old Dominion Railway through Cherrydale, Supervisor E. C. Turnburke, from Washington District, declared last night that if the property owners are willing to give the necessary right of way he will do everything within his power to have the road built.

While the Lee highway through Cherrydale has been widened, Mr. Turnburke declared a most dangerous condition results where persons park their cars along the fence by the railway tracks.

"With the road on the north side of the tracks, conditions in Cherrydale will be greatly improved and is bound to increase property values," said Mr. Turnburke.

In addition to assuring his support for the construction of the road, a study of street lighting looking to the establishment of a more modern system for the entire county is now under way, according to Supervisor Turnburke.

The executive committee of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alice Semones, took under consideration the need of a new county jail and ways and means whereby the crowded conditions now existing at the Washington-Lee High School can be relieved.

Regarding the jail condition, which has been fully investigated, it was voted that the jail committee headed by Mrs. Crandall Mackey, chairman; Mrs. Pauline A. Smith and Mrs. Bertha Kelley, together with a large delegation from the organization, appear before the county board of supervisors at its next meeting and ask an appropriation in the new budget for erection of a modern jail for Arlington County.

Recognizing the continued increase in the school population in the county and which was added to as a result of the annexation proceedings, causing 47 pupils to be transferred from the George Mason High School to the Washington-Lee High School, thus bringing the total enrollment to 1,261 in a building with a capacity of 850 pupils, a special committee composed of Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, chairman; Mrs. Alice Semones and Mrs. R. N. Davidson was appointed to make an investigation as to whether it would be possible to reopen the old Cherrydale School for use to aid in relieving the condition until such time as the needed additions are made to the Washington-Lee High School building.

The organization will hold its January meeting Wednesday, January 22, at the Calvary Methodist Church, Frazier avenue, Aurora Hills. The business meeting will be preceded by a luncheon to be served by the Ladies Aid Society of the church at 12 o'clock.

Election of officers and the report of the executive committee will be the principal business to come before the organization.

The nominations committee, of which Mrs. Ruth Lowell is chairman, will meet at her home at Arlington tomorrow afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the Arlington County school board tomorrow night in the offices of County Supt. Fletcher Kemp at the courthouse at 8 o'clock.

Plans for the holding of ladies' night, Thursday night, January 16, at the Washington Golf and Country Club were completed at the meeting of the Arlington Rotary Club held yesterday at the country club, according to an announcement last night by the secretary, J. Hammond Brewer, jr. The program includes a banquet, to be followed by dancing.

Assurance has been given by both State Senator Frank L. Ball and Delegate Hugh Reid that they will support the enabling bill which will give the voters of Arlington County the right to vote on the question of incorporating as a city.

Senator Ball said before leaving for Richmond on Tuesday that the question causing the most thought in the county among the voters is that of the privilege to vote on the form of government best suited for the county. The general opinion appears to be the commission form, rather than the form now in existence.

Harry McGinnis was elected president of the Holy Name Society of St. James Catholic Church, of West Falls Church, at the meeting held in the parish hall last night. Other officers are Joseph Elbert, vice president; William Galbraith, secretary; Davis Patterson, treasurer; Thomas Ballard, marshal, and William McCauley and Eugene Shreve, counselors. The Rev. James J. Widmer was chosen as spiritual director.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin, of St. James Catholic Church of West Falls Church, meeting last night at the home of Mrs. E. C. Schofield, elected as president Mrs. J. O. Martin. The other officers are Mrs. Henry Stevens, first vice president; Mrs. Rose Pauly, second vice president; Miss Edna Schofield, secretary; Mrs. David Patterson, treasurer; Miss Anne Crimmins and Miss Elizabeth Brown, marshals; Mrs. Eugene Shreve, sr., and Miss Alma Berry, counselors. The Rev. A. J. Van Ingelgem was chosen as spiritual director.

The Lyon Village Woman's Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. S. Omohundro, 141 Oak street, last night.

Nomination of officers which included the following members were placed in nomination: For president, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. C. W. Harris and Mrs. Alba McKnight; for vice president, Mrs. Joseph Haley and Mrs. H. S. Omohundro; for treasurer, Mrs. L. C. Carl and Mrs. A. A. Vaughan, and for secretary, Mrs. R. A. Owens and Mrs. I. C. Buchanan. The election will take place at the February meeting.

The newly elected officers of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty were installed at the meeting held last night in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon. The ceremonies were conducted by the deputy, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Taylor.

Those who were installed are Mrs. Mary E. Good, councilor; Mrs. Elsie V. Crux, associate councilor; Mrs. Effie E. Havenner, vice councilor; Mrs. May Krigbaum, associate vice councilor; Mrs. Lela Spillman, recording secretary; Mrs. Leola J. Ellis, assistant recording secretary; Eustace Crux, financial secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Smoot, treasurer; Mrs. Myrtle Whipp, guide; William Moore, jr., inside guard; Waldo Good, outside guard, and Mrs. Mary Cock, trustee.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth left last night for Richmond, Va., where he will attend the session of the State Court of Appeals today.

The first and second grade girls of Trinity High School of Washington and those attending from Arlington County will hold a box party tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick R. Burke, Aurora Heights, Arlington County.

The proceeds will be used to assist in defraying the expenses of a dance to be given in the near future by the Junior Catholic Daughters of Arlington County.

RUM SUSPECT DYING IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

James Treacle, 67, Summons Brother to Alexandria Home, Then Shoots.

BROODED OVER ARREST

Brooding over his arrest during the afternoon on charges of possession of one-half pint of liquor, following three previous arrests on liquor charges, James Treacle, 67-year-old Alexandria oyster shop proprietor and former janitor of the Alexandria High School, fired a bullet through his brain shortly before 10 o'clock last night at his residence above his shop at 601 South St. Asaph's street in Alexandria.

Rushed to the Alexandria Hospital, he was declared by attendants to be dying. They declared that his death was expected momentarily.

Summoning a colored youth, Emmett Jones, Teracle sent word to his brother, Norman Treacle, of 205 Wilkes street in the same city, that he wanted to see him at once. The brother, accompanied by his own son, H. M. Treacle, hastened to the residence. Their knock at the locked front door brought an inquiry from Treacle within.

The brother, possessing a key, was opening the door when a shot rang out. He ran to the front room to find the other man slumped in a chair, with a gaping bullet wound in his temple and a .32-caliber revolver in his hand.

The brother summoned Police Sergeant George Everly and Policeman Virgil William, who reported the case as suicidal attempt and ordered the man to the hospital. They declared that Treacle had been released from the jail on $1,000 bond upon his arrest several hours earlier.

Albert J. Cullen Expires of Illness

Funeral for Retired U. S. Pressman Is to Be Held Monday.

Albert J. Cullen, who retired about five years ago, after more than 30 years as a pressman at the Government Printing Office, died at his home at 28 Girard street northeast at 1 o'clock yesterday, after a lingering illness.

Mr. Cullen was the father of Inspector Thomas F. Cullen, one of the foremost investigators of the United States Department of Justice, whose most recent achievement was his handling of the McPherson mystery in October.

Mr. Cullen is survived also by one other son, Aloysius F. Cullen, of Washington; two daughters, Miss Madeline I. Cullen, of Washington, and Mrs. Florence Golson, wife of the Department of Justice agent at Columbus, Ohio; his wife, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Cullen, and three brothers, Ambrose J. Cullen, of Philadelphia; William Cullen, of Washington, and Edward Cullen, of New York.

Born in Philadelphia 57 years ago, Mr. Cullen came to Washington about 35 years ago and was employed at the Government Printing Office until 1925, when he was forced to retire because of ill health.

At his bedside were his wife and all of his children, except Mrs. Golsen. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at St. Martin's Church, the Rev. Michael J. Riordan officiating, and burial will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Capital Products Will Be Pushed

Education of Citizens to Industries Here Planned at Meeting.

The need to educate residents of Washington regarding the city's development in the light manufacturing field and the desirability of encouraging these industries were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the manufacturers committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

The committee, of which John A. Eckert is chairman, expressed its hearty support of the chamber's "Buy-in-Washington" campaign and urged that the manufacturers be advertised along with the retailers.

In order to better educate the public concerning the Capital's smaller industries, the members of the committee plan to make a series of inspection trips to representative industrial plants in the metropolitan area.

Wider Character Training Is Urged

Sports as Well as Books Develop Children, Rabbi Tells Group.

There is a danger that character education, if obtained entirely from text books, may be merely a learning of rules instead of a development of character, Rabbi Abram Simon, of the Hebrek Congregation Temple, declared last night in a talk to the Park View Parent-Teacher Association. His talk was on character training and its relationship to the family.

The success of any character education program depends upon the cooperation of the parents with school officials and teachers, Rabbi Simon said. A great deal of its effectiveness rests with the personality of the teachers.

Character is developed just as much on the playground when the pupils are engaged in divers games as in the classroom, the rabbi reminded the parents. Sportsmanship tests are often as indicative of worth in this field, he said, as are academic examinations.

STUBBS CENSURED BY VIRGINIA SENATE

Action Folows a Vitriolic Verbal Atttack on Saxon W. Holt.

SALARY BILL IS PASSED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 9.—Except for a censure resolution voted by the Virginia Senate today against Senator R. H. Stubbs, of Middlesex, for his violent verbal attack on Senator Saxon W. Holt yesterday, the General Assembly spent the time at hard and routine work, nominating for judgeships and canvassing the ballots of last fall's gubernatorial campaign.

The resolution against Senator Stubbs, which resulted from his "unparliamentary" references to Senator Holt, who moved to exclude him Tuesday night from the Democratic caucus, because he bolted the party twice in the upheaval in Virginia politics of the past two years, was unique in the annals of the 311-year-old legislative body.

The resolution was introduced by Senator George W. Layman, of Craig, father of Virginia's prohibition law.

The Senate also passed, out of its regular order, the governor's salary bill, which would give the chief executive a salary of $16,000 in place of the present $5,000. Delegate Vivian L. Page, of Norfolk, tomorrow will amend the bill in the House, seeking $15,000, hoping to get at least $12,500.

Alexandria Bills Reported.

Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington, had his bills seeking to validate a $750,000 bond issue for Alexandria reported from commttee, and probably will have them passed tomorrow. This, he explains, will allow a saving, through a technicality, of some $100 a day in interest to the city, which has incurred the expense by annexing a large portion of Arlington County. Senator Ball is speeding the measures through, cooperating with Delegate J. Fred Birrell, of Alexandria.

The selection of judges by the Democratic caucus was purely a routine matter, there being no contests for the seats considered. Two contested seats on the supreme court of appeals bench will be decided on Friday. C. H. Morrisett, tax commissioner, who is not seeking a place; Judge E. W. Hudgins, of Chase City, and Judge Floyd H. Roberts, of Bristol, along with George L. Browning, of Orange, are among the strongest contenders, it is believed.

Judges Are Listed.

Among the judges nominated today were Judge Howard W. Smith to succeed the late Judge Samuel G. Brent, of the Sixteenth Judicial District, which includes Arlington, Alexandria, Fairfax and Prince William Counties, and Judge William P. Wools, of the corporation court of Alexandria, who was appointed to succeed Judge Smith when he resigned to accept the circuit judgeship.

Judge George Latham Fletcher, of Loudoun, Fauquier and Rappahannock, was renominated, as was Judge J. R. H. Alexander, of the twenty-sixth district.

Senator E. R. Fuller, of Richmond, introduced in the Senate a third plan to reduce individual income taxes in the State. His bill would raise the exemption of unmarried persons from $1,000 to $1,500 and for persons with dependents from $2,000 to $2,500. This, it is estimated, would affect saving of more than $250,000 among some 12,000 taxpayers.

PRESIDENT SETS HANDSHAKING MARK AT JUDICIARY RECEPTION

ing from the Supreme Court group, there was some suggestion of "Hamlet without the Prince of Denmark" about the reception last night. The Chief Justice is in the hospital for treatment preparatory to leaving for the South for a long rest, his health having suffered from overwork and from the recent death of his brother, Mr. Charles P. Taft, and Justice Holmes and Justice and Mrs. Brandeis never go out in the evening.

The absence of the Tafts was generally lamented, for at functions at the White House, where for four years they were hosts, the Chief Justice charms all who come within the radius of his genial smile and Mrs. Taft is always surrounded by groups of friends.

Except for the fact that the number of guests was considerably smaller, the traditional routine of previous administrations had been followed at this, the first evening reception at the White House of the Hoover regime. As the President made his entrance, with the Marine Band playing "Hail to the Chief" from its accustomed corner, he was followed by the Vice President, with his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, and the Cabinet group. The Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson and the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams were absentees, bound for London and the naval arms conference, but the Acting Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Jahncke brought up the end of the line. Mr. Joseph P. Cotton, Acting Secretary of State, and Mrs. Cotton had also been invited to be in this group, but Mr. Cotton was ill.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, who had been out of town on New Year's Day, escorted Mrs. Hyde, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary being an absentee. The others in the procession were the Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley, the Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, the Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Wilbur, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Lamont, and the Secretary of Labor and Mrs. Davis.

In the absence of Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft, Justice and Mrs. Pierce Butler were the first of the little group of honor guests to be received by the President. Others glimpsed from the Supreme Court were Justice James Clarke McReynolds, Justice Edward Terry Sanford and Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone. Hard upon their heels came Mrs. Mahlon Pitney, widow of a Supreme Court Justice, Miss Laura Harlan, daughter of the late Justice Harlan, and Mrs. Adee Pomerene, wife of former Senator Pomerene, who is a visitor in town.

Federal Judges Attend.

Judges of Federal and District courts were numerously present, among the guests in this group being Justice and Mrs. William Hitz, Justice and Mrs. Peyton Gordon, Judge and Mrs. Finis Garrett, Judge and Mrs. Samuel Jordan Graham, Judge Wheat, Judge and Mrs. Charles S. Hatfield and Miss Margaret Hatfield and Judge and Mrs. Irvine Lenroot.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the D. A. R., was a guest at the reception prior to leaving at midnight for New York to purchase furniture for Constitution Hall. With her was Mrs. Alfred J. Brousseau, Mrs. Hobart's predecessor in the role of president general. The "Little Cabinet" group was numerously represented, among them being the Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation and Mrs. F. Trubee Davison, and there were also present members of the group of women executives in Government departments, prominent among them Mrs. Bessie Parker Brueggeman, chairman of the United States Employes Compensation Commission.

Senator and Mrs. Frederick Gillett, who have taken little part in social activities of late because of Mrs. Gillett's illness, were present last evening and held an impromptu court. Senator Thomas J. Walsh had with him his daughter, Mrs. Emmet C. Gudger, and Mrs. Geneva Dunham.

Coolidge Memories Revived.

Memories of the Coolidge administration were revived with glimpses of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Clark among the blue room guests. There, too, one found Mr. and Mrs. George Akerson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Richey, Miss Ruth Fesler, Miss Mildred Hall and Miss Anne Randolph, whose sister, Miss Mary Randolph, Mrs. Hoover's chief secretary, was stationed in the green room to see that the dignitaries were duty escorted to their proper places.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, and Mrs. Freeman were also in the group of distinguished guests.

A particularly effective arrangement of palms, roses and carnations, with daisies and small jars of oxalis decked the handsome rooms, the color harmony in pink, deep red and white blending with the background of the paneled walls and brocade hangings. In the East Room, where many of the guests assembled, tall vases of pink carnations and groups of palms formed the only decorations.

Stairs Banked With Flowers.

The staircase was banked with small bowls of begonias and ferns with sprays of carnations, the same choice of flowers employed also in the foyer. A large bowl of pink carnations centered the table in the state dining room, which, last night, was especiall lovely through the restraint exercised in its decoration. A few bouquets of carnations, with tiny oxalis plants and ferns banked the mantel and one or two serving tables.

White and red roses and marguerites enhanced the beauty of the red room and in the blue room only white roses and a few daisies formed a delicate background for the gowns of the women. As usual, pink roses were chosen for the green room.

Orderlies from the Army and Navy stood guard at the doorways of the various apartments, with the Stars and Stripes and the President's flag flanking the door into the blue room. White House aids, the full twenty of them, gave a further note of ceremonial brilliance to the picture. In spite of prophecies that this was to be a "food administration," no supper was served.

E.P. Warner Named By Auto Engineers

New Councilman Named Is A. W. S. Harrington, of Washington.

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Edward P. Warner, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, tonight was announced as new president of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Other new officers, announced at the 1930 annual dinner of the society, included seven vice presidents, Chance M. Vought, New York; Bruce G. Leighton, Paterson, N. J.; O. D. Treiber, Camden, N. J.; Arthur J. Scaife, Cleveland, Ohio; George L. McCain, Detroit; John Younger, Columbus, Ohio, and F. C. Horner, New York.

A plea for a "master plan" under Federal and State supervision, to increase the capacity of American highways, was made before the society by Col. Sidney D. Waldon, Detroit. Superhighways for arterial thoroughfares of 204-foot width and with a minimum width of 120 feet were recommended.

New members of the council who will serve for two years are Ralph R. Teetor, Hagerstown, Ind.; Frederick K. Glynn, New York, and Arthur W. S. Herrington, Washington, D. C.

Lankford Loses Hope For Sunday "Blue Law"

Representative William C. Lankford (Democrat), of Georgia, yesterday admitted that there was little hope for passage by this Congress of his Sunday-closing, or "blue law," bill. For that reason, he said, he had not reintroduced it.

Lankford charged that opponents of the measure had grossly misrepresented its purpose. It is not a puritanical, or radical measure, he said, as they have claimed. All that it would do, he said, would be to close theaters and commercial athletic stadiums on Sunday.

Police Believe Arrest Bares Counterfeit Ring

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—With the seizure of molds for counterfeiting half dollars and the arrest of Clyde Hilton, 33, police and Federal investigators today believed they were on the trail of a ring of spurious coin manufacturers. Hilton, who had been under suspicion since last fall, when a raid on a residence produced manufacturing equipment and counterfeit 50-cent pieces, did not have any of the coins with him when taken.

Hilton, police detectives said, lived a few doors from the house raided, and his subsequent activities directed suspicion to him.

Washington Girl Is Bride of Count

Couple Will Visit America After Honeymoon on Riviera.

Paris, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Miss Maria Genevieve Ryan, of Washington, today was married to Count Frederic Jacques Francois de Janze. The civil ceremony was performed at the city hall of the Sixteenth Ward, the religious rite following at the Church of St. Pierre de Chaillot.

In 1927 the marriage of Count de Janze with the former Alice Silverthorne, of Chicago, was annuled by the Vatican in 1927, making the religious ceremony today possible. The annulment followed shooting of Viscount Raymond de Trafford at the North Station in Paris by the former countess, who also wounded herself. She was given a suspended sentence of six months.

After a wedding breakfast the De Janzes entrained for Nice, where they will spend their honeymoon. In the spring they will go to the United States, where the count has many acquaintances.

Brood Branch Road Is to Be Electrified

Forest Hills Citizen Group Hears Announcement on New Project.

Electrification along Broad Branch road for its full distance, from the roadway paralleling Rock Creek Park to Nevada avenue and thence to Military road, was made public at a meeting of the Forest Hills Citizens Association at 8 o'clock last night at the Methodist Home, Connecticut avenue and Ellicott street northwest.

The committee of the association, which has been seeking this action for a lengthy period, announced definite word had been received from the District electrica department that the work had been authorized and installation would begin immediately along that stretch.

The association adopted resolutions seeking additional appropriations for the District Board of Education to employ matrons in elementary schools. Copies of this action will be sent to both the board and to Congress.

$85,000 Airport Job Goes to Capital Firm

Award of an $85,000 contract to Bahen & Wright Co. for construction of a twenty-plane fireproof hangar, and for a new administration building and passenger station at the Washington Airport, near the south end of the Highway Bridge, was announced yesterday by Washington Airport, Inc. Work is to begin immediately for completion of both structures within 90 days.

The hangar will be a steel and concrete structure 100 by 120 feet, with 80-foot concrete "aprons" at each end, to be erected on the eastern edge of the airport close to the Richmond highway. A machine shop and other servicing facilities will adjoin the building. The administration structure will be of stucco and brick, with offices, waiting room, restaurant, baggage room and other facilities on the ground floor, while on the roof will be a glass-inclosed control room and roofed space for spectators.

Morrow Keeps Silent On Senate Candidacy

Englewood, N. J., Jan. 9 (N.W.W.N.S.).—Just before leaving his home here to embark from Hoboken for London today Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow announced that he would not issue the statement concerning his candidacy for the United States Senate, which Republican National Committeeman Daniel Pomeroy said would be made.

Ambassador Morrow said that he desired not to be placed in the position of exploiting his prominence as a delegate to his own advantage, and to the disadvantage of his Republican opponent for the Republican nomination, former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen. Mr. Morrow feels that his duty in London should not be used to advertise his candidacy for the senatorial nomination.

CANADIAN LIQUOR BAN.

The United States Government has again requested the government of Canada to render badly-needed assistance with a view to helping America enforce the national prohibition law along the border. Mr. Massey, the Canadian Minister, has communicated to Ottawa the latest suggestions from Washington, and it is understood that the establishment by Canada of a ban on liquor exports to the United States is still viewed by American authorities as the only effective remedy. Favorable action by the Canadian Parliament is now reported to be in the offing.

Thorough study of the situation has convinced American officials that there is no hope of ever coping with the flood of liquor exports from Canada unless and until Canada checks the flood at its source. No regulatory methods by the authorities of the United States can even check the increasing amount of illegal liquor from Canada, according to the most authoritative statements from United States officials charged with the duty of enforcing the prohibition law. There appears to be only one means of preventing Canadian liquor from overflowing the border, and that is by a ban placed on liquor exports by Canada.

It has not been considered good policy for American officials or those specially charged with prohibition enforcement to admit that the enforcement problem is beyond their control with respect to liquor flooding into the country from Canada. Public statements tend rather to keep the real situation obscured, and the practice has been to express hope and to imply that conditions were showing improvement.

But frank statements, not for public scrutiny, were made by Admiral Billard, head of the Coast Guard; Prohibition Commissioner Doran and others, behind the closed doors of the conference room when the antismuggling conference between representatives of Canada and the United States was in session a year ago at Ottawa. These statements, reluctantly made public by the State Department months later at the request of the government of Canada, may now serve a useful purpose toward arousing interest in the imperative need of checking liquor exports at their Canadian source.

Admiral Billard in summarizing the situation at the closing session of the conference, on January 10, 1929, said:

> Because we have given such study to the whole situation and because of the information that we have received in our meetings here, I feel that I should now state that it is the well-considered opinion of the United States delegation that nothing short of a discontinuance of the existing practice of issuing clearances or other official documents permitting the legal exportation from Canada to the United States of goods, the importation of which into the United States is illegal, would be of material assistance to the United States, &c.
> In short, we feel that with our knowledge and our earnest efforts, coupled with your knowledge and your equally earnest efforts, there remains no solution with any prospect of beneficial effect other than the one we have come to lay before you.

Various suggestions for tightening border patrol by the American authorities were discussed at the conference and dismissed as futile. The mere increase of personnel would not meet the purpose, in the opinion of the American authorities, as an element of weakness would be found in the greater number of incompetent or corrupt officers. The practice of coping with collusion by dismissing enforcement officers was described as "like pouring water on a duck's back." Commissioner Doran, in a frank statement, said:

> We know by experience that new ways will be devised and it is quite impracticable, if not almost impossible, to devise regulatory methods of dealing with a criminal element and, therefore, I can not help but observe that, in my judgment, further regulatory procedures will almost invariably fail, for, during the period in which they are being carried out, we will have this increasing border outlawry.
> That, I think, is a very conservative statement as to the future possibilities. The traffic is now increasing, it has steadily increased.

The record, as given out by the State Department, indicates that the only remedy lies in the application by Canada of an airtight ban on liquor shipments into the territory of the United States.

SENIORITY RULES.

The latest paradox on Capitol Hill which interpreters of the occult in politics are trying to explain is the vote of Senator Smoot, which gave a place on the finance committee to Senator La Follette after Mr. Smoot had said that he might feel like resigning if La Follette were assigned to the committee.

When the movement to put the young Wisconsin insurgent on the committee first got under way, leaders of the Old Guard could oppose it with good grace, because their own candidate, Senator Goff, of West Virginia, had seniority rights to the appointment. But when Senator Sackett, of Kentucky, was chosen Ambassador to Germany and left a second vacancy on the finance committee, the regulars were perplexed indeed. Fate gave them a bad break, and what could they do but face it and take the consequences?

The key to the situation is the sacredness of the rule of seniority in the Senate. It might be assumed that this time-honored rule would hardly apply to the senator from Wisconsin, because of his youth. Nevertheless he is not a youngster in service, and he seems to lose no advantage in making use of the tradition. After all, rules are rules in the Senate, and the rule of seniority is by no means the least among them. Veterans who owe their own influential positions to this rule certainly can not object when young Bob earns a right to take his place with them.

AN IMMIGRANT BOY.

The career of Edward W. Bok, which came to an untimely end Thursday, stands as a symbol of the opportunity for achievement that America offers to every capable and ambitious young man. The story of his rise from a humble immigrant boy to one of the most influential editors and writers of the country is too well known to need repeating. It illustrates, as no amount of exposition can, the generous spirit in which the American people have accepted new citizens from foreign countries and rewarded them when they have made good.

Mr. Bok was privileged to live his theory of life as few men are. He divided life into three periods, the first for education, the second for achievement, and the third for retirement and community service. His education was not all that he desired, since he was forced by necessity to become an office boy at 13 years of age, and began editing a magazine at 19. But diligent application brought him the editorship of the Ladies' Home Journal at the age of 25. The active period of his life as an editor and author is well known.

Mr. Bok entered into the spirit of America and found an extensive field in which to cultivate his talents. His success represents not only his own personal merit but the willingness of this country to reward the accomplishments of any capable immigrant lad who has a will to win. He proved that America is still a land of opportunity to both native and foreign born.

GOV. BYRD'S FINE RECORD.

Virginia has cause for satisfaction in the progress made during the last four years under the administration of Gov. Harry F. Byrd. In his last message to the Legislature Gov. Byrd speaks of "the new spirit of progress in Virginia." While he is too modest to claim credit for the achievements of his administration, the majority sentiment in Virginia proclaims him leader of the movement.

The South is undergoing a transition from an agricultural to an industrial community. This is a critical time in the history of Virginia, as well as other Southern States, and capable leadership is much in demand. Gov. Byrd began his administration by reorganizing the State government on a modern, business-like basis. Numerous boards and bureaus which entangled State affairs in red tape were abolished or consolidated. The machinery of taxation was overhauled and taxes reduced. The State bonded debt has been kept low, without stifling the development of roads, schools or charitable institutions.

Virginia has laid a good foundation for future years of transition and growth. The State has been fortunate in securing the services of an able executive. The intention of Dr. Pollard, the new governor, to carry out the policies of his predecessor gives hope that the era of progress will continue over the coming four years.

RURAL MOTOR HAZARDS.

The figures just issued by the Bureau of Vital Statistics on automobile accidents during 1928 present a new problem for the traffic experts. Since a large portion of traffic casualties involve pedestrians, it has been assumed that there was a definite relationship between density of population, volume of automobile registration and the death rate in motor accidents. The report does not show this to be the case.

The average death rate from motor accidents for the entire country was 20.8 per 100,000. The first remarkable deviation from the assumption that traffic hazards are greater in the cities comes from the fact that the death rate from this cause is lower in the great cities than in the country as a whole. Philadelphia had a rate of 15.4 and New York, 18.6. Chicago's rate ran to 28, but is much lower than that of many smaller communities. The rate in Washington was only 14. Baltimore, Boston, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, San Francisco and St. Louis were also below the national average.

Camden, N. J., a city of about 140,000 people, had the highest death rate from automobile accidents—56.9 per 100,000 persons. Memphis, Tenn., had a rate nearly three times as high as that of Philadelphia. This is in spite of the fact that New Jersey and Tennessee are below the national average in ownership of cars.

California had the highest death rate at 38.5 of any State; also the greatest registration of cars. Arkansas, which stands low in the number of persons per car, had the lowest death rate. But North Dakota, which has the second lowest death rate, has a high rating of automobiles registered. Delaware, which ranked next to California in traffic hazards, is far below North Dakota in per capita registration.

These comparisons are replete with paradoxes which seem to indicate that there is little connection between the density of population and motor accidents. On the other hand they may mean that effective traffic regulation in the cities is an important safety factor which is not present in rural areas, or in the smaller cities. In view of these recent findings a review of the entire subject might be helpful in pointing to accident causes which have heretofore been overlooked.

The British "Who's Who" reports Col. Lindbergh married to Elizabeth Davis, daughter of Dwight Davis, United States Ambassador to Mexico. Marvelous accuracy, my dear Watson, except that Mrs. Lindbergh was formerly Miss Anne Morrow, and that Mr. Davis has no daughter Elizabeth, and was never Ambassador to Mexico.

HAZARDS OF INVENTION

By JOSEPH J. O'BRIEN,
In a Letter to the New York Times.

You can prove anything you want from a limited study of the experiences of inventors. By selecting a list of days when there is no rain it might be claimed that the chance of rain was slight. All men who obtain patents do not profit from them, and the reasons for this are many and intriguing. About 25 per cent of all patents are assigned before their issue, thus indicating that the ratio of patents regarded as having financial value to the whole is very large. This is a higher percentage of success than general business ventures can claim.

A large percentage of patentees who fail do not deserve success, simply because they have contributed nothing but speculative changes in old constructions or impossible new devices. But no very successful inventor can claim that he has never made any patent failures. Edison has a larger list of patent failures to his credit than any other man in the country. Ford probably has the highest percentage of commercially successful patents to his credit, covering his own inventions. His patents are practically coextensive with the devices or improvements he has embodied in his vehicle.

It is difficult to get accurate information on the successes which inventors achieve. Within a brief period the press announced the death of three inventors who had become millionaires. Higgins, of Brooklyn, who had made his start with a patented ink bottle; Hartshorn, who gave us the spring shade roller; Conrad Hubert, who invented the electric flash lamp and empowered the Coolidge board to dispose of $6,000,000. Even Oscar Hammerstein made $10,000,000 from his patented cigar-making tables.

About twenty years ago or more, as I recall, Story Ladd conducted a national study of patents for the Federal Government. Another such study should be made part of the coming census. It should include both the waste of inventive effort and the lost opportunities. It should consider the inventive factors which are associated with significant regional industrial decline, and the failure of industrial consciousness, as in the dye industry, until a great war developed. It should deal with the personal struggles of men to carry on pioneer work in fields regarded as unprofitable by business men who judge the future only by the past.

It should comprehend the fact that practically every foundation invention in this country was the product of the laboratory of a so-called garret inventor. It should also comprehend the fact that many of the practical discoveries of science are lost because accurate working knowledge of them is not properly diffused, and that engineering is usually more than a decade behind successful invention. It took engineering 40 years to place the electric home refrigerator in use and more than 30 years to take the vacuum suction elevator used for handling grain into the home for handling dirt.

It should also touch on the need for a modernized system of cooperation between banking interests and inventors, so that pioneer workers will not be crushed by the hugeness of their burdens. It should recognize the fact that it took Gillette thirteen years to take out his patent, because his market was not ripe, and that the Entz patents which gave us the magnetic drive, used on most naval ships, had but three years to run when they were industrially adopted. It should study the case of the Swedish inventor of the popular jiffy pocketbook closure, who lost his rights in despair because his facilities to promote were not equal to the unthinking antagonism offered him. It might well study the bitter experiences of Bowers, who gave us the hydraulic dredge, and then had to live for years on the sale of county rights, which only entangled the legal status of his patents.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

PREFERENCE.

He had been fooled so many times
By lazy men who begged for dimes,
He vowed to give no more.
Cried he: "I'll never heed again
False cries of hunger and of pain
As I have done before.
I care not who the man may be Henceforth he'll get no help from me."

And so one day upon the street
A shivering youth he chanced to meet
Whose cheeks were ashy gray,
I'm hungry, sir," the youngster cried,
"For all I care," the man replied,
"'Tis hungry you will stay!
I have no coin with you to share,"
And left the cold boy shivering there.

But strangely as he walked along
He wondered: was he right or wrong?
Was that an honest plea?
He wished there could be ways to tell
The needy from the ne'er-do-well.
Life then would easier be.
Why must this thought his peace destroy?
He'd failed to feed a hungry boy.

"Henceforth," said he, "whene'er I can
I'll give unto the beggar-man
And keep my peace of mind.
Deceived and cheated day by day
I'd rather be than walk away
To think I'd left behind
One hungry boy I failed to feed,
Who stopped me in his hour of need."

The Cook Handles Dishes Gently if She Must Pay for the Broken Ones.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

CRIMINOLOGISTS agree that 90 per cent of all crimes, exclusive of dry-law violations, are crimes against property.

Nine of each ten common criminals in penal institutions are there because they robbed or defrauded their fellow men. They are thieves.

The state punishes them for the evil they have done, or confines them for the protection of society, but it seldom attempts to enforce elemental justice.

In fact, the man whose goods are stolen is made to suffer further to provide punishment for the thief. As a taxpayer he must share the cost of the trial and help feed and clothe the man who wronged him.

Except for the satisfaction he finds in revenge he derives no benefit from the state's interference. The justice he obtains from the law is no more than he could obtain with the help of a club. The whole power of government does less for him than he might do for himself by threatening violence.

Justice requires more than mere punishment of the wrongdoer. It requires undoing of the wrong.

Whether or not the thief is adequately punished is a matter of small concern to the man whose money is stolen. He wants his money. And unless the power of the state is used to obtain the return of his money it gives him neither service nor justice.

To punish theft only by imprisonment and mark the account paid in full is to reward the thief for his crime. He serves a year and is free to enjoy his takings.

True, the state does its best to locate and seize stolen property, and many thieves pay dearly for the trifles they stole. But those who take much are punished little, and in no case does the state require them to right their wrong when they are again at liberty.

Justice requires that the man whose property is stolen or destroyed or injured shall be reimbursed. Justice requires that the criminal reimburse the one he wronged.

A year in jail can not close the account. The wronged man is wronged still. And the law should hold the criminal indebted in the full sum of the property's worth and establish the debt as a judgment and lien against his earnings and his possessions until the last cent is paid with interest—though it saddle him all the days of his life.

There is no other way to give the wronged man justice, nor is there a better way to discourage the criminal.

Buying will be cheaper than stealing when thieves are made to pay as honest men do.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

FIRES IN THE WHITE HOUSE, RUN BOYS, RUN!

Three fires in or about the White House since August and two within ten days have changed the Republican slogan from "Keep Cool With Coolidge" to "Keep Hot With Hoover."

* * * *

The question of the hour is: What's the G. O. P. trying to burn?

* * * *

Even sightseeing visitors to the White House are now taking out fire insurance. You are apt to enter shaking hands with the President and leave shaking hands with a battalion fire chief.

* * * *

If Gen. Dawes' pipe were still functioning in Washington the series of fires would seem easily explainable, but even the general can't make sparks carry across the sea, so there must be some other explanation. The investigators have three theories:

1. Sparks thrown off by a meeting between Alice Longworth and Mrs. Cann.

2. Friction between President Hoover and Congress.

3. Matches or lighted cigarettes carelessly dropped where they could ignite highly inflammable "dry" lobbyists.

* * * *

What the cause may be, the fires must stop. President Hoover has enough to worry about without worrying over the nearest hydrant.

* * * *

Of course there are those who hint at a Democratic plot. The Republicans put it up to Raskob, Smith and the Pope. The Democrats blame it on Wall street, Harry Sinclair and prohibition.

* * *

One more blaze and Hoover will transfer the executive offices to Hook and Ladder Company No. 9, sleep in the Washington Monument and hold his Cabinet meetings on a fire engine.

* * * *

The White House is so jumpy these days that the mere ringing of a dinner bell will bring a rush to the fire escapes. Two whines of a fire siren will cause the President and his official staff to don fire helmets and start sniffing for smoke.

* * * *

All last week Mr. Hoover opened his Cabinet meetings with a fire-bucket drill and closed them with hose-stretching exercises.

* * * *

It is understood the last blaze might have done much heavier damage had it not been stopped by hitting a storeroom. The storeroom held copies of all presidential messages delivered under the last three Republican administrations. You can't burn ice.

* * * *

Already the Democrats are making capital of the blazes to hit the Hoover administration. They say all it has produced so far is one panic and three fires.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Potomac River Banks Should Be Preserved as Park for the Nation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The National Capital Park and Planning Commission, created in 1926, to make a comprehensive plan for the Federal City and vicinity, has adopted a plan to develop a magnificent natural water-front park along the banks of the Potomac River from Mount Vernon and Fort Washington on the South to a point above Great Falls on the north. Almost miraculously the wooded banks of the Potomac, the stately palisades and the turbulent Great Falls have been preserved nearly intact until this late day.

In the meantime there have been pending for some years before the Federal Power Commission, created in 1920, applications to develop power on the Potomac by private corporations. The act which created the Federal Power Commission also authorized a survey of the power possibilities on the Potomac which resulted in the so-called Tyler report. The National Capital Park and Planning Commission has declared that the proposals in the Tyler report and the proposals of the private corporations would injure essential park values along the Potomac in the vicinity of Washington. Congress, evidently impressed with this point of view, adopted a resolution, which abrogated the jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission to grant any permits or licenses in this disputed area until Congress should have studied the matter and arrived at a conclusion.

The press has been carrying stories of the intensive survey which the engineers of the United States Army have been making of the Potomac River. The power dams proposed in connection with the proposed joining of the Potomac with the Ohio for navigation purposes are exactly the proposed dams recommended in the Tyler report and in the preliminary plans of the private corporation which has applied for a temporary permit for power development on the Potomac, but which the Federal Power Commission can not grant, even if it desires, until after Congress has taken action.

As we have more experience we can discover more about the economic possibilities of navigation on the Potomac and of the development of power in competition with existing methods.

The pressing need is to remove the banks of the Potomac in the vicinity of the Federal City from private ownership, where they may be ruined for park purposes. With the land in public ownership, safe from destructive exploitation, other problems can be met as they arise.

HARLEAN JAMES.

Flaxseed Offers Farmers a Big Market—Heavy Importations to Meet the Demand.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Farmers are confronted with the problem of overproduction in certain agricultural crops. It is the old story of the supply exceeding the demand, which results in selling at reduced prices. But there is one crop that can be produced in this country where the demand exceeds the supply which necessitates importation from foreign countries. In the United States 20,000,000 bushels of flaxseed are produced annually, while 40,000,000 bushels are used annually. At the present time flaxseed is selling for approximately $3 per bushel. The farmers could make millions by producing enough flax to satisfy the demands of the country.

With careful study, an appliance of scientific agricultural knowledge and planting flax as a standard crop year after year, instead of as an emergency crop, the farmers can increase their incomes annually, even if there should be no higher tariff on this type of crop. H. L. Bolley of the North Dakota Agricultural College, emphasizes the fact that profitable flax growing can be accomplished only through the means of education for the purpose of eliminating or reducing the present hazards of flax production.

The American flax belt is in Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota. The surplus grain-producing land in these States could be turned into flax raising fields. This would do away with the possibility of a loss to the farmer caused by an overproduction in grains and if enough flax were produced it would enormously increase the earnings of the farmers. R. W. KELL.

The National Anthem—Change of Only Four Notes Would Make it Easy to Sing by Average Untrained Voices.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Here is a suggestion for obtaining easier singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner." First, write the whole tune in the key of four flats, or A-flat. That will bring down the highest notes within reach of the average untrained voice. Second, raise the lowest note (A-flat below the staff) to C below the staff. That will eliminate the most difficult low notes. That means a change of only four notes, occurring (in the Ditson Community Chorus collection) on the words or parts of words printed in capital letters in the following:

O-oh SAY can you see by the dawn's early light.
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleam-ING,
Whose broad STRIPES and bright stars, through the perilous flight
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly stream-ING?

The changing of those four notes of course means a slight change in the tune, but the change is only very slight one, and is hardly noticeable in the piece as a whole. The sacrifice in the slight departure from the original melody is more than balanced by the ease and volume with which the rearrangement can be sun. MYRON M. JOHNSON.

TALK ON SANCTIONS SMOOTHES PARLEY

France and Germany Appear Nearer to Accord at Hague Meeting.

ADJOURNMENT IN SIGHT

The Hague, Netherlands, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—A talk described as highly satisfactory between the French and German delegates to the reparations conference on the question of sanctions has brought an optimistic note into the sessions and has made it possible for the delegates to begin to count upon getting home before the end of next week.

Those who participated in the discussions were Premier Tardieu and Foreign Minister Briand, of France, and Foreign Minister Curtius and Minister of Economics Wirth, of Germany.

The French have not yet conceded the German demand that the protocol adopting the Young plan contain a clause similar to that in the German-American agreement to the effect that the creditors rely solely on the good faith of Germany for execution of the plan. They have, however, practically abandoned all claim to the right to resume military occupation of the Rhineland in case of a default by the Germans.

This question will come to a head with the delivery by the Germans of a written reply to the French memorandum on that subject.

The delegates of the Big Six powers discussed the conditions under which an eventual moratorium may be granted to Germany with the French and British making a stand for an agreement by Germany that arrears of any preceding moratorium must entirely be paid before another moratorium may be declared.

The delegates are still seeking in private conversations a solution to the Eastern reparations muddle without thus far developing anything except the hope of a settlement between Austria and Bulgaria and their creditors. The Hungarian question continues to give anxiety, the efforts of the British and Italians to come to an agreement that would facilitate an arrangement having produced no result.

There was some talk today of the possibility of another session to clear up this question later on if the delegates want to go home next week.

A REQUEST to three would-be senatorial candidates that they place their ambitions in "escrow" and let "experienced leaders" determine which of them would have the best chance of beating Henry J. Allen is the latest political wrinkle from Kansas. Aimed at Senator Allen, regarded as one of President Hoover's spokesmen and his director of publicity in the last campaign, it comes right on the heels of his declarations that Kansas has passed through her wild and woolly, not to mention her Sockless Jerry Simpson and grasshopper days. Difficulty here is in determining whether this is really a radical new idea or merely a reversion to the old boss regime.

The three candidates who are casting longing eyes on Senator Allen's toga are all now members of the House. They are Representatives Hoch, Sproul and Snyder. All are flirting with the idea of moving over to the other end of the Capitol. None has decided actually to take the plunge.

But it is generally conceded that in such a divided field the anti-Allen element in Kansas would be hopelessly split, and that the net result would merely be to deprive three members of the House of perfectly good jobs which in all probability they can retain if they do not decide to combat Allen.

* * * *

NO one of the members, however, so far has warmed to the idea of placing their chances in a pool, and letting some "experienced leaders" decide which of them is to be the choice. They do not want to commit themselves in advance, and especially they do not want to make an open fight on the senatorship if they should finally have to make their individual races to come back to the House.

Perhaps the very strange move—it is being kept religiously secret and even the members of the House are unwilling to say from whom the suggestion comes—would not be regarded as so important were it not that it follows speedily after a precisely similar move with respect to the governorship.

Gov. Reed, who appointed Allen, will in the normal course of events—two terms being the tradition for Kansas governors—run to succeed himself. A formal statement was issued by Frank Haucke, of Council Grove, after a meeting of opponents of Reed, to the effect that the various candidates who would like to run against Gov. Reed in the Republican primary should submit their desires to "experienced leaders" and let these leaders determine who would have the best chance of beating Reed.

* * * *

HOW comes the same move on the senatorship. Altogether it smacks of a situation which requires the fine Italian hand of Chairman Claudius Huston, who so recently has made progress in straightening out the senatorial situations in New Jersey and Kentucky.

It is true that there are scoffers who say the Kentucky situation is not "fixed," and that the opponents of Senator Robsion, of that State, are just as bitter as ever. This seems to be so, but it is also true that after the opponents of Robsion had attended an indignation meeting in Louisville, early this week, and practically decided to back former Gov. Morrow, Mr. Morrow announced that he would not be a candidate against Robsion. So it may be that the situation was "fixed" better than the Kentucky Democrats would like to believe.

It is also true, of course, that the Democrats are not particularly optimistic about winning a senatorship in Kansas this year, as they are in Kentucky and as they were in New Jersey. But presumably the administration would like to see Allen renominated and reelected, the President having shown his regard for the senator during the campaign, and Allen having been a real administration man during the stress of the coalition days on Capitol Hill.

* * * *

KANSAS is electing two senators this fall, the term of Senator Arthur Capper also expiring, but there is no anxiety on any one's part, so far, to oppose him. Mr. Capper was elected governor in 1916 by 100,000 when the State was going by 70,000 for Woodrow Wilson. He was elected senator two years later, and in 1924 he was reelected by more than 250,000. He has been strangely successful in proving satisfactory both to the embattled farmers and the standpatters. Both factions regard him as one of them.

"Does the farm bloc really exist?" some one asked Senator George Norris, some time back.

"Capper exists," retorted Norris.

Meanwhile Washington wonders whether Boss Dave Mulvane is behind this "escrow" idea. For Mulvane was one of the original Hoover men.

allowing either party to terminate it upon 60 days' notice.

"On January 3 a portion of the prisoners at this point refused to go to work, and it was necessary to discipline three of the prisoners concerned by returning them to the Atlanta Penitentiary. It is apparent that the inmates are aware of the discussion that has been going on with reference to this camp, and it is likely that the morale and discipline which ought to be strictly maintained in a camp such as this would be difficult to preserve. The department feels justified, therefore, in withdrawing the privilege which it has extended to these men, and at the time set they will be returned to the penitentiary.

"The Bureau of Prisons is transferring 300 men from Atlanta to the disciplinary barracks in Leavenworth, and this makes it possible to return tre prisoners now located at Chatham County to Atlanta, providing other arrangements can not be made before March 15."

Sanford Bates, superintendent of prisons, negotiated the now canceled contract for the purpose, he explained, of relieving prison congestion. Senators and others who criticized the contract held, however, that the remedy was almost as bad as the evil; since, as Wagner declared, it smacked of "indentured or forced labor which has been condemned by the entire civilized world."

An additional point of criticism raised by leading Negro organizations, including the Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, was that the contract discriminated against the Negro, since it was not contemplated that white prisoners were to be turned over to the State of Georgia.

D.C. Heads Support Zone Regulations

Oppose Permit for Masonic Temple to Stand 180 Feet in Height.

Enactment of the Capper bill providing for a height for the proposed Masonic Temple on the Dean tract, at Connecticut and Florida avenues, twice the height fixed in the zoning regulations, would establish precedent "which could not logically be defended" the District Commissioners told the Senate yesterday.

The Commissioners disapproved the Capper bill. It provided a special height limit for the proposed Masonic Temple of 180 feet. The zoning regulation height limit is 90 feet.

"If the proposed building is erected in accordance with the requirements of the regulations now in force," the Commissioners said in their report on the bill, "it would be of a commanding height because of the topography of the land and, under the circumstances, the Commissioners are unable to appreciate upon what logical grounds a building of a height of 180 feet can be justified.

"The Commissioners are opposed to the weakening of the zoning regulations by exceptions and they feel that amendments should be discouraged unless they be of general application. If the bill is enacted a precedent would be established which could not logically be defended."

of ministerial rank has filled the role of the White House social mentor. Mr. Dunn divided his time between the White House social affairs and the State Department.

Another reason for the change may have been because of the prolonged absence of Walter T. Prendergast, assistant to Mr. Dunn's State Department office, who yesterday left with the American delegation to the London disarmament conference. It was believed that Mr. Dunn's full attention was needed at the State Department.

Mr. Robbins is well known in social circles, as is Mrs. Robbins. He was born in Brooklyn and was graduated from the Groton School and Harvard University. He was appointed Minister to El Salvador by President Coolidge in 1926.

HOUSE FIGHT CAUSED BY WAR SUPPLY BILL

Hoover Plan to Cut Budget Calls Forth Support and Opposition.

BIG AIRPLANES ARE HIT

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's plan to economize on War Department expenditures found support and opposition in the House yesterday during the general debate on the $454,000,000 supply bill of that Government branch.

The recommendation of the House appropriations committee, submitted by Representative Barbour (Republican), California, that the activities be reorganized and curtailed to effect economy, was met by the declaration of Representative Snell (Republican), New York, that "this country will never cut down its Army."

The Army's multimotored airplanes were described as unsafe by Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, a World War aviator, who served with the American forces in Italy. The multimotored planes, LaGuardia said, were supposed to provide reserve power. He asserted they needed all their power to keep them in the air and called single-motored planes in the Army service safer.

LaGuardia referred to the recent crash at Bolling Field here, in which Representative Kaynor, of Massachusetts, and four companions were killed after taking off for a flight before the Christmas holidays, as having brought facts on the multimotored planes to the floor of the House.

The bill being considered in the House calls for an outlay of $442,000 greater than that for the present year. In explaining the measure, Barbour, chairman of the subcommittee that drafted it, said his group approved the economic survey of the War Department instituted by the Chief Executive and based its recommendations on the experience of the committee.

20 U. S. Naval Planes On Way to Guantanamo

Marial, Cuba, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Twenty United States Navy planes en route for maneuvers at Guantanamo, Cuba, arrived here at 1:40 p. m. today.

Seven more planes are expected this afternoon. Cienfuegos, Cuba, is the next stop on their flight to Guantanamo.

announced that he has washed his hands of local crime conditions.

Mr. Robsion, the new senator, was reared on a farm and attended the common schools. He later attended National Normal University and Holbrook College and won a law degree. He taught school and practiced law before coming to Congress.

Senator Daniel Hastings (Republican), Delaware, it was lerned yesterday, will soon be excused from service on the District committee at his own request and will be succeeded by Senator David A. Baird (Republican), New Jersey.

As Senator Baird is serving only until Dwight W. Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico, returns from the London naval conference and takes over the seat, it is not likely that he will take a very active interest in local affairs.

Senator Wesley Jones (Republican), Washington, who recently became chairman of the important appropriations committee, asked to be excused from further service on the District committee, but the committee on committees persuaded him to stay.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Funeral processions are given the right of way over ordinary traffic by the regulation which prohibits motorists from passing through such a line of cars except where they have separated and stopped at a controlled intersection.

Motorists are aided in identifying funeral processions by a further provision of the law. The cars included in a funeral are required to display two illuminated headlights so that they may be readily recognizable.

Example: A driver reaches an intersection where there are no traffic lights and, seeing an opening in a long line of funeral cars, goes on through. Even though he has not interfered with the progress of the procession, he has violated the regulations.

IDAHOAN SELECTED FOR I.C.C. VACANCY

State's Chief Justice Will Succeed Campbell for Mountain Division.

SOUTHERN POST VACANT

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday filled one of the two vacancies on the Interstate Commerce Commission with the appointment of William E. Lee, of Idaho, as a member from the Rocky Mountain division to succeed Johnston B. Campbell, whose resignation became effective on January 6.

The President now is considering a successor to Richard V. Taylor, of Alabama, whose term expired automatically on January 1. He hopes to reach a decision within the next few days.

The President recently nominated Robert M. Jones, of Tennessee, for this place, but Jones declined to serve and his nomination will be withdrawn as soon as a new commissioner can be selected.

Mr. Lee, chief justice of Idaho, was selected from among a dozen men, and has the indorsement of senators and representatives from his own State as well as from Oregon, Washington and Nevada. He is 50 years of age and served as judge advocate during the World War.

His election to the Idaho Supreme Court came in 1922, and he was reelected in 1928. He graduated from the University of Idaho in 1903 and later completed his legal education at the University of Washington and the National Law School.

Virtually every one of the Southern States has one or more candidates for the vacancy on the commission for the Southeastern division. Republican leaders from Tennessee are insisting that a man from that State be named, since the President first selected Mr. Jones. The qualifications of the other candidates are being studied carefully, however.

Adams Will Hear Naval Pay Pleas

Secretary to Take Action on Recent Order When He Returns.

(Associated Press.)

As soon as he returns from the London naval conference, Secretary Adams will hear pleas for modification of a recent decision that the schedule of wages for civil employes of the naval establishments and Marine Corps field service would remain this calendar year the same as they were in 1929.

Acting Secretary Jahncke issued a formal statement yesterday for Secretary Adams announcing the latter would be prepared to "take into consideration such reasons as may be presented" for reconvening the Naval Board that decided upon the pay schedules.

Secretary Adams announced on December 2 that the wage schedules throughout the naval establishment and Marine Corps field service for civil employes would continue as is now in effect for the calendar year 1929.

Baltimore Specialist Called to Taft's Side

(Associated Press.)

A specialist from Baltimore was attending Chief Justice Taft yesterday, but his condition was reported as showing continued improvement by his physician in charge, Dr. Francis Hagner.

It was said at Garfield Hospital, where the Chief Justice is resting preparatory to going to Asheville, N. C., that the specialist was called to aid in hastening his recovery from an attack of bladder trouble. Railroad accommodations for Mr. Taft's trip South have been engaged for the end of the week, but Dr. Hagner said yesterday that the Chief Justice will probably not leave Washington before next week.

Mrs. Owen Will Face Seat-Contest Hearing

(Associated Press.)

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen (Democrat), Florida, and William C. Lawson (Republican), who is contesting her seat for the Fourth Florida district, were summoned yesterday to appear before a House elections committee tomorrow, when hearings are to begin.

Lawson charges that Mrs. Owen, widow of Reginald Alltray Owen, a British army officer, failed to come within the constitutional requirements for membership in the House because of her citizenship. Mrs. Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, holds that she did not renounce her allegiance to the United States.

Senor Olaya To Campaign For Election

Colombian Envoy Hopes to Be President of His Country.

By JEAN ELIOT.

SENOR ENRIQUE OLAYA, Minister of Colombia to the United States, left Washington yesterday for New York and will sail today for Colon on the S. S. Santa Rita—to return in all probability as president-elect of Colombia. Although, according to dispatches from Bogota, the minister has not yet formally announced his intention of running for the presidency on the Liberal ticket, his plans for entering the campaign are being freely discussed in Washington by legation officials and members of the minister's family. He expects to do much of his campaigning by airplane and receptions are being organized all along his route of travel.

Senora de Olaya, who is convalescing after a long illness, will not accompany the minister, nor will his daughter, Senorita Maria Theresa Olaya, who had originally planned to make the campaign tour with her father. Difficulties have arisen with regard to a woman being permitted to do the flying incident to the proposed tour, and, moreover, Senorita Olaya, who is just sixteen, did not wish to interrupt her studies. She is a pupil at Notre Dame Academy in Baltimore. Senora de Olaya will remain in Washington for the present, but later may go to Baltimore to be near her daughter.

The Minister expects to return to this country within six weeks or two months, whether or not he is elected. If he is successful he will wind up his work here before taking the oath of office. During Senor Olaya's absence Senor Jose M. Coronado, first secretary of the Legation, will be Charge d'Affaires ad interim. He has been attached to the legation since 1922 and before that was an official of the Pan American Union.

Senor Olaya presented his credentials in Washington in 1922 and he and Senora de Olaya have made many friends in their period of residence here. The Colombian colony in New York gave a reception last night in honor of the Minister. After landing in Colon he will go to Bogota by air, stopping in several cities en route. He will have two Conservative opponents and this splitting of the ticket may make his campaign the easier.

Vice President Curtis will be a guest at the dinner Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose will give on Monday evening preceding the Bachelors' Cotillion at the Mayflower. Mrs. Loose will entertain in her apartment at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whitten will be hosts at dinner that evening preceding the cotillion, and Mrs. Alice Carrier also will have guests with her at dinner before the dance.

The German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron are giving a small reception at the embassy tonight after the performance of "Don Juan" to meet the members of the German Grand Opera Company.

The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur will entertain at dinner this evening in the Pan-American room of the Mayflower.

The Vice Governor General of the Philippine Islands, Dr. Eugene Allen Gilmore, and Mrs. Gilmore, who have been guests at the Mayflower for a week, left Washington late yesterday for New York. They will return to the Mayflower January 16.

Dr. Gilmore is in this country in the interest of the Philippine Research Institute and also in connection with various matters pertaining to the department of public health and education in the islands. He will visit a number of the leading universities.

Dr. Gilmore made an address on Philippine jurisprudence at the meeting of the Association of American Law Schools recently held in New Orleans.

Polish Envoy is Host at Legation Dinner.

The Charge d'Affaires ad Interim of Egypt, Mr. Ahmed Mamdouh Moursi, has issued invitations for a supper dance on January 24 at 10 o'clock at the legation. Ismail Bey, formerly First Secretary of the Legation, and Mme Ismail returned to Egypt several weeks ago.

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, sr., Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney sailed yesterday for Europe on the Saturnia on which her sister, Countess Szechenyi, wife of the Minister of Hungary, and three of her daughters, were also passengers. She will have access to important documents to assist her in deciding what the type of the memorial shall be.

Internationally known as a sculptor, Mrs. Whitney, formerly Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, designed the Columbus memorial unveiled last summer at Palos, the little port in Spain from which the great navigator set sail on his most famous voyage of discovery. The memorial to the founders of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which stands in a garden setting at Memorial Continental Hall, is a fine example of Mrs. Whitney's work and she also designed the Aztec Fountain in the patio of the Pan American Union Building.

Mrs. Davis was assisted by Mrs. Alvin E. Dodd and by a group of Junior League members. Mrs. Frank West and Mrs. William Barret Ridgely were among those pouring tea. Wheeler to Tell Secrets Of Congress

What Is Behind Battles in Legislation to Be Bared Tonight at 10:30; Damrosch 11 a. m.; Post Brevities on WOL.

Radio listeners will receive a first-hand impression of what is behind the current congressional battles when United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, speaks through the National Broadcasting Co. network from 10:30 to 11 o'clock tonight.

Senator Wheeler, a Democrat, although a vice presidential candidate on the Independent La Follette Progressive ticket in 1924, will talk on "What the Progressive Democrats and Republicans in Congress are Fighting For." He is expected to go into details regarding leading national issues at present before Congress.

The speech will be delivered from the studios of Station WRC, and Senator Wheeler will be introduced by Herluf Provensen.

Jessica Dragonette, soprano, will be the soloist with the Cities Service Orchestra at 8 o'clock tonight. Rosario Bourdon directs this hour, and Miss Dragonette is assisted by the Cities Service Cavaliers.

"Music Inspired by Legends" and "Dance Forms," will be heard by the five million members of the NBC Music Appreciation classes which Walter Damrosch will instruct at 11 o'clock this morning.

The program follows:

First half hour, "Music Inspired by Legends." "Procession of the Knights of the Grail" from "Parsifal" (Wagner); "Saint Francis Preaching to the Birds" (Liszt).

Second half hour—"Dance Forms," Gavotte in E" (Bach), minuet from "Jupiter" Symphony (Mozart), "Pavane" (Faure) and the polka "Tik-Tak" (Strauss).

Selections from the works of Smetana, Mozart and Saint-Saens comprise the program which the Rochester Symphony Orchestra, directed by Eugene Goossens, will broadcast from Rochester over WRC at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon.

The program follows:

Overture to "The Bartered Bride" (Smetana), concerto for cello and orchestra (Saint-Saens) and "Symphony in D" (Mozart).

Other afternoon program offerings from station WRC include the Foreign Policy Association luncheon, with Gen. Jan Christian Smuts as the principal speaker.

Ten selections from the classics make up the program of the Pacific feature hour at 4:15 o'clock from the San Francisco studios of the NBC.

"Amos 'n' Andy," May Singhi Breen and Peter DeRose, the Baybees Twins, "Harbor Lights," "Schrafft's Brown Band," "Planters Pickers" and a dance orchestra are the other offerings from WRC during the evening.

"Breakfast Brevities" from The Washington Post will again be offered from Station WOL for a ten-minute period starting at 8:15 o'clock this morning.

WOL will be on the air from 3 o'clock this afternoon until 7:15 p. m., presenting a diversified program. Helen Webb Zeller will offer another fifteen-minute period of impersonations at 4 o'clock, followed by Katherine Dunning, pianist.

Jackie Martin will describe the judiciary reception at the White House for WOL listeners at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Martin attended the function last night.

Philip Notes, student of Central High School, who has been heard on WOL in several impersonations, will present his Troopers, in a one-act comedy today at 4:30 o'clock, George Cohe's "The Mayor of the Manicure." The cast includes Joseph Dagansky, Marleen Loeffler and Ruth Friedberg.

The Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, will present four students in concert at 10:30 o'clock tonight via WMAL. These are William Kincameron, harpist, pupil of Carlos Salzedo; Benjamino Grobani, barytone, pupil of Emilio de Gogorza; George Pepper, violinist, pupil of Leopold Auer, and Theodore Saidenberg, pianist, pupil of Harry Kaufman. Sleepy Hall and His Recording Orchestra will entertain from 11 o'clock till midnight from WMAL.

WORK'S BRIDGE

For the Player Familiar With Auction But Inexperienced in Contract.

ON previous Fridays we have discussed the strength required to justify original bids of one and two No Trumps, respectively. Today we cover the rare delightful hands with which a player dares to open the contracting with a bid of three No Trumps.

There are two requirements for the three No Trump bid: The first is at least one stopper in each one of the four suits; and the second, a count of at least 21 based upon the method of counting heretofore recommended, viz., reckoning an Ace as 4, King as 3, Queen as 2, Jack as 1 and two Tens 1. When a player finds that his hand measures up to these standards, he should bid three No Trumps initially no matter what his position at the table may be. The following hands would qualify:

No. 1	No. 2
♠A-X-X	A-Q-X
♥K-J-X	A-Q-X
♦A-K-X	A-K-10
♣K-Q-J-X	J-10-X-X

C45

Both have the minimum count of 21 and every suit is stopped. Of course, neither will produce nine tricks unassisted, but with average help from partner the three-bid is sure. If either of these hands were limited with only one or two No Trumps, the partner with sufficient strength to insure game might not have the strength enough to jump to three.

In Hand No. 2 it will be noted that two Tens have to be reckoned with to make a count of 21; Tens valued in this way generally prove their worth when the hand is played.

Some players do not bid three No Trumps unless all four suits are stopped twice, and it is conceded that such a bid may work badly with one poorly-stopped suit. A double stopper in Hearts is not assured in Hand No. 1, while the Clubs obviously are stopped but once in No. 2; but no system of bidding is underwritten against failure, and too frequently players who fail to bid three No Trumps with 21 or higher counts betray one suit is stopped only once, and game opportunities by their timidity.

Next week: No Trump jumps.

"IN THE PLAYHOUSE"
by JOHN J. DALY

WHILE the German Grand Opera Company is playing to packed houses at Poli's, the manager of that well-known theatrical center—Mr. T. D. Bonneville—walks around the house and visions what will happen next week when Miss Jane Cowl arrives. Up to date the advance sale for "Jenny," Miss Cowl's latest play, has broken all records—and Mr. Bonneville sees prosperity ahead.

• • • •

THE same situation obtains a few doors east of Poli's, where, on the north side of E street, stands the venerable National Theater. Mr. S. E. Cochran, manager of that playhouse, is busy taking care of advance orders for George M. Cohan, who comes here next week in his own play, "Gambling." In the olden days, when he was strictly a musical comedy star, George M. Cohan's name was a magic one at the box office. The same holds true today. He is one of those personalities of the theater that has a following.

• • • •

EDWARD SHELTON, the playwright, who gave the world of theater such plays as "Lula Belle," "Romance" and "The Nigger," and who collaborated with Margaret Ayer Barnes in the writing of "The Age of Innocence," from Edith Wharton's novel, is the man responsible for the new Jane Cowl play, "Jenny." Thus, it will be seen, the play comes well sponsored.

• • • •

REGINAL DE KOVEN'S operetta, "Robin Hood," is on the revived list of plays and performances scheduled for Poli's. It is not generally known that the score of "Robin Hood" was composed here in Washington. The purveyor of this information was none other than the late Victor Herbert, who, one day in his dressing room, after leading an orchestra, recalled the outstanding artistic achievements of Washingtonians and placed De Koven's work rather high in the roster. "He wrote all that music when he lived over at Thomas Circle," said the beloved Victor—and later T. Arthur Smith, the concert master, pointed out the house; a red-brick, three-story residence that still stands.

• • • •

QUIETLY and unobtrusively, Mr. E. H. Sothern, the well-known actor, came to town yesterday afternoon and gave an informal talk on the drama in the home of Mrs. James John Davis, Massachusetts avenue. One of his contemporaries, seeing the invitation on this desk, paid Mr. Sothern a compliment: "One of the greatest comedians this country ever developed and one of the few men who ever played light roles and later made a success in the heavier roles of drama." The same historian recalled that William Gillette, now at the National, started out as a comedian, which may be news to many.

• • • •

LUCREZIA BORI, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company and one of the great outstanding vocal stars of the international opera and concert stage, will make her only concert appearance of the current season in Washington at Poli's Theater next Monday afternoon, January 13, at 4:30 o'clock, the third attraction of Mrs. Wilson-Greene's Artists' Course of Concerts. Bori will be assisted at the piano by Frederick Bristol.

Salvation Army Calls For Clothing for Poor

An appeal for donations of both adult and children's warm clothing, household articles, shoes, stockings and magazines has been issued by Brig. Gen. John McKee, of the Salvation Army Social Service, because the army's stocks are almost exhausted and the organization has no funds with which to purchase such material.

Constant demands are being made on the army for aid to the needy and all donations are promptly repaired so as to be serviceable and then sold at a price which barely covers such renovation. Gifts will be called for if persons having clothing will telephone Main 8023.

Warner Will Address Penwomen Here Today

More than 400 leaders of Washington's official, social and civic life will be guests of the National League of American Penwomen this afternoon in the National Press Club auditorium to hear Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., speak on "The Birth of Sound."

Among those who have accepted invitations to hear Mr. Warner are Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister and official hostess for Vice President Curtis, and Mr. Gann.

Mr. Warner arrived in the Capital yesterday and will be presented to President Hoover at 12:30 o'clock today. Prior to his address before the Penwomen and their guests a musical program will be presented by an orchestra of 28 pieces recruited from the Stanley-Crandall Theaters of the city.

Talk Scheduled Today By Buffalo Educator

Dr. E. C. Hartwell, superintendent of Buffalo, N. Y., schools, will address members of the District vocational education committee this afternoon at the Franklin Building. The speaker will outline work being done in this field in Buffalo.

"We are going to proceed slowly in mapping a program for Washington," John B. Colpoys, chairman of the committee, said yesterday. "We will find out just what is being done in other cities before we attempt to suggest a curriculum for District vocational schools."

Capital Optometrist on Committee.

Dr. Edwin H. Silver, of 1410 G street northwest, has been named chairman of the program committee for the eastern regional con reas of the American Optometric Association, to be held in the spring at Winston-Salem, N. C., according to announcement made yesterday by Dr. Nathar. Rosenstein, Durham, N. C., regional director.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Beige woolen coat smartly trimmed in brown astrakhan fur. (Courtesy of Ardanse, Paris.)

Paris, Jan. 9.

"SPORTS clothes can not change a great deal." Thus says a famous Paris couturier—and he is quite right.

In fact, he goes on to say there will be no distinct change in these garments of utility and service until the women demand it, and since they fit present-day needs so well, one does not expect any startling changes for some time to come.

Oh, well, dear, dear, we have said all this before—I just thought I'd show you that a famous couturier—ahem—repeats my words. We repeat, that the only change possible in sports wear is our attitude toward them—the day may come when it may be considered good taste to attend a presidential reception in knickers—heaven forbid! But at the present moment sports wear is saving itself for just its proper place, and dares not show its face out of school.

How we like the lines of the new coats! Maybe you're right, but personally we admit to a slight ennui with the straight-line coats. Ardanse had my idea of a coat in this brown woolen one I illustrated for you today, trimmed with exaggerated collar and cuff of brown astrakhan. What do you think?

• • • •

S'posing that you could make your own novelty jewelry, and at that have it look better than anything you could buy, on account of its appropriateness to your particular costume—what would you do? Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for an illustrated leaflet, which tells you exactly how to do it? wouldn't you? So better send for the leaflet!

Coin de Coleur.

As I said yesterday, black and white undoubtedly are the smartest colors for this season, but not together—I mean, not black and white in one outfit. Not that black and white in one outfit is prohibited by any manner of means, and many a smart accessory sports this color combination! But black and white together as a general fashion trend is not the last word in smartest. But black alone or white alone is.

• • • •

Shall I tell you? At the risk of being poisoned by the fur association, I shall! For amongst us all we evolved a terrifically clever idea, which La Chic Secretaire promptly put into execution—'tis this: she is having a beautiful big collar made of mink, which happens to become her very much even though her taste runs to sable, and lovely, not too exaggerated cuffs. Having them made by a furrier, of course. An opening is being left between the fur and the lining, on the edge of the fur, so that collar and cuffs may be used on several coats. And to start with, she is having a sport coat of brown and henna mixed Rodier material, and a flame colored velvet evening coat, both rating the same set of collar and cuffs!

Of course, you're reading the weekly Dare fashion letter. It appears in the Capital exclusively in The Washington Post.

Au revoir.

What Today Means to You

"CAPRICORN."

IF January 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Only self-control will prevent "moods" and temper on this date, as heavy and disturbing influences will affect your mental equilibrium. Avoid quarrels by all means! "Four things come not back: the spoken word, the speed arrow, the past life, the neglected opportunity."

Children born on this January 10 will have generous dispositions, and they will freely give of both self and possessions. They will have strong business instincts, and they will have the outstanding qualifications for leadership. They should be trained for some profession.

You have two qualities which inure to your own benefit, and which endear you so much to those who know you—they are your constancy and loyalty. Your likes and dislikes are strong and decided, but they do not change with the weather. You stick to friends through thick and thin, and you do not desert old ones for the new.

Your life is ruled jointly by your head and your heart. Your head keeps you from becoming emotionally foolish and your heart keeps you from becoming an intellectual refrigerator. You are cool-headed and warm-hearted. Under almost all conditions you are found to be sensible. You are not satisfied to remain on the side lines for long. Life to you is a battlefield and not a spectacle, and you wish to be in the whirl of things. You want to know all that life has to reveal—its ups and its downs, its good and its bad. You are willing to put a lot into life, and you expect to get a lot out of it. There is not a lazy hair in your head, and you thoroughly enjoy "digging" into things. Both men and women born on a January 10 make faithful and devoted lovers.

Successful people born January 10:

1—Ethan Allen, Revolutionary soldier.

2—Julien Dubuque, pioneer of Iowa; Julien and Dubuque, Iowa, were named after him.

3—Louisa Lane Drew, actress.

4—John T. Hoffman, lawyer and politician.

5—Reed Smoot, senator.

6—Howard Chandler Christy, illustrator.

HELPED AT CHANGE OF LIFE

MRS. CORA CALAHAN
218 E. Ashton Ave., Grand Island, Nebr.

"I am going through the Change of Life. At times I would cry for hours. I got tired of going to the doctor so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken the first bottle I began to get better. I have taken eight bottles now. I feel that it has saved my life, also doctor's bills. I work for a family of six, washing, cooking and do all my own work. People say I look like 25."—Mrs. Cora Calahan.

MRS. F. C. HELMING
822 E. Harrison St., Portland, Ore.

"Lydia E. Pinkham did for me what doctors failed to do. When the Change of Life began I was very poorly. Now at 55 I do all my own work, attend two dances a week and it is hard to make people believe I am over 40. I never see a woman in ill health but I advocate your medicine because I know its value. Every woman should take it, not just for a month or two but until they have passed the critical period."—Mrs. F. C. Helming.

BOARD WOMEN HEAR PAN-AMERICAN HEAD

Dr. Rowe Praises Program to Bring Friendly Relations With Southern Neighbors.

RECEPTION MARKS DAY

Dr. L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union, praised the program for the furtherance of friendly relations between women of the United States and the women of Central and South America at the evening session of the midwinter board meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the national headquarters last night. This program has been widely circulated and copies of it have been sent to the women of Pan-America and foreign clubs as well.

Yesterday afternoon was "play afternoon," the chief feature being the reception given at the Mayflower by Mrs. Louise M. Dodson, of the Republican national committee, when Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the General Federation; Mrs. E. A. Harriman, president of the District of Columbia League of Republican Women, and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President of the United States, received with the hostesses. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Sippel and members of the board were guests at tea of Mrs. Virginia White Speel, director of the District of Columbia. Mrs. Edgar C. Merritt, president of the District of Columbia Federation of Clubs and other District officers and past presidents assisted Mrs. Speel.

Education Report Heard.

Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, chairman of the Department of Education, made her report in the morning and the reports of the chairmen of the committees under her department were also heard.

Dr. Reinhardt said that through the committee on illiteracy of which Mrs. Grant Beebe, of Chicago, is chairman, the General Federation has taken an active part in the Nation-wide effort to rid the country of illiteracy before the taking of the 1930 census.

The reintroduction of the bill in favor of the establishment of a National University is one of the objects of the Department of Education, Dr. Reinhardt said. The bill died at the close of the seventieth Congress March 4, 1929, and it was not reintroduced in the special session.

Art Activity Recited.

The art division is assisting with the development of the Latin-American program, Mrs. Howard Green, chairman of the division of fine arts, said. The General Federation is cooperating with the art division chairmen of Latin-American clubs in establishing such work in the various Pan-American countries.

Mrs. Green has been invited to speak at organization meetings of art divisions in Panama and other Central and South American countries and she will sail at the conclusion of the board meeting for Panama. She announced that in addition to prizes already made public in the art contest, Prof. Cox, head ceramic engineer of Iowa State College, will arrange to have his pupils make a beautiful piece of pottery with the name of the winning art chairman worked out on it. The prizes will be presented at an "art luncheon" during the biennial convention in Denver in June.

The motion-picture committee's work was outlined by Mrs. Ambrose H. Diehl, chairman of the division of motion pictures. Mrs. Diehl announced the acceptance of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs on the studio relations committee of the Producers Association.

Scenery Slogan Adopted.

"Favor the Firms Which Favor the Scenery," is the slogan of the committee on rural and highway advertising, Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman, said in her report.

Other reports were given yesterday morning by Miss Vella Winner, editor of the General Federation News; Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, chairman of the General Federation news committee, and Mrs. William R. Alvord, chairman of press and publicity.

Last night after the address of Dr. Rowe, a concert was given by the Bernheimer Trio, composed of Jonas Bernheimer, pianist; Miss Elizabeth Bernheimer, violinist, and Miss Louise Bernheimer, cellist.

The session will close tonight with an address by Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, of Florida, and a musical program by Clay Coss, pianist.

This afternoon, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, will be the chief speaeker. He will tell of the White House conference on child welfare. Mrs. Joseph Lindon Smith will report on the various bills and activities of the General Federation in relation to the American Indian.

Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational Church; W. Hayes Yeager, professor of public speaking at George Washington University, and Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, president of the United Hebrew Relief Society, will deliver campaign speeches at a meeting of Chest workers at 1 o'clock today in the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting is a part of a program of campaign speeches, which is being directed by William C. Sullivan.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

A PARISIAN sports frock that shows smart practicality in cocoa brown flecked wool jersey, so appropriate for classroom, travel or sports.

The unusual cut of the bodice makes it so individual. The hipband has inserted pockets at front. It shows smart preference for seaming in deep V front and deep round yoke effect at back that does much toward breaking the width. Long sleeves have zigzag diagonal trimming braid to affect deep cuffs.

The low placed, all-around box-plaits of skirt are stitched part way to keep line trim and slender, and hang smartly straight, only to flare when wearer moves.

Style No. 8244 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. In the medium size, 3¾ yards of 39-inch material is sufficient, with ¼ yard of 27-inch contrasting for bow tie that slips through bound openings at front.

Featherweight tweed in bottle green tones is sportive, with the tie of matching grosgrain ribbon.

Hunter's green wool jersey, knitted jersey weave in yellow-beige and brown, black suede finished broadcloth, dark brown wool crepe, deep maroon red flat silk crepe, and plum shade in crepe satin with dull side of crepe used for round back yoke, deep V front section, hipband and tie are delightful combinations.

STOCK PRICES RISE DURING ACTIVE DAY

Utilities and Steels Head Advance, Which Proves to Be General.

COMMODITIES ARE FIRM

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The stock market gave the best account of itself so far this week today. Share prices advanced along a broad front, and trading quickened moderately. Shares traded totaled 2,397,330, compared to yesterday's turnover of 1,638,830, the lowest in seventeen months.

On the whole, however, the market remained a merely trading affair. Gains were mostly limited to 1 to 3 points, although there were a few isolated advances of 5 to nearly 15 points. Much of the advance appeared to be a prodding of the bear crowd, whose efforts during recent sessions have met with flat failure.

Credit remained plentiful, but rumors of reductions in the Bank of England and New York Federal Reserve rates failed to bear fruit. Foreign exchanges stiffened, and bankers were inclued to interpret the Bank of England's retention of its 5 per cent rate as indicating a desire to strengthen its gold position further. For the moment, however, exchange rates on New York are substantially below outgoing gold points.

Brokers' Loans Decline $72,000,000.

The Federal Reserve weekly brokers' loan figures showed a decline of $72,000,000, reducing the total to $3,352,000,000, or within $34,000,000 of the low of the movement reached in the week ended December 24. One compilation indicated a slight return of funds to this center which were withdrawn for year-end window dressing. New York banks were able to reduce their loans by a total of $281,000,000, as out-of-town banks increased loans by $115,000,000, and "others" by $94,000,000.

The Federal Reserve condition statements disclosed a sharp retraction of the reserve credit which had been put out to stabilize conditions over the holidays and the year-end. Total holdings of bills and securities for the entire system declined $163,000,000, and reserve notes in circulation, $73,000,000.

Call money again dropped to 4 per cent, after renewals at 4½. Time money showed an easier undertone, and commercial paper was distinctly easier, quoted at 4¾ to 5¼, compared to 5 to 5½ yesterday.

Business News Is Favorable.

Such business news as came to hand was fairly favorable. Woolworth reported a gain of more than 16 per cent in sales for the first week of the year. General Electric's sales report indicated that the market crash had little effect on buying during the last quarter of 1929, results of which were 23 per cent ahead of the like period of 1928, while the results for the entire year were 28 per cent over 1928.

Utilities and steels were prominent in the day's advance. U. S. Steel, which had been sluggish for several days, rose 3 points. American Can, American Telephone, American Water Works, J. I. Case, Columbia Gas, Colorado Fuel & Iron, Consolidated Gas, General American Tank, General Electric, Gold Dust, Gillette, North American, Pullman, Republic Steel, Simmons, Standard Gas, and Stone & Webster were among issues closing 2 to 4 points higher.

Pennsylvania Rail Rallies.

A large turnover and a moderate rally in Pennsylvania featured the rails. The stock closed at 74 1-4, up 1 3-8; Byers, Westinghouse Electric and Macy rose about 5 points, and Western Union nearly 15. A conspicuous weak spot was Hollander & Son, which dropped 7 points to a new low at 7.

Commodity markets were steady to firm. Cotton futures shot up about $1.50 a bale, in anticipation of the start of operations by the Central Cooperative Organization next week, and firm Liverpool cables. Wheat gained slightly on reports of severe weather over the winter crop area, while corn mounted nearly 2 cents a bushel.

Sterling cables rose 5-32 to $4.87 5-16 on announcement of retention of the London bank rate, but later sagged to $4.87 1-16. The French franc also turned upward, then reacted, ending the day slightly lower at 3.93 1-16 for cables.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—With the export basis for United States wheat at relatively the highest point yet this season, the Chicago wheat market tilted upward late today. Earlier, a downward trend in values prevailed owing a good deal to assertions that Argentine wheat for February shipment was underselling United States wheat in Great Britain. Besides, heavy snow falls over domestic winter wheat territory, together with sharp setbacks in wheat quotations at Liverpool, were a handicap to friends of higher prices here.

Chicago closing prices for wheat were nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ higher. Corn closed ⅝@⅞ to 1c up. Oats ⅜@⅞ to ½@⅝ advanced, and provisions showing 2 to 7@10c gain.

Stimulating wheat price upturns today toward the last was the fact that the trade basis for domestic wheat exports at the Gulf of Mexico was firmer. No. 1 hard wheat being quoted 4½ a bushel over the price of May delivery. No. 2 hard was ½ to ¾ over May, and in the case of both grades the basis overtopped the season's best figures heretofore reached for spot cash delivery of wheat, as compared with deliveries in May. Confronting this circumstance, previous speculative sellers here turned rather unanimously to the buying side of the market here as the day drew to an end.

According to some close observers, export business in North American wheat gives signs of being larger than is generally admitted. Intimations were current that European purchases of United States and Canadian wheat today totaled a moderate volume, but no definite estimates could be obtained. On the other hand, advices from abroad pointed to a disposition in some quarters to reduce forecasts of the wheat import needs of Europe. Argentine shipments of wheat for the week totaled 2,389,000 bushels against 1,503,000 bushels the week previous, and 4,964,000 bushels at this time last year.

Widespread deep snows, with a promise of additions tonight and tomorrow, although relieving apprehension about crop damage to domestic winter wheat did much also to put a stop to movement of corn. This fact tended to moist corn values, and the corn market was also responsive to an official report showing that the amount of corn harvested as grain in 1929 was the smallest since 1924. Oats sympathized with the action of corn.

Provisions averaged higher, accompanying upturns in the value of hogs.

CARRIERS' ADVANCES MARK BONDS' SALES

Traders Believe Quiet Day Is Forecast of Easier Money Rates.

INDUSTRIALS ARE DULL

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Another advance in the rails, carrying numerous issues to and above their 1929 highs, gave the bond list a strong appearance today. Some of the advances, however, failed to hold to the close, although net changes proved to be generally on the upside.

Interest charges remained at yesterday's levels, there was light inquiry for the loans at 4½ per cent, but most of the business done was at 4¾. The market suffered from dullness which dealers were inclined to interpret as a forecast of easier rates. Some bond experts believe that prices of high grade securities have gone as far as might be currently expected and that a further important advance must await cheaper money. Those anticipating such a development point out that gold shipments have abated at least for the present and that the underlying credit situation is favorable.

1929 Peaks Reached.

The rise in investment rails since the first of the year has carried the average for that group more than half a point higher. As a result, many obligations are within less than a point of their 1929 peaks, and each day of strengthening prices will see several of last year's records broken. Central of Georgia 5½s, Big Four 5s series D, Great Northern 4½s and Wabash "B" 5s squeezed beyond those highs today and numerous others equaled the 1929 tops. The average for ten representative rails at the close was 105.8 compared with the 1929 high of 106.

A feature of the day's trading was the unusually heavy turnover in American Telephone debenture 5s. This utility moved in normal volume during most of the day at around 104, its opening price, but at the close the price was hammered down to 102. The final quotation was 102¼, a net loss of 1¾, and the volume totaled $470,000, principal amount. The same company's convertible 4½s, which had been idling for several days, showed a gain of about $400,000 over yesterday's turnover as the stock advanced and the debenture closed up 1¼.

A decline of 1⅜ in Laclede Gas 5½s and small fractional losses in a few other utilities were more than offset by advances of about half a point in nearly a dozen other issues.

Interest in the rails was distributed widely. Burlington 5s and general 4s, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul general 3½s, Missouri, Kansas & Texas first 4s, Southern Pacific 4½s and Union Pacific 4s rallied about ½ to more than a point, and a few larger rises appeared. There was a slightly easier tone toward the close, however, and small net losses were sprinkled through the group.

Industrials moved narrowly and were dull. National Radiator 6½s rose 5 points to 30.

Convertibles closed irregular. International Telephone 4½s and Missouri Pacific 5½s rose 1¼ and ½, respectively. Atchison 4s and Allegheny 5s eased.

Changes in the United States Governments were mostly on the upside, averaging about ¼ of a point, but the group attracted little attention. Foreign bonds held steady.

$35,088,000 Issue by C. & O.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway received authority from the Interstate Commerce Commission for the road's proposed $35,088,000 issue of 4½ per cent mortgage bonds, the proceeds to be used largely for meeting maturities.

The First National Bank of Boston has bought a $30,000,000 issue of 5 per cent three-year notes of the Edison Electric Illuminating Co., of that city. The company's note maturities between January 30 and April 30 total $23,000,0000 and part of the proceeds of the new issue will be used for these retirements.

Curb Review

New York, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Efforts of speculators for the advance to revive bullish enthusiasm by starting buying demonstrations in a varied assortment of issues met with partial success in today's curb market. Trading increased on the rally with the public utilities, many of which harbor a large short interest, in the forefront of the advance.

While the rally was not directly associated with any development in the day's news, the recent inability of "bear" operators to dislodge any large volume of stock in their sporadic attacks, coupled with the recent easing of money rates and the reported upturn in steel mill activity, probably inspired a resumption of pool operations. A few soft spots cropped out here and there, but most of them were confined to relatively obscure issues.

Electric Bond & Share again crossed 85 for a gain of more than 2 points, and closed at the top. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore was marked up 1½ points, American & Foreign Power warrants 3 and Brazilian Traction, Hydro Electric, Associated Gas & Electric A and Utilities Light & Power A were among the many power and light issues to close a point or more higher.

International Cigar Machinery and Tubize Artificial Silk, which ordinarily change hands in 10-share lots, jumped about 9 points each. United Porto Rican Sugar 7 and Deere & Co. 5. Quaker Oats preferred dropped 9½ points on a few sales. Automotive issues were sluggish, Ford of Canada B dropping 9½ points on a few sales. Aviation shares showed little change.

A brisk demand for Indian Territory Oil, controlled by Cities Service, which advanced 3⅝ points to 30, was the only development of consequence in the oil group. Most of the other petroleum shares showed fractional changes, Standard Oil of Indiana being among those to lose ground.

Investment trust and trading corporation shares showed mixed changes. Vick Financial declined fractionally to 9 despite the publication of a report showing a break-up value of $9.62. American Equities advanced nearly 2 points and a good demand was apparent for the tri-continental issues.

Federal Reserve Report.

Brokers' loans for the week ended January 8, as presented in the Federal Reserve Board's statement of condition of weekly reporting member banks in central reserve cities, show a total of $3,352,000,000.

Formation of a securities affiliate known as the Baltimore Co. has been announced by the Baltimore Trust Co. It has a capital and surplus of $5,000,000 and will do a general investment business — underwriting, wholesaling and retailing securities. The new company is owned by stockholders of the Baltimore Trust Co., while all its officers and directors are connected with that institution. Donald Symington, president of the bank, is also president of the Baltimore Co., while Iredell W. Iglehart and Henry B. Thomas, jr., vice president, will have active direction of its management. The company's offices will be on the floor of the bank.

Founded in 1882, the Baltimore Trust Co. has long been an important factor in the financial life of the South. In March of last year it merged with the National Union Bank of Maryland, and in November with the Century Trust Co., making it the first $100,000,000 bank in Baltimore. It has 20 branches, while its main office occupies the first four floors of its new 34-story building on Baltimore street, the highest in the city.

District Exchange Data.

Business receded at yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange, bond sales volume of $2,400 representing a $5,700 decline, and stock transfers of 76 shares, a recession of 153 from the prior session. Capital Traction Co. again led the market, 49 shares changing hands at 77½, a half-point rise.

An excellent business year has enabled the directors of the Columbia National Bank to transfer from undivided profits to surplus account $100,000, which now gives the institution $250,000 capital, $500,000 surplus and $96,000 undivided profits. The announcement yesterday states that so far as is known the Columbia becomes the only national bank in Washington with a surplus double its capital, and one of the few local banks of all classes having such a record.

Last year the bank moved into its renovated, enlarged and attractive quarters at 911 F street northwest. Frank J. Stryker is president of the institution.

Many Mergers Last Year.

"When the economic history of the United States is written," states the weekly bulletin of the Washington office of Ernst & Ernst, "the year 1929 will certainly appear as a spectacular period of corporation mergers, particularly the first nine months, before the collapse of the stock market.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TO MEET NAVY IN FOOTBALL

SCOTT IDEAL CHOICE AS FALL GUY

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—There is considerable indignation here over the invitation extended to Fainting Phil Scott, the English or horizontal heavyweight prize fighter, to dance with Jack Sharkey, the leering Lithuanian of Boston, in the principal polka of the Garden Corporation's winter production in Miami next month.

The feeling among the members of the profession is that the Garden Corporation has discriminated against a number of other more deserving young men, and I am inclined to believe that this is the case, but somehow, on your correspondent's part there is no indignation but a sense that the heavyweight championship is again being decided strictly according to traditional routine.

Heavyweight champions never do rise to the rank and perquisites of the title by dealing the best of their contemporaries, and now that the title has become a business asset of an estimated worth of $2,000,000 and the allied racketeering industry has shown such rare business precocity, it is practically impossible for a young pugilist to succeed on his merits as a prize fighter. Instead, he must rely on the political acumen of his manager and the latter's alertness to make the most of momentary situations in the affairs of the firm which conducts these events.

Championship Is

House Title.

The heavyweight championship has been a house title of the Tex Rickard and the Madison Square Garden Corporation ever since 1919 when Jess Willard became so fatigued that he resigned it to Jack Dempsey in Toledo. Only once since that date has a heavyweight championship prize fight been conducted by any other interest. That one was the affair of Dempsey and Tom Gibbons in Shelby, Mont. Most of the time since Dempsey won the championship most of the heavyweights of any prominence whatever, have been in a manner of speaking, house employes of the Garden firm and the pairings and cross pairings have been arranged, as in the present instance of Sharkey and Fainting Phil Scott so as to maintain the prestige of the leading employe until such time as other employes can be invested with a prestige of similar power.

There may seem to be a slight departure from this routine in the present instance as Max Schmeling, the German, has been selected to fight Sharkey for the championship next summer, possibly in Chicago, and Schmeling to all outward appearances is on unfriendly terms with the Garden Corporation.

Strictly a Mock

Quarrel.

It should be understood, however, that this apparent maladjustment between the German athlete and the Garden directors is strictly a mock quarrel and that when the time comes for the arrangement of the summer meeting there will be a scene of reconciliation, showing Schmeling and his manager, Joseph (Chisel) Jacobs, and Mr. Will Carey, Tex Rickard's successor, with their arms entwined and a good song ringing loud, if not clear as flashlights boom and the fellows from the afternoon papers yell into the phones, "Hello; sport desk? Le'r roll.' They've signed."

The purpose of the winter prize fight in Miami is to fill the Miami stadium with customers and earn the rent, insurance and taxes and a fair profit on the investment and in order to exhibit Sharkey without risking that prestige which has been cultivated for him it was necessary to select an accompanist who would offer the least resistance.

For this purpose, Fainting Phil Scott was admirably qualified on his previous showings in the U. S. A. He had executed six or seven swoons in a great variety of movements, ranging from the simple jack-knife dive to the intricate backward spiral in the course of a single round with Knute Hansen, the melancholy Dane of Kenosha, Wis.; he had run away with a large, lumbering novice named Victorio Campo in a ten-round pursuit race in Brooklyn and he had really outdone himself in a final spectacular leap to the resin in the second round of a mild affair with Otto Von Porat, claiming foul.

Has Yet to Deliver

A Punch in U. S.

He has yet to deliver his first punch in the ring in the United States, his repertoire up to now having consisted of timid left jabs delivered as if in fear of reprisals, and on the whole there is no other athlete with Fainting Philip's admirable qualifications for the work to be done in Miami.

The situation required the exercise of extreme care, for Sharkey has not been what the horse people would call a thoroughbred, fighting very impressively one night and very poorly the next time, and there is always a chance that he will make

Von Porat 7-5 Choice Over Paulino

Garden Wants No Knockout Blow in Match Tonight.

Uzcudun Will Make Debut Under Gibson Management.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—A couple of top flight gladiators, neither fighting for the right to face Jack Sharkey in Miami, will have the heavyweight situation at their mercies for ten rounds in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The pair are Otto Von Porat, belting Norwegian from Chicago, and Paulino Uzcudun, the Basque woodchopper, who is fraying a bit around the edges from constant warfare with leaders of the division. Von Porat is a 7 to 5 choice to win and even is favored by a few to score a knock-out.

A wild smash that floors anybody but the referee will lift the Garden potentates from their chairs, but not in admiration. With Phil Scott already signed to battle the Boston sailorman in the Southern resort February 27, a knock-out by any leading heavyweight at this stage of the game can do the Garden nothing but harm.

Scott Won Match

On Foul.

The delicate Englishman won the right to meet Sharkey by defeating Von Porat on a foul last month. The low blow, subject of considerable controversy since that night, came at a point in the contest when few of the ringsiders thought Scott could continue to ward off the potent smashes of the belligerent Norwegian.

Von Porat's revenge can come tomorrow night through a knockout of the durable Spaniard who boasts a previous decision over the Englishman. Uzcudun, making his debut under the management of Billy Gibson, former pilot of Gene Tunney, has never been knocked out. He has been floored in an American ring only by Lou Magnolia, the referee, who dumped Paulino with a left hook in Brooklyn one night after the Spaniard had fouled Big Boy Peterson.

Gallagher and Grosso In Third Fight Tonight

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 9.—Reported to be in better condition and a more polished fighter than at any time in his career, Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweight, is scheduled to meet Johnny Grosso for the third time in the 10-round semifinal of the program at the Madison Square Garden in New York tomorrow night as the chief supplementary attraction to the Von Porat-Paulina heavyweight bout.

Reports from Boston state that Marty has trained most religiously for this third meeting with the New Yorker. In his previous clashes with Grosso, Marty has been the victim on each occasion, being outpointed at Miami last winter and decisively beaten but not knocked out at Baltimore a few months later.

Danny Carroll, the Boston manager, who recently took Marty under his guidance, says he has made a new scrapper out of the Washington boy Plenty of road work and hard work has made the former Foggy Bottom plumber much speedier and cleverer on his feet.

Tech Active Tonight: 4 Prep Quintets Play

Tech High's Basket Ball Team, the only one of the high schools not scheduled for interhigh competition today, will swing into action tonight when it meets the Catholic University Freshmen Five as a preliminary to the C. U. Varsity-Villanova game in the Brookland Gym. The Cardinal yearlings have already scored over three high teams, counting Eastern, Central and Business among their victims.

Four prep teams will also engage in games with one of the quartet making its season debut on the court. Devitt Prep's Five will tackle the Hyattsville High in its opener at Hyattsville. In the other games, Woodward will meet St. Alban at the Y. M. C. A., Landon will visit Charlotte Hall for a clash with the cadets and Emerson will invade Annapolis to brush up against the Junior Varsity quintet of St. John's College.

SEEKS UNLIMITED FOES.

The newly organized Kennedy court team wants games with unlimited fives. Call Georgia 1169 between 5 and 7 p. m.

2 Notre Dame Stars Named Assistant G. U. Grid Coaches

Moynihan and Colrick of 1929 Eleven Selected by Mills.

Will Take Charge of Linemen and Ends at Hilltop.

Special to The Washington Post.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 9.—Tim Moynihan and John Colrick, stars of the undefeated Notre Dame Football Team of the recent campaign, have been named by Tom Mills, recently appointed head football coach at Georgetown University, as his assistants at the Hilltop. Moynihan was regarded as one of the best centers in the country the past fall, and Colrick was almost as prominent as one of the country's most capable ends.

The selection of the two Notre Dame stars as his assistants at Georgetown was made by Mills last night but was not announced until today. Colrick will graduate from Notre Dame the last of this month and will accompany Mills to Washington on February 1. Moynihan will receive his degree in June and will report at Georgetown immediately afterward, although his duties will not begin until the 1930 training season gets under way.

Moynihan Hurt Before

Army Game.

Moynihan, who with John Law and Jack Cannon, comprised what critics termed the greatest center wall in college football the past season, suffered a broken leg before the Army game and was unable to play in the final game of the season. Next to Ben Ticknor, of Harvard, Moynihan was most often mentioned by experts for all-American honors.

Colrick was a three-letter man at Notre Dame, playing four years of football in addition to winning honors on the basket ball court and diamond. He started his athletic career at St. Benedict's Prep School. Moynihan is a graduate of Rawlings High School, Rawlings, Wyo.

It is understood that Moynihan will succeed John Da Grossa as line coach at the Hilltop and Colrick will succeed Herb Kopf as end mentor. Mills plans to direct the backs in particular and the entire squad in general.

Mills and Colrick to Coach Baseball.

As both Mills and Colrick are well versed in baseball, they are expected to take over the diamond team this spring.

In naming his two chief assistants, Mills did not say whether any additional coaches will be added to the staff before the fall program gets under way. He and Colrick will supervise the spring practice soon after the new director takes charge.

Mills was especially pleased to secure the services of Moynihan as assistant at Georgetown. Reports had been current here for some time that the big center would accept an offer proffered by a West Coast university.

Skinker Eagles Play Baltimoreans Sunday

The Skinker Eagles will be out to gain the edge over Baltimore fives for the season Sunday when the Snyder Athletic Association Team will be met in the Eagles' new home at the Silver Spring Gymnasium. In two appearances against Monumental City opposition, the Eagles have split even, winning over the Baltimore Professionals and dropping a close decision to the West Arlington Team. The Eagles have been drilling to familiarize themselves with the armory floor as well as to perfect their plays. They gave a good demonstration in turning back the R. E. Knight Five, of Alexandria.

A preliminary, which promises to rival the main attraction for good basket ball, will bring the French's and Montrose Fives, old rivals, into action at 2 o'clock. The big game starts at 3 o'clock.

Woltz Five Seeking To Complete Schedule

The Woltz Photographers, last year's District A. A. U. champions, are anxious to arrange games with all leading unlimited fives in the city. the manager of the Army War College Team is requested to get in touch with Manager Fones at once in regard to a cancellation of Saturday night's game due to a mixup in their schedule. Fones may be reached at National 6740, branch 937, or Georgia 4716 after 6 p. m.

The Photographers have the use of Central High School Gym for Tuesday, January 21, and would like to arrange another game with the Mount Vernon Team. These two teams met in a previous engagement, the Woltzmen winning in the final minute of play, the score being 22 to 21. Manager Coe, of the Churchmen, is requested to call Fones.

TIM MOYNIHAN.

JOHN COBRICK.

Great Shires, Cleared, to Retire

Acquitted of Fixing Criss Bout by Michigan Body.

Manager Suspended; Boston Fight Tomorrow Is Last.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The Michigan State Boxing Commission today exonerated Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires in connection with charges that an attempt had been made to fix a fight recently scheduled in Detroit with Battling Criss.

Nesse Blumenthal, Shires' manager; Benny Ray, Detroit promoter, and Scotty Strachen, Detroit fight manager, were suspended by the commission pending a further inquiry. It was agreed that testimony relative to the charge that plans had been made to guarantee that Shires would be the victor in the fight with Criss must be transcribed and the commission given a further opportunity to go into the details. It was said that if an investigation warrants, the information may be turned over to prosecuting officers.

The commission decided that should future evidence reveal any connection with the alleged fixing on Shires' part, he will be recalled for another hearing.

The ruling of the commission is effective in the 32 States in the National Boxing Association.

A statement by Shires that he will fight no more after an engagement in Boston, Friday night, was accepted by the commission as binding

Has Earned $8,000

For Four Battles.

Chicago, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Since becoming a professional fist fighter just a month ago today, Charles Arthur "The Great" Shires has earned exactly $8,000 in four engagements, $2,900 more than he got for playing first base for the Chicago White Sox all last season.

The great man got the $8,000 in the short period of 30 days, compared to five months of baseball playing for $5,100; Shires' contract with the White Sox called for $8,500, but fines plastered on him ate up more than $3,000.

Shires expects to increase his ring earnings to more than $10,000 by meeting Al Spohrer, catcher for the Braves, in Boston tomorrow night.

Spears Not to Accept Oregon Post, He Says

Minneapolis, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Minnesota football coach, today denied he would accept a position as head football coach at the University of Oregon. He contradicted reports that he had conferred with Oregon athletic officials there Monday regarding the position.

Jordan, Denton Win In Billiard Tourney

New York, Jan. 9 A.P.).—Charles Jordan, of Los Angeles, defeated Harry Schuler, of New York, 50 to 38, in 65 innings of the national three-cushion billiard championship today. It was Jordan's first victory in seven starts. Schuler lost all seven of his tournament matches.

Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, went into a tie for fifth place, defeating Gus Cupulos, of Detroit, 50 to 41, in 50 innings. Denton and Cupolos have each won three and lost the same number. Denton had a high run of 6, while Cupolos' best cluster was 8.

Benny Bass Signs to Box In Chicago on Jan. 31

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Nate Lewis, matchmaker of the Chicago Stadium, announced today that he had signed Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, to an agreement to defend his title here January 31.

Bass won the title with his much-discussed knockout of Tod Morgan in New York recently, and his manager, Phil Glassman, said he was ready to take on all comers as fast as they come to prove that his fighter merits the title.

It was thought probable that Tony Canzoneri will be Bass' opponent on January 31. Bud Taylor also was mentioned.

Duke Defeats Maryland U. Five, 28-27

4 Capital Youths Aid Carolina Team to Win Thriller.

Duke, Always Ahead, Staves Off Rally of Old Liners.

A DUKE UNIVERSITY basket ball team with four Washington youths in the line-up disported at College Park last night and defeated a University of Maryland Five which was made up of several former teammates and old foes of the Duke players. Although the Maryland quintet rallied in the late stages of the game, it was unable to even the count and was forced to leave the floor with a 28-27 imprinted on its collective features.

Starting out in the first few minutes of play, the visitors broke the ice with several baskets in quick succession, after which they were never headed. Harry Councillor, Joe Croson and Bill Werber, erstwhile Tech High School stars, led the Blue Devils' assault and at half time Duke was boasting of a 12-9 lead. Croson proved the high scorer of the night with 9 points to his credit.

Maryland came back strong in the second twenty minutes of play, however, and outscored their foes. Coach Shipley's men were unable to overcome that 3-point advantage at any time, however, and were never inside of that margin until the very end of the game. Then, with less than two minutes to play, a flurry of Old Line baskets shoved the home gang within one point of the visiting combination. The remaining seconds, however, were fruitless to Maryland, during which time nary a point was scored.

The insertion of Don Garber, former Western High athlete, into the game gave the Duke line-up its fourth Washington boy. Gaylor, home forward, led the attack for his team with seven points, while Rankin added six to the Terrapin total.

One more field goal was registered by Maryland in the second half than Duke was able to make, but the Terrapins failed to tie the score by one point.

W. & M. FIVE TO OPPOSE TIGERS

Plays Hampden-Sidney Saturday in 1st Conference Test.

Special to The Washington Post.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Jan. 9.—William and Mary opens its campaign for State basket ball honors by meeting Hampden-Sidney College Saturday on the Tigers' court. This is the Indians' first Virginia Conference game, and it is also their opportunity to get into the running for the State title.

Saturday's encounter is the opening game of Hampden-Sidney's schedule, while it is William and Mary's sixth game. This early start of the Indians should give them an andvantage over their Death Valey opponents.

In its five starts the Indian Quintet has won two and lost three engagements. A strong alumni five and the University of Delaware fell before the Indians' attack by large scores; while Maryland, Navy and Princeton scored victories in closely-contested games on the team's Northern trip before the Christmas holidays. Maryland won 27-23; Navy, 30-19, and Princeton, 25-20.

Coach Keilison, in order to get his team back in shape after their two weeks' lay-off, has held strenuous workouts all week. Long scirmmages followed by laps around the indoor track have been the daily assignments. Emphasis has also been placed upon foul shooting by the Indian mentor; as the inability of the team to register three throws was largely responsible for two of its three early defeats.

Silverman and Sauerbrun will probably start in the forward positions Saturday, although F. Mozeleski and Sykes, from the 1929 frosh team, have been pushing the varsity forwards hard for berths and may break into the starting line-up. McMenamin, whose work in the pivot position was outstanding on the Northern trip, will start in center; and Capt. M. Mozeleski and Light will hold down the defence positions. Scully and Schaeffer will be held in reserve.

Annual Thanksgiving Game With Cardinals Abandoned.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY will play the Naval Academy in football next fall, it was authoritatively learned by The Post yesterday. The game will be played at Annapolis on November 29.

Coincident with the scheduling of the Navy game, George Washington has shifted the date of its annual game with Catholic University, which since 1920 has been a Thanksgiving Day feature of the local football season. This game has been moved to earlier in the season and will take place on November 22, which was an open date on the schedules of both institutions.

George Washington was able to schedule Navy only by grace of the consent of Catholic University to abandon the Thanksgiving Day contest for next fall, inasmuch as the holiday engagement of the two schools long has been accepted as a permanent feature of their schedules. George Washington could not attempt to meet the Cardinals on Thanksgiving Day and the Navy two days later, thus requesting the shift in dates, which was agreed to by Catholic U.

Marks Big Stride

By Pixlee.

Thus in his first season as director of athletics and head football coach at George Washington, ames E. Pixlee has obtained for the Colonials one of the choicest football opponents in the Nation. Scheduling of the game late in December is a further tribute to the Colonials, who are not being regarded as an early-season opponent.

George Washington will be meeting Navy next fall in the first foot ball clash between the two in the history of the institutions. The game is the outgrowth of the efforts of Pixlee to elevate George Washington athletically and received its first impetus last month at the annual foot ball dinner of the Colonial squad at which "Navy Bill" Ingram, Annapolis head coach, expressed the hope that Navy and George Washington might soon meet on the foot ball field.

The game next fall is believed to be the forerunner of a series between George Washington and Navy with the possibility of a game between the two in Washington in 1931 or 1932 held very great.

That Navy will not regard the George Washington game lightly is indicated by the choice date given the Colonials and also by the fact

DRESSING NICELY SOMETIMES HAS A PSYCHOLOGICAL EFFECT

Is it your experience that the way a golfer dresses has anything to do with his playing?

Yes. Insofar as dressing for comfort is concerned, dress has quite a little to do with play. Comfort allows freedom and creates naturalness. Being dressed nicely also has a psychological effect on some individuals and should be given some consideration.

36 of 42 Leading Amateurs Favor Open Tennis Tourney

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—National open tennis championships, as proposed by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, are favored by a substantial majority of the top-ranking amateur players of the country.

The results of an official questionnaire, made public today in the magazine Tennis, showed 36 out of 42 replies in favor of establishing a new title tournament, open to amateurs and professionals alike. All 36 expressed willingness to compete. Five replies were noncommittal and only one negative.

The list of those indorsing the open championship plan includes George Lott and Wilmer Allison, members of the 1929 Davis Cup Team; Berkeley Bell, intercollegiate champion, and Richard N. Williams, former national champion and former Davis Cup captain.

Williams not only expressed the belief that it "would be a very definite step forward," but said he could be counted upon as a competitor.

The replies indicated a sharp division of opinion as to whether an open tournament should be held before or after the national amateur turf court championships, ordinarily played the second week in September.

WESTERN HIGH SCHOOL, considered by many to be the joint chief contender with Business for the interhigh court title, will make its debut in the 1930 series today when it clashes with Eastern High's array of courtmen in the second game of a twin bill at the Tech High Gymnasium.

Central and Business, winners of the inaugural games last Tuesday, will fight it out for the leadership of the league in the first game of the afternoon, listed to get under way some time about 3:30 o'clock.

With three of the crack five which last year finished but one game behind the championship Tech Team again ready for duty, Western's followers will trek to the McKinley School today, ready to see their team get off to a flying start in what they hope will be a most successful campaign. Both forwards and the center of the Red and White are boasting experience from the '29 season.

Capt. Jimmy Thompson and Bob Freeman, all-high choices for forward and center, respectively, and Everett Buscher, another forward, constitute the trio of vets who will lead the Western's colors into the thick of the fight today. For the two remaining positions, Coach Moore has picked Milton Chatlen and Paul Sherborne, who will start the game at the guard posts. Neither of the latter was on the regular team last year, but have been fitting in well with the general team play of the Western combination this season.

All High Stars to See Action.

In contrast to his method of Tuesday, Coach "Chief" Guyon has decided to play his regular team all the way against Western today and keep his "ponies" on the bench. For the first 15 minutes against Central, the Lincoln Park first stringers were holding the upper hand, but with the insertion of the Eastern lightweights, the Mount Pleasant Team forged into the lead. Guyon will take no chances, therefore, with his "ponies" today, a win over Western being essential if the Lincoln Park Team would remain in the race.

Accordingly, the combination of Capt. Ryan and Kane, forwards; Robey and Shirley, guards, and Noonan, center, will remain on the floor for Eastern throughout the battle, unless the contest turns into a rout, one way or the other. Kane and Ryan flashed especially brilliant form against Central and should be ready to step against the West End threat this afternoon.

Business and Central Line-ups Intact.

For the first "crucial" game of the year, deciding undisputed possession of first place for the time being, Coaches Coggins and Woodworth have decided to send into the fray the same line-ups which brought victories to their respective schools on Tuesday. Capt. Cross will lead a Centralite team also comprising Delisio, Rice, Lampson and Parkins against Capt. Newman, of Business, who will bring forth his quartet of Lucas, Loftus, Singman and Chase to retain the honor which they now hold.

The entire Central Team was granted a day of rest yesterday, not one of the regulars seeing action against the Maryland Freshmen, while the Business Quintet also idled yesterday after a strenuous game against Gonzaga the day before. Business has been playing bang-up ball all season long and occasioned no surprise by its win over Tech. On the other hand, Central's band of tossers have only recently stepped into the limelight with its brand of play, but at present is playing a high type of ball.

Each team possesses a pair of scoring threats with the duo of Chase and Lucas, of Business, slightly outshining Cross and Rice, of the Mount Pleasant aggregation. Chece has proven a tower of strength to his team all season, having outjumped every center whom it was his chance to oppose, while his continual "feeding" to teammates has accounted for many of the Stenog scoring chances. Lucas has proven wonderfully adept at slipping the ball through the cords

KADIAK broke slow, worked his way up and, taking lead on turn, drew out, but tired and just lasted. COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT F. COLLYER

OUT of the drifts. Look what the old man has pulled out of the snow-covered workout ledgers for today. It is a nonstarter, labeled BILL MORRIS, and the fastest thing on four feet. Now this trick goes for all the tea in China in the eye-opener down at the Fair Grounds this aft, and it looks like they will have to trip him up to beat him. Well, dat's dat.

Now in the big race, if by the same token you care to call it that, I am slipping you the good ULUNIU. This trick is about three races overdue and has had plenty of tighteners. Won't be any such price as 14 to 1 again but probably will win as far as I can throw a rock, and I might add in passing that I still have a pretty good arm. VIRADO, a sharp 4-year old, is the only one you need bother about and please don't worry your pretty head about him.

Then, in the fifth, RAUCONA seems absolutely thrown in with 100 pounds. She ought to beat the other shifty hides that have been asked to face the barrier in this event, just like breaking sticks.

On the other hand, the clean one, I anticipate slipping you more than the usual three at Havana this aft. SEA KALE should start you off right and then SCOTLAND GIRL is even a bit better, if that is possible.

In the third, OUR DOCTOR, which won its only start with ridiculous ease, is taken to spread eagle if you know what I mean.

And so on to GIDEON, STURDY STELLA and CROSS WORD. If I do say it myself I have been hotter than a fox down at Oriental Park and just simply can't help tooting my own horn.

G. W. TO PLAY NAVY ELEVEN NEXT FALL

that the George Washington freshmen, whom the Colonials next year will draw on heavily for varsity talent, defeated by three touchdowns last season the Navy B Squad, from which Navy will gain much of its varsity material in 1930.

The scheduling of the game places two colleges of the Washington group on the Navy list, Maryland University having previously been scheduled to oppose the Midshipmen at Annapolis. The game at Annapolis is the last of nine games listed by the Colonials and is the crowning feature of the most attractice schedule in the football history of George Washington, which with a Freshman team that lost only one game, is anticipating a banner year.

Among other games scheduled for next fall by George Washington, are South Dakota University, here; Tulsa University, at Tulsa, Okla.; Rutgers, at New Brunswick, N. J., and Dickinson, here.

PHIL SCOTT IDEAL FALL GUY CHOICE

one of his poor fights in an important setting and eliminating himself from the projected match with Schmeling. This would disarrange all plans for next summer. If he had been matched with Tuffy Griffiths, of Chicago, or Otto Von Porat, the Scandinavian who recently made Scott retire, claiming to have been painfully fouled, or with Campolo, or Carnera, there would have been too great an element of risk, and Fainting Philip seems to me an ideal selection.

FRANKLINU. WINS FROM EMERSON

45 Foul Shots Are Attempted as Preps Bow, 39-36.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S classy quintet staged a second-half rally last night to upset the Emerson Prep Tossers, 39-36, in a rough game at the Langley Junior High Gym. The Emerson team was in the van, 18-14, at intermission, but could not withstand Benjamin Franklin's determined attack in the late stages of the game.

The game was an extremely rough affair, a total of 45 fouls being called on the two teams. Emerson counted 14 times from the free-scoring mark, while the winners chalked up nine of their markers via this method. Buscher's 9 points from the 15-foot mark enabled him to lead the scorers with 15 points.

CAMPBELL SWEEPSTAKES TO DRAW RECORD FIELD

Best Bowlers Among 36 Entered

Friend and Harrison Favorites in Test Tomorrow.

Entries Expected to Swell for Clash of Pin Stars.

At least 36 outstanding bowlers of Washington and vicinity, the largest field ever to compete, is expected to start in the Howard Campbell sweepstakes at the Coliseum tomorrow night. Many newcomers to the blue ribbon bowling event are listed among those already in line. All entrants will not be known until the contestants take the drives tomorrow night. Entries do not close until that time.

Norman Schroth and Ken Thorp, members of the C. W. Smith and Cornell Lunch teams, are included among the newcomers. Schroth was among the first five in The Star singles tournament and has been a consistent performer in both the District and National Capital Leagues. Thorpe also finished well up in the Star tourney and is carrying a heavy average in the National Capital League.

Paulie Harrison and George Friend are rated the "hottest" contenders for the big prize as the start of the event nears. Paulie has been going at an unprecedented pace the past three weeks. He followed his 714 set at Hartford with flawless bowling against the Connecticut stars here last Saturday. Tuesday night he hung up a new game record in the National Capital League with a 177 score and came back the next night with a 152 game and 383 set for Temple against Petworth. Monday he shot a 420 set

Friend Has Earned Fame.

It was Friend who stepped into the picture long enough to gain a fair share of glory in the Grand Palace Valet-Connecticut match. He trimmed Jack White regularly in pot competition and is rated by many as the most dangerous opponent to be found in any of Washington's many bowling establishments at this time.

Bethesda's representative in the sweepstakes is unknown. The bowlers of the Bethesda League are shooting this week to determine which is to enter the event. Fourteen men are posting $2 each and the one shooting the highest set this week is to use the money for entry in the sweepstakes. At present, Charles G. Morgan's 423 appears certain to carry him into the 15-game battle.

Washington's first handicap sweepstakes will be held under the auspices of the Masonic Bowling Association at Convention Hall on February 8 and 15, it was announced yesterday. The event will be open only to master Masons holding membership in the District, Hyattsville, Silver Spring and Clarendon.

Entries for the event will close February 1. Each entrant will be taxed $3. The prize money will be divided as follows: Forty-five per cent to the winner, 25 per cent to the runner-up, 15 per cent for third, 10 per cent for fourth and 5 per cent for fifth. Two sets of five games will be rolled.

The handicap for regular bowlers will be two-thirds of the difference between the entrant's average and that of scratch, 115. A. L. Ebersole is receiving entrants at Convention Hall.

Lorraine Gulli assumed her new duties as women's bowling instructor of the National Duck Pin Bowling Congress yesterday when she handed out some "pointers" to the fair enthusiasts at Bethesda.

The Washington Gas Light Co. and Public Utilities Commission teams will complete a ten-game match at Mount Rainier tonight at 8 o'clock. The Geasmen took a big lead in the opening block at the Arcade last Monday night.

Donald Dow, of Capital, Heads Fencers at V. P. I.

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., Jan. 9.—Cadet Donald G. Dow, 555 Randolph street northwest, Washington, D. C., has been elected president of the Fencing Club at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and is now cooperating with M. Buford Blair, director of physical education, in giving daily instruction to 60 club members in the use of the foil and saber.

Cadet Dow has previously given exhibitions of the sport here and was instrumental in organizing the club. Twenty pairs of foils and sabers, with masks and bodyguards, are now in use daily as the District of Columbia boy instructs threescore embryonic D'Artagnans in the use of the foil. Saber instruction is being given by Prof. Blair.

Cadet Dow is sponsoring a plan to organize a fencing team at the college for intercollegiate competition. A number of experienced blade wielders are numbered among the cadet battalions and it is planned to select a team and challenge the fencers of the Virginia Military Institute.

Phillips New Manager Of Cumberland Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 9.—"Hoker" Joe Phillips, manager of the Fairmont Team in the Middle Atlantic League last season and a product of the old Potomac and the Georges Creek Leagues of this territory, today agreed to terms of President Nelson W. Russler to manage the Cumberland Team in the Middle Atlantic the coming season.

Phillips will succeed Johnny Byrnes, of Eckhart, manager for the past two seasons, who is considering managerial offers elsewhere.

Phillips is expected here next Tuesday to attend a meeting of the community baseball directors at the City Hall. It will likely be a public affair.

Phillips managed Fairmont for the past four years and played here for Russler as outfielder with the Cumberland Team twelve years ago. He has always been one of the most popular leaders on the circuit. Del Gainer, of Elkins, former major league star who had been sought to manage the local team, sent notice he had signed to manage a minor league team. Bobby Rice, Charleroi 1929 manager, who was also sought, has also signed to pilot another club.

The local club must raise $1,500 to post as its forfeit in the league by February 2 and directors are planning ways and means of securing that amount. Last year's forfeit of $2,000 came out of money donated by local citizens for community baseball.

MD. U. CUBS WIN FROM CENTRAL

Reserve Five Beaten, 23-17, by Yearlings After Leading.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL'S second-string courtmen waged a valiant fight against the University of Maryland Freshmen yesterday in the College Park Gymnasium, but a third-quarter rally by the young Terrapins sent the Blue and White down to defeat, 23 to 17.

Not one of Central's team which downed Eastern on Tuesday took part in the battle, but Coach Coggins trotted out several newcomers who should be heard from before long. Al Morgan, playing in place of Capt. Cross, at forward, came through with four field goals and a foul toss for 9 points, while George Brandt, 1929 football captain, took the center position and registered twice from the floor.

School Boys Lead at Half, 13 to 11.

Although outscored in the first quarter, 7 to 4, Central came back in the second ten minutes of play to forge into the lead and at the intermission left the floor with a 13-to-11 advantage. It was the end of the Central superiority, however, as at the resumption of play the Freshmen exhibited a defensive brand of ball which held Central scoreless until well into the last quarter. In fact, but two field goals were registered by the school boys throughout the last two periods, so puzzling was the Maryland defense.

Paul Kreh, former Silver Spring High School star, led the winning attack during which 9 points were made in the third period, to sew up the game. Kreh accounted for 11 points, while Dan Galotta, formerly of Tech, played a clever all-around game for the winners.

V. M. I. Five Defeats Hampden-Sidney, 32-16

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Jan. 9.—Virginia Military Institute Five opened the basket ball season here this afternoon with a convincing victory over Hampden Sidney, 32 to 16. Coach Bill Raferty used seventeen players during the game, but the main scoring combination was the five that started the game, with two veterans and three members of last year's freshmen. This first cadet team was slow in starting though playing the floor well, but midway in the half R. Brown, Mergenhagen and Scott flipped in a series of shots, both long and short, that sent V. M. I. out in front. Another flurry of baskets by the same trio towards the end of the period gave the Cadets a lead of 22 to 8 in the first half.

R. Brown sank two pretty shots as the second half started, and then a new Cadet team took the field. With the period half ove rthe third outfit, consisting of Hawkins, Biggs, and Virgil Grow to represent the football team, went in the game, but the Tigers braced and held their own for five scoreless minutes. R. Brown led the scorers with 10 points, closely followed by Scott, V. M. I., and Moore, Hampden Sidney, who each accounted for eight. Capt. Willis played a speedy floor game for the Tigers, and Gregory's defensive work was a V. M. I. feature.

Woltz Five to Defend Title In A. A. U. Court Tourney; Cancels With Knight Team

REFUSING to jeopardize their amateur status by playing the Knight's Store Five at Alexandria last night as scheduled, the Woltz Photographer Basket Ball Team, which last year won the local A. A. U. unlimited championship under the name of the Washington Grays, indicated that they intend to defend their championship laurels at all costs. Manager Fones, of the Woltzmen, has announced that his team will again compete in the tournament which will be held under the auspices of The Washington Post, starting March 10.

The Woltz and all other teams had been warned by the basket ball committee of the District A. A. U. that to play the Knight and Skinker Teams would mean disbarment from the amateur tournament. The Skinker Eagle team was declared ineligible for amateur competition last year and the status of the Knight team, which played the Skinker Five last Sunday at Silver Spring, is being investigated by the committee at present.

Woltz Anxious to Meet Requirements.

Manager Fones announced last night that the Woltzmen wish to meet every requirement of the District A. A. U. Although the Knight Store Five's status has not been definitely announced by the basket ball committee, Manager Fones announced that his team would take no chances.

Local Amateur Athletic Union officials last night once more sounded a warning to teams contemplating entry into the District tournament to avoid any transgressions of the eligibility rules. Attention was again called to the fact that unlimited and 145-pound teams must be properly registered before February 1. Teams of all other classes will have until midnight of February 28 to register.

Officials of the District organization announced themselves as well pleased with the attitude taken by the Woltz Team. The Woltzmen weathered a heated series of games to gain the District title last year, but lost in the South Atlantic finals. It is their ambition to win the first championship under the new District organization as well as the individual and team trophies which accompany that honor.

Prince Georges Fives Hopeful.

Teams of Prince Georges County, which face the prospect of being excluded from the tournament unless successfully liberated from the South Atlantic jurisdiction and admitted to the District organization, are making a hurried but serious effort to gain their release from the South Atlantic body. All of the leading teams have collectively petitioned the Baltimore organization through its president, Joseph T. England, and they are now anxiously awaiting the outcome.

V. P. I. GUESTS OF ROANOKE SATURDAY

Game Marks Opening of New Gymnasium at Salem.

Special to The Washington Post.

SALEM, Va., Jan. 9.—Roanoke College will spring the lid off its home basket ball season with the V. P. I. Gobblers offering the opposition Saturday night, this game also marking the opening of the new gymnasium which is just being completed.

With but four letter men for a working basis, Coach "Pinky" Spruhan has a difficult task before him in the way of putting out a good coordinating team for the opening contest, but he hopes to swing his squad into as fair shape as possible this week.

Billy Williams, of Savannah, Ga., and "Dotty" Rutherford, a Bristol boy, both playing their third year on the first string, are hitting a nice stride at the forward berths but the other three places are still uncertain. Unless some marked improvement is shown before Saturday, Coach Spruhan will not pick a definite line-up until shortly before the game.

First Home Roanoke Court Game in 4 Years.

Several last year freshmen are showing up well, however, and it is likely that some of these men will see action against the Techmen. "Cal" Ritter, of Winchester, and Harne, Trimmer and Allen, Roanoke City boys, have developed encouragingly in the last few practices, and any one of these may be started Saturday.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

DIET ON THE FARM.

PEOPLE who live on farms and in the towns, villages and cities do not eat enough green vegetables, fruits, milk, whole grain cereals and butter. On the other hand, they eat too much meats, milled flour and cereals and foods made from them, and sweets. Most of them eat too much potatoes. The grown-ups suffer from constipation and are obese, both the results of overeating or wrong eating. The average daily cost of food could be reduced with advantage. On the other hand, the children 2 years of age and older are undernourished. This is the substance of a three-year study of food habits made in Cattaraugus County, N. Y. The conclusions would hold true of rural and small town populations in all parts of the country.

Farmers do not raise enough vegetables and fruits. Town people, converted into suburbanites, rarely use the ground around their houses for growing vegetbales. Even where vegetables are raised there is little or no provision for carrying them over into the winter season. Therefore, the midwinter diet consists, almost altogether, of meat, bread and canned foods.

The suggestion is made that people who live in the country set aside more ground for gardens and spend more time working them. That they provide themselves with old-fashioned cellars and dry wells in which vegetables can be kept or, better still; they make use of cold storage at creameries or at cooperative cold storage plants. If homes were equipped with coffee mills or other simple grinding machines they could grind whole grains for cereals with advantage to health.

The grocers in the towns and small cities of this country did not carry green vegetables and fruits regularly. Their facilities for keeping them were inadequate. They would get in a supply every now and then, but there was not enough demand to warrant them in carrying an even dependable supply.

The Cattaraugus demonstration spent considerable effort during three years in improving the diets of both adults and children with resultant improvement in health.

SOME OF THEM DIFFER.

Mrs. C. S. writes: What is the normal temperature for a woman 33 years old? Is it all right for the temperature to rise from 98½ to 100 every afternoon?

My husband says this is all right, that different people have different temperatures. Is he correct?

REPLY.

An afternoon temperature that goes to 100 is not normal. Temperature of the human body is not absolutely uniform. A thermometer will register higher under the tongue than under the arm. There is some slight variation in temperatures taken at the same place. But so far as mouth temperatures are concerned, a slight depression below 98½ is likely to be normal; a slight excess, abnormal.

REMOVAL OF A BUNION.

M. A. C. writes: Is there any way of removing bunions besides an operation? I have one on each foot and I would like to get rid of them, but I can not afford an operation.

REPLY.

Wearing broad shoes and toe straighteners is of limited service. As a rule people do not lock that door until the horse is out. Operation for the removal of sessamoid bones and bony spurs does not lay one up long. More radical removal does.

$5,000,000 IS ASKED FOR MEMORIAL HERE

Senate Bill Would Have U. S. Help Construct George Washington Edifice.

PROJECT HAS LAGGED

The Government would contribute $5,000,000 toward the construction of a George Washington Memorial Building at Sixth and B streets northwest, under the terms of a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Guy Goff (Republican), of West Virginia.

The Goff bill is another evidence of the renewed interest in the memorial project, which, launched several years ago amid great enthusiasm, was halted by lack of funds. Thus far, the project has not been carried much beyond the foundation work.

Under Mr. Goff's bill, the appropriation of $5,000,000 would be spent by the George Washington Memorial Association, which is sponsoring the building. Congress authorized construction of the memorial in 1913.

"This undertaking sponsored by the association," Mr. Goff said, "is a laudable one. The motive is patriotic and the great objective sought to be achieved, deep-rooted as it is in the hearts of our citizens, is the most essentially American expression of love, admiration and affection ever manifested by the Nation in war or peace. It reflects the eternal truth that the gratitude of the Republic has an indelible and everlasting memory.

"I hope—in fact, I know—that this most worthy request of all the people will receive immediate attention by the committee and action by the Senate."

The bill was referred to the Senate committee on appropriations.

President Thomas Slater Settle and Commander E. M. Blackwell have been chosen to arrange for the event and it has been decided to have as guests, members of Camp 171, United Confederate Veterans. Fred B. Myers, Mrs. Sadie Ford Hutton and Mrs. Maude Howell Smith are on the committee to care for these guests.

Coroner to Probe Dry-Raid Slaying

Jury Will Convene Today to Fix Responsibility for Shooting.

Responsibility for the death of William Bell, colored, 30 years old, of 2105 Ninth street northwest, who was fatally wounded by Eugene Jackson, colored prohibition agent, during a raid at 2125 Ninth street northwest early Wednesday morning, will be fixed at 11 o'clock today when a coroner's jury convenes in the District Morgue.

A plea of self-defense will probably be made by Jackson, who, in company with two other prohibition agents, conducted the raid on the Ninth street address without a warrant. An investigation by members of Lieut. Edward J. Kelly's homicide squad revealed that the agents watched an automobile drive up to the Ninth street address and unload a number of boxes, which they suspected contained liquor.

The agents made an investigation in the apartment building and found by key-hole peeping what appeared to be the liquor. They entered the apartment and a short time later Bell entered. When Bell made a movement toward his hip pocket, the investigation disclosed, Jackson fired twice. Bell died at Freedmen's Hospital early yesterday.

Two colored women, who witnessed the raid, Alice Smith and Agnes Tucker, were lodged in the House of Detention yesterday as witnesses.

Survey Will Be Made In Chest Institutions

Allen Pope, a Washington contractor, has been appointed chairman of a committee to make a survey of the heating systems in use in Community Chest institutions here.

The survey is to cover the kinds of fuel used, with a view to suggesting less expensive types where possible; the way in which fuel is fed to the furnace to bring about economies in firing; and the kinds of equipment used with a view to suggesting saving in fuel and labor. Changes in some institutions would save as much as half of the annual fuel bill, Mr. Pope said yesterday.

$5,000,000 IS ASKED FOR MEMORIAL HERE

Senate Bill Would Have U. S. Help Construct George Washington Edifice.

PROJECT HAS LAGGED

The Government would contribute $5,000,000 toward the construction of a George Washington Memorial Building at Sixth and B streets northwest, under the terms of a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Guy Goff (Republican), of West Virginia.

The Goff bill is another evidence of the renewed interest in the memorial project, which, launched several years ago amid great enthusiasm, was halted by lack of funds. Thus far, the project has not been carried much beyond the foundation work.

Under Mr. Goff's bill, the appropriation of $5,000,000 would be spent by the George Washington Memorial Association, which is sponsoring the building. Congress authorized construction of the memorial in 1913.

"This undertaking sponsored by the association," Mr. Goff said, "is a laudable one. The motive is patriotic and the great objective sought to be achieved, deep-rooted as it is in the hearts of our citizens, is the most essentially American expression of love, admiration and affection ever manifested by the Nation in war or peace. It reflects the eternal truth that the gratitude of the Republic has an indelible and everlasting memory.

"I hope—in fact, I know—that this most worthy request of all the people will receive immediate attention by the committee and action by the Senate."

The bill was referred to the Senate committee on appropriations.

Lee-Jackson Ball Set For January 17 Here

The program will be given at the Willard Hotel.

President Thomas Slater Settle and Commander E. M. Blackwell have been chosen to arrange for the event and it has been decided to have as guests, members of Camp 171, United Confederate Veterans. Fred B. Myers, Mrs. Sadie Ford Hutton and Mrs. Maude Howell Smith are on the committee to care for these guests.

Senator Robsion Speaker Before Meeting of 22 District Clubs.

Officers of the 22 Masonic clubs of the District of Columbia were officially installed by the advisory board at the seventh annual installation meeting last night in the Willard Hotel, which was attended by approximately 1,500 persons.

Senator James M. Robsion, of Kentucky, successor of Frederic M. Sackett, new Ambassador to Germany, was the principal speaker of the evening. Capt. Cheney L. Bertholf, president, and M. D. Hensey, third vice president of the National League of Masonic Clubs of the United States, were special guests at the exercises of the board which is composed of J. O. Bowen, president; Frank Burgfelt, vice president; A. W. Brewer, secretary, and E. J. Skedmore, treasurer.

Coroner to Probe Dry-Raid Slaying

Jury Will Convene Today to Fix Responsibility for Shooting.

Responsibility for the death of William Bell, colored, 30 years old, of 2105 Ninth street northwest, who was fatally wounded by Eugene Jackson, colored prohibition agent, during a raid at 2125 Ninth street northwest early Wednesday morning, will be fixed at 11 o'clock today when a coroner's jury convenes in the District Morgue.

A plea of self-defense will probably be made by Jackson, who, in company with two other prohibition agents, conducted the raid on the Ninth street address without a warrant. An investigation by members of Lieut. Edward J. Kelly's homicide squad revealed that the agents watched an automobile drive up to the Ninth street address and unload a number of boxes, which they suspected contained liquor.

The agents made an investigation in the apartment building and found by key-hole peeping what appeared to be the liquor. They entered the apartment and a short time later Bell entered. When Bell made a movement toward his hip pocket, the investigation disclosed, Jackson fired twice. Bell died at Freedmen's Hospital early yesterday.

Two colored women, who witnessed the raid, Alice Smith and Agnes Tucker, were lodged in the House of Detention yesterday as witnesses.

Survey Will Be Made In Chest Institutions

Allen Pope, a Washington contractor, has been appointed chairman of a committee to make a survey of the heating systems in use in Community Chest institutions here.

The survey is to cover the kinds of fuel used, with a view to suggesting less expensive types where possible; the way in which fuel is fed to the furnace to bring about economies in firing; and the kinds of equipment used with a view to suggesting saving in fuel and labor. Changes in some institutions would save as much as half of the annual fuel bill, Mr. Pope said yesterday.

An estate which has considerable historic significance in Alexandria, and which is also one of the best examples of colonial architecture in this section, has just been sold by Richard B. Washington to former State Senator Floyd H. King, for a consideration said to be approximately $50,000.

The building, known as "ount Ida, is the ancestral home of the Alexander family, from which Alexandria took its name. The estate consisted of a grant of 10 miles square made by King George III of England, to John Houser, who sold it to John Alexander for six hogsheads of tobacco. Three generations later Charles Alexander left a portion of the estate to his son Charles, who erected thereon a log house which he named Mount Ida, and took his bride, who was Miss Mary Bowles Armistead, of Exeter, Va., there, and made it his temporary home while he awaited the arrival from England of bricks with which he later, in 1805, erected the mansion known as Mount Ida, which has just been sold.

The widow of Charles Alexander married Dr. Wilson Cary Selden, and their daughter, Eliza Armistead Selden, married John J. Lloyd, of Alexandria. Richard B. Washington, the last owner of the property, is descended on his mother's side from a Selden, and the Lloyds were the original owners of another historic mansion nearby, Belmont, which is now occupied by St. Agnes Episcopal School for Girls.

This huge grant of land remained in the possession of the Alexander and Lloyd families until within the last two generations, when it was sold by the grandmother of Mrs. George Uhler, of this city, the direct descendant of the John Alexander who first acquired it.

The grant took in a portion of the present city of Alexandria, the site of Christ Episcopal Church having been a part of it, donated by the family for church purposes. When it came into the possession of Mr. Washington, several years ago, it had dwindled to 25 acres, and only 7½ acres have now been transferred to Senator King, with the Mount Ida mansion.

The original Mount Ida log house, which was later sheathed with planks, was used as a residence until about fifteen years ago, when it was destroyed by fire.

It is understood to be the intention of Senator King to have the Mount Ida mansion restored to its original appearance, it having been changed from time to time by the building of wings and other additions.

An invitation has been extended to Gov. John Garland Pollard and the members of the Virginia Legislature to attend a meeting of the National Park and Planning Commission, in Continental Memorial Hall in Washington, January 17. The committee extending the invitation included Fred C. Goodnow, president of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce; State Senator Frank L. Ball, of Clarendon; State Delegate Hugh Reid, of Arlington County; Edward Gibbs, Guy N. Church and Henry Morris, of Arlington and Fairfax Counties. The delegation was headed by Richard Elliott, of the Park and Planning Commission.

The governor assured the committee that in the event the invitation is accepted by the Legislature, he will also attend the meeting.

The Northern Virginia Odd Fellows Association, which held its annual meeting Wednesday night at Dumfries, elected these officers for the ensuing year: G. Raymond Gaines, Alexandria, president; William H. Scott, Alexandria, first vice president; W. Soper, jr., Warrenton, second vice president; W. Strong, Beaver Dam, third vice president; C. V. Robinson, Warrenton, treasurer. The selection of a secretary was deferred, as was the date and place for the next annual gathering of the association.

It was decided to divide the organization into three groups, each of which would hold bimonthly meetings, the entire group participating in the annual meeting.

As a result of two purchases of liquor by Alexandria policemen not in uniform, three Negroes were fined $250 each, plus costs, sentenced to one year in jail, and required to furnish bonds of $1,000 each to insure their good behavior in the future.

The first case called in police court was that of Elizabeth Craig, 24 years old, of 317 First street, where, it was claimed, Policeman William Bayliss purchased a pint of corn whisky for which he paid the woman $1. He was accompanied by Detective Sergeant Sims and Policeman Posey.

The same officers then went to the home of Hugh Burke, 47 years old, where Bayliss claimed to have purchased a half-pint of whisky, paying 75 cents therefor. He then arrested Burke and Henry Dixon, 56 years old, of Bull Town Cove, Md. The officers also found 3 pints of whisky hidden near Burke's home. Policeman Bayliss claimed he made the purchase from Dixon, who, he said, poured the liquor from a pint botle. Dixon denied making a sale, saying the liquor was given to the officer on the supposition that it was for a sick man, and that Bayliss laid 75 cents on a table.

The fact that Policemen Bayliss and Posey are new members of the force and were not in uniform apparently made it easy for them to purchase the whisky from the Negroes. Sergt. Sims, who accompanied them, remained nearby until the purchase was consummated.

Deeds of conveyance placed on record in the office of the Clerk of the Corporation Court are for the following pieces of property: C. S. Taylor Burke, trustee, to Clay T. Otley, house and lot 20, block 1, section 1, Rose Crest; Gardner L. Boothe, special commissioner, to Francis T. G. Walker, house and lot on the east side of Patrick street, between Duke and Wolfe streets; George W. Clift to Earl Thomas Dodd, house and lot on the west side of Alfred between Gibbon and Franklin streets; Isaac Williams to L. Gray, house and lot on the west side of Royal, between Oronoco and Pendleton streets; Rosemont Improvement Company, Inc., to Eppa D. Kane, lots 7 and 8, section 5, Rosemont Park; Robinson Moncure and Courtland H. Davis to Earl W. Suam, lot and building at the northeast corner of Franklin and Patrick streets, and Earl W. Suam, conveying the same property to Louis Rubin and Albert L. Rubin.

Attorney James R. Caton addressed the Kiwanis Club yesterday at its weekly luncheon in the George Mason Hotel, on the legal history of Alexandria, including the establishment of the city, the later expansion and contraction of its corporate limits, and its government. The speaker was introduced by Commonwealth's Attorney Albert C. Bryan, chairman of the program committee for the week. Robert G. Carter, president of the Kiwanis, presided.

Gardner Lloyd Boothe and Urban S. Lambert qualified yesterday as school trustees for a term of three years each, before Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the courts. These trustees were recently reelected by the city council.

A short circuit in a touring car which was just being prepared for delivery to a customer set fire to the machine while it was standing in front of the Carter Motor Co.'s place on North St. Asaph street. Engine Companies Nos. 1 and 4 answered the alarm, but before their arrival the flames had been extinguished by employes with fire extinguishers. The damage to the machine was slight.

The American Legion Auxiliary last night entertained the members of Alexandria Post, No. 24, following the regular meeting of the auxiliary unit, and also presented the Girl Scout Troop, under the leadership of Miss Kathleen Douglass, with the flag of their organization. Mrs. C. H. Strader, Americanism chairman of the unit, made the presentation, and the flag was accepted for the troop by Miss Annie Simpson.

At the meeting Commander Howard L. Arnold, of Post, No. 24, spoke on the meaning of the American Legion emblem, and the aims and purposes of the organization.

Past Commander F. Clinton Knight gave a talk on Gadsby's Tavern, and its restoration and use by the legion as a home and memorial hall. He stated the front room in the City Hotel end of the building would be given over to the auxiliary, and its restoration assumed by that body, if they so desired. This offer was received with enthusiasm by the women.

Sap Starts Running In Hagerstown Maples

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 9.—It was so warm here today that the sap began running in the maple trees, something which rarely is seen until late in March. All January heat records were smashed at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the mercury reached 74 degrees at the Government weather station at Keedysville, near here.

J. A. Miller, who has kept a daily record for 30 years, reported only three previous January days during which the thermometer neared that mark; 1916, when it reached 72, and 1906 and 1907, when it reached 73. Pickers of dandelions, usually found out for the first time in March, are out in force for the first time in January within the recollection of the oldest residents, and plenty of it is up. Rural residents report frogs croaking the last few nights.

MIDSHIPMAN BARES MARRIAGE; RESIGNS

Annapolis "Plebe" Was Wed in 1928 to Goucher Girl, He Says.

ACADEMY WILL DROP HIM

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 9.—Naval Academy authorities were handed something of a surprise when a midshipman of the fourth or plebe class turned in his resignation with the statement that he is a married man. The young benedict is John Henry Faunce, of Bala-Cynwyd, a suburb of Philadelphia.

Following a brief investigation, officials announced that the midshipman would be dropped from the rolls. Naval Academy regulations not only prohibit midshipmen marrying until after graduation, but they also bar young men who marry prior to entering the institution, as in Faunce's case, although the midshipman stated he was not aware of these regulations.

Interviewed today, Faunce declined to reveal the name of his bride, because he did not want the girl's parents to know of the marriage, but admitted they had been married since June 1, 1928, the ceremony having been performed by a magistrate at Media, Pa. His wife, he said, is now a member of the sophomore class at Goucher College, Baltimore, and planned to complete the present scholastic year under their secret pact.

Lately, Faunce said, he and his wife had discussed their future plans. He said he wanted to get out in the business world, rather than continue in the naval service, whereupon it was determined that he would make known his status and tender his resignation. He says he is to become associated in business with his father, John H. Faunce, sr., a Philadelphia broker.

The marriage climaxed a romance of early school days, as Midshipman Faunce says both he and his bride are graduates of the Episcopal Academy of Philadelphia. Leaving there, the girl entered Goucher, and Faunce said he decided upon a naval career. He obtained an appointment from the then Representative William S. Vare, of his home State, "prepped" at Severn School, 8 miles from Annapolis, successfully qualified in examinations and entered the Naval Academy in June, 1929.

It is expected Faunce will leave Annapolis tomorrow.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 9.—The grand jury for the January term of court, which was discharged today, suggested methods to oust English starlings that have taken possession of the courthouse attic.

The window had been broken out, and starlings, pigeons and other birds by the thousand have roosted therein. It is urged that wire screens be put over the windows and the attic be cleaned.

Police testified a crudely constructed still was in operation at the time of their raid. They also reported capture of 50 gallons of mash.

COUNTY BODY BACKS DISTRICT SUFFRAGE

Rockville Pike Citizens Urge That State Make Cause With Capital.

CONGRESS TO GET PLEA

An active fight to seek suffrage for the District of Columbia was launched by the Rockville Pike Citizens Association last night in the Volunteer Firemen's Clubhouse at Rockville in its unanimous adoption of resolutions embodying, as one course of action, a petition to the Maryland Legislature to name a State committee to back the plan.

The resolutions will be brought to the attention of the Montgomery County Civic Federation for action at its meeting Monday night at the Bethesda School. Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, as a delegate from the Rockville association, will present the matter.

A committee of seven also was named to cooperate with the citizens' joint committee on National representation for the District of Columbia in petitioning Congress for the early passage of bills on the subject now pending.

The resolutions declared that a strong need exists at the present time to arouse the active interest of the people of Maryland "in the relief of the residents of the District from their anomalous position."

They cited that the section now included in Montgomery County and the District furnished troops in active support of Boston after the famous Tea Party incident in protesting against "taxation without representation" as a basic principle in government, and that there is "the same reason today for Maryland people to make common cause with the District of Columbia."

Twin Daughters Gone From Home

14-Year-Old Charlottesville Girls Are Strangely Missing.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 9.—Lula Geraldine and Ollie Lucille Gentry, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gentry, disappeared Tuesday night from their home, 4 miles south of the city, and up to the present no trace has been found of the girls.

According to Mrs. Gentry, the girls prepared their school lessons Tuesday evening and went to their room to retire at an early hour. Yesterday morning they were not to be found and their bed had not been slept in. A younger child was asleep at the time her sisters came to the room, supposedly to go to bed, and did not see them leave.

The parents are at a loss to understand why the girls wanted to leave home. They had never expressed any desire to have boys come to see them. The twins, who will be 14 next month, were fifth grade pupils in Midvale School, where, the mother said, they were apparently contented with their studies. Both girls are about 5 feet tall and weigh between 120 and 125 pounds.

A. F. OF L. DISCUSSES SOUTHERN CAMPAIGN

Routine Matters Will Occupy Rest of Council's Time at St. Petersburg.

LEGAL BRANCH REJECTED

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 9 (A.P.).—With the exception of a discussion on a campaign to organize labor throughout the South, administrative matters of purely routine nature occupied today's session of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

The council feels that the South is the last section of the country in which an effort has been made to organize labor systematically and it expects to launch a vigorous campaign with the hope of unionizing Southern workers in the leading branches of industry.

Although the campaign is to be directed toward the textile industry in particular, president of the federation, William Green, said the organization work would not be confined to that, but extended to all lines of production.

The council declined a proposal from the Building Trades Council to establish a legal department to handle litigations involving different branches of organized labor. The council declared establishment of such a department at this time was "inadvisable."

It also delayed action on an application from the Upholsterers Union for a change of title and decided to investigate charges from the Central Labor Union of Seattle, Wash., that a civil service league had overstepped its bounds in labor matters.

The question of alleged discrimination by employers of men reaching the age of 40 or 45 years also was brought before the council, but no definite action was taken.

No morning meeting will be held tomorrow, and only a brief afternoon session has been scheduled, after which the convention will adjourn until Monday.

ENGINE HOUSE SITE SELECTED IN VIENNA

Fairfax County Committee in Charge of Lee Shrine Fund Is Active.

NEW TAX GROUP URGED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

A special meeting of the Vienna Volunteer Fire Department was held in the council room of the Vienna Town Hall to decide which of two sites offered, for the location of the new engine house, would be accepted, J. W. Bennett, chairman of the committee on location, pointed out that the first lot, offered by R. T. Ballard, is located on Railroad avenue between the bank and the grocery, while the other, offered by Seth Gorham, is on Church street, and that the latter location, more centrally located, is better suited to the department's needs.

A motion was then adopted by the department to recind its recent action accepting the lot offered by Mr. Ballard and to accept the one offered by Mr. Gorham. Treasurer Vernon Gowin was authorized to pay all incidental expenses in connection with the transfer of title to the Gorham lot to the department. The secretary was instructed to send letters of appreciation to both Mr. Ballard and Mr. Gorham for their offers and interest in the department's expansion.

The committee in charge of erecting the new fire siren in a temporary location asked for instructions. In view of the fact that the new engine house will be built and completed within the next month, it was decided to postpone installation until that time, and then place it upon the roof as the cost of temporary installation would be too great at present.

The Farfax Baptist Church will hold its quarterly business meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. The business meeting will be followed by a social hour, when the ladies will serve refreshments.

The intensive State-wide campaign to raise funds to complete purchase of Stratford, birthplace of Gen. Robert E. Lee, is now under way in this county and will continue until his birthday, January 19. The Fairfax County committee is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Pozer with Edgar Littleton as treasurer. The other members of the general committee are Mrs. Thomas R. Keith, Mrs. F. Shield McCandlish, Mrs. Norah V. Allison, Mrs. Fred D. Richardson, Mrs. Robert D. Graham, Mrs. M. D. Hall and James U. Kinchloe. The school board, in answer to the request of Harris Hart, State superintendent of public instruction, authorized taking a contribution among the school children of the county for this purpose, so that they may have the privilege of taking part in thus honoring the memory of Gen. Lee.

The Real Estate Board of Arlington and Fairfax counties and Alexandria City will meet at a luncheon today at the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria.

The Falls Church Women's Club will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. John F. Bethune in Falls Church. A paper will be read on "State Products and Manufactories."

F. Shield McCandlish, chairman of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce committe on tax reassessment, returned yesterday from Richmond, after a conference with Judge C. H. Morriset, State tax commissioner, in regard to the present law. Mr. McCandlish took with him recommendations of the local chamber to change the present method so as to have the 1930 assessment made by a board of three persons appointed by the court and paid by the supervisors, instead of the commissioner of revenue having to make the assessment as now required by law.

The tax commissioner stated that there is an old law, never repealed, authorizing the Circuit Court judge of each county to appoint a board of three men to sit as a tax equalization board and it is his hope to have this law amended so that the duties of making assessments be placed under their jurisdiction.

The Fairfax Farmers Service Co. will hold its annual stockholders' meeting tomorrow in the Farmers Club room over the Chamber of Commerce offices in Fairfax.

President Edmund H. Allen has called a special meeting of the directors of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce for 3 o'clock this afternoon in the chamber offices at Fairfax, to select a secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the present secretary tendering her resignation to take effect January 15, to become secretary of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Allen requests that all applicants file their applications in writing before that date, in order to receive consideration. They may be sent to the secretary or to one of the directors.

At the business meeting of the Baptist Church at Herndon, officers were elected for the coming year. They are: J. H. Grow and Granville White, deacons; Furr L. White, trustee; Ernest Gibson, treasurer; Mrs. Clarence Florance, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Estelle Ricker, treasurer of the mission fund; G. M. James, clerk. IMPROVEMENT SEEN IN 'PARROT' VICTIMS

Three Annapolis Patients Appear to Respond to Treatment.

DISEASE HITS GERMANY

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 9.—Slight improvement was noted today in the condition of the three persons stricken by the mystery malady, diagnosed as psittacosis or "parrot fever," Dr. J. Willis Martin, attending physician, announced. The afflicted persons are Mrs. Simon S. Martin, wife of the secretary of Annapolis Chamber of Commerce, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Kalmey.

Mrs. Martin is ill at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Kalmey are in Emergency Hospital. They were the first to be stricken, and their ailment proved so baffling that they were removed to the institution a week ago for observation. As the disease is a rare one in the United States, no physicians being prepared to combat it, Dr. Martin is hopeful that the treatment he is administering, that used in fighting typhoid pneumonia, will be successful. He maintains it will be twelve to fifteen days before any definite turning point occurs, and while the slight improvement appeared today, the general condition of the patients still is regarded as serious.

It was reported here today that two or more attendants at the Baltimore bird shop where Mr. Martin purchased a parrot, believed to have spread the disease, have been taken ill. The bird was bought ten days before Christmas and died Christmas Day.

Hamburg, Germany, Jan. 9 (A.P.).—The psittacosis, or "parrot's disease" scare, which has been roused by many recent deaths in widespread parts of Germany, is gaining ground in German seaports and is causing some alarm to the authorities, who fear an unfavorable reaction on overseas trade.

One patnet died today from "parrot's disease" in the Barmbeck Hospital of Hamburg, making five deaths there out of 20 cases reported.

A number of parrots aboard a South American steamer were destroyed yesterday before landing.

Reports from Dresden say that an entire family of nine persons is in the hospital infected with the disease. A parrot that they owned died recently.

At Horst, Pomerania, a woman who received a parrot from Hamburg has been stricken with the disease.

Although a spread of the highly contagious disease of parrot fever which has stricken three people at Annapolis, Md., is not anticipated by the Public Health Service, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming last night warned against the purchase of newly imported parrots. He said there is no danger from those which have become domesticated.

Parrot fever, or psittachosis, is a germ disease. Outside of a reported outbreak in Germany it has not been noted since last October, when it occurred in the Argentine.

Annapolis Man Fatally Injured on Sumatra

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Jan. 9.—News has been received here of the tragic death of Thomas Dove, 33, of Annapolis, which occurred on the Island of Sumatra, Dutch East Indies, December 11, where he was employed by an American contracting firm. He succumbed from severe burns from the backfire of an oil burning engine on a pile driver.

TRIAL DATE IS FIXED FOR CRABTREE CASE

Man Accused of Murdering Three in Romney to Be Tried January 27.

COUNSEL ARE ASSIGNED

Special to The Washington Post.

Romney, W. Va., Jan. 9.—Walter Crabtree, 40, was indicted by the Hampshire County grand jury here this afternoon for first degree murder of three men—Justice of the Peace H. Carter Inskeep, Jailer Ben Miller and Edward Wolford, all of Romney.

His trial was set for January 27. It had been expected earlier that he would be brought to trial January 13, but when Crabtree appeared in court today and said he had not engaged counsel, Judge A. Jay Valentine, of Parsons, who is conducting the term in place of Judge G. K. Kump because the latter may be a probable material witness against Crabtree, gave a postponement of two weeks. Attorneys John L. Lehman and Ira V. Cowgill, both of Romney, were designated by Judge Valentine to assist Crabtree with his defense. Crabtree is alleged also to have wounded three women, Mrs. Grace Wolford, Mrs. Carrie Wright, both relatives of the slain Edward Wolford, and 6-year-old Ruth Hott, in his rampage about the town early in the morning of December 18 in which the three killings also took place.

Crabtree was brought to Romney today from the Keyser, W. Va., jail, to which he was taken for safekeeping immediately after the slayings. It is expected he will be kept here until trial now, all fear of a demonstration against him having disappeared.

The slayings are laid by Romney residents to Crabtree's alleged desire for revenge against officials who had been responsible for arresting him several times and others who are alleged to have interfered with his love affairs.

Riverdale Postal Safe Blown Open

Thieves Flee With Cash and Stamps After Use of Nitroglycerin.

Setting off three charges of nitroglycerin at brief intervals shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning, robbers looted the safe at the Riverdale postoffice in Prince Georges County, Md., to escape with its entire contents of stamps and money.

Mrs. Mary E. Worley, postmistress, discovering the theft upon entering the ransacked office at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning, declared that the loss was small, inasmuch as deposits were made each weekday at the Riverdale Bank and only an inconsiderable amount of postal property was kept on hand. Postoffice Inspector M. W. P. Zantzinger immediately took charge of the case with the assistance of Detective Sergt. Fred A. Sandberg, chief of the Identification Bureau of the Washington Police Department.

Entry was gained through a window which had been forced open with a crowbar after a heavy metal screen had been pried loose. The safe door was found 20 feet from the safe, and the interior of the office had been partially wrecked. Residents of Riverdale reported that they heard three sharp blasts at short intervals about 3:10 o'clock, when the postoffice clock stopped, but said they paid little attention to the noises.

BATTLEFIELD ROAD PLANS OUTLINED

Proposal for Memorial Highway to Gettysburg Gains Favor, Claim.

SPONSORS HOLD PARLEY

Plans for promoting the proposed memorial boulevard from Washington to the historic Gettysburg battlefield were discussed and outlined by Maryland and Pennsylvania sponsors of the project in a conference yesterday at the Silver Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Those attending the meeting reported that the proposed memorial is gaining favor throughout the Nation and is being given whole-hearted support in both Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Provision for the highway, which was launched last April by the Silver Spring Chamber of Commerce, is made a joint resolution now pending in Congress.

Commission Would Be Set Up.

Under this resolution, introduced by Senator Tydings, of Maryland, a commission, composed of the President of the United States; presiding officer of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and president of the District Commissioners, as ex-officio members, and two persons appointed by the President of the United States and a senator and representatives from Maryland and Pennsylvania, respectively, would have charge of the construction of the highway, in memory of Presidents Washington and Lincoln and connecting the Washington Monument and Lincoln Memorial with the Gettysburg battlefield in Pennsylvania.

Tentative plans for the highway, to be known as the Washington-Lincoln Memorial Gettysburg boulevard, call for a road 200 feet wide with two 40-foot driveways about 70 miles long. The route would be determined by the commission, since it would be strictly a Federal project.

Irvin Root, chief engineer of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, estimated at the conference that the proposed highway could be constructed within two years, and could be finished by 1932 if immediate action was obtained on the resolution.

Other Work Cited.

During the discussion, Maj. E. Brooke Lee, of Silver Spring, pointed out that more than $20,000,000 is being expended on memorial bridges across the Potomac River and on highways in Virginia, whereas nothing had been done for similar memorials north of Washington.

Since the proposed memorial is being given enthusiastic support by private citizens and civic organizations, those attending the conference declared they anticipated little difficulty in gaining congressional approval of the proposed project.

Among those at the conference were Lacy Shaw, Montgomery County commissioner; John J. Dolan, president of the Silver
